CASSIUS M. CLAY

Said to Have Forced First Nomination of Lincoln

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—New and what are believed to be hitherto unpublished incidents concerning the politics which gave Abraham Lincoln the republican nomination for president the first time were told here yesterday in an address before the Hamilton club by Addison G. Proctor of St. Joseph, Mich., who believes himself the only surviving member of the famous "split rail" convention.

Mr. Proctor gives one man, Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky, the credit for forcing the nomination of Lincoln from a chaotic disorganized opposition to the regular candidate for the nomination, William H. Seward of New York.

This is how Clay's influence was exerted, as related by Mr. Proctor:

"When the convention opened, Mr. Seward's interests were in the hands of Thurlow Weed, and were well organized. The opposition, of which Horace Greeley was the dominant figure, was absolutely without organization or community of desire.

"To show how much without aim we were working, I recall that Mr. Greeley said to us within thirty hours of the time for balloting, answering a question as to whom we should unite upon to oppose Seward, 'I think well of Edward Bates of Missouri; he is a strong man, and I believe one of the best we could nominate.'

"How about Lincoln?" we asked, and Greeley replied:

"While Mr. Lincoln is an adroit politician, he lacks experience in public affairs and while we are drifting toward a crisis, I do not believe the country will trust a man so lacking in experience in national affairs."

"We were discussing matters in the old Briggs house in Chicago when Mr. Clay and his mountain men from western Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky arrived. Clay was a man of most interesting personality and he headed an interesting group.

"We are on the eve of a great civil war," began Mr. Clay, but we of Kansas were used to strong words and smiled. The mountaineer looked at us sternly, and continued:

"We know not what your platform plans are, and I am here to say that if a candidate is nominated on that platform the south will make an attempt to dissolve the union. Your southern border extends from Maryland to Missouri, and on this side stands a determined body of men resolute that the union shall not be destroyed, except after a most desperate struggle.

"It makes a great difference to you whom you nominate," thundered on the tall Kentuckian, "and it makes a much more vital difference to us. Our homes and all we possess are in peril. We demand of you a candidate who will inspire our courage and confidence.

"We call upon you to nominate Abraham Lincoln, who knows us and understands our aspirations. Give us Lincoln and we will push back your battle line from the Ohio river to the Tennessee, where it belongs. Give us Lincoln and we will unite the strength of our union sentiment with the strength of our arms and bring success to your league. Do this for us," pleaded the speaker, "and we will go home and prepare for the conflict."

"We saw things from a new angle. It was no longer a question of fighting slavery, but of saving the union. Lincoln was nominated."

FOR LAMINITIS

Dr. Daniels Explains the Treatment

Laminitis varies in different cases, influenced by cause, previous condition, the severity of the attack, and the kind of treatment given, the early symptoms are not often noticed. While the animal is at work, perhaps a stumbling, perhaps excessive perspiration, possibly extra heavy breathing may hint at the coming trouble, but generally nothing is noticed until the animal has stood some time after being worked, when we notice he suddenly becomes stiff and sore. The inflammation causing this lameness goes on rapidly involving soon the entire foot and unless relieved leads to many disorders, pneumonia, sidebones, etc. Punctured Sole and so on. Hence get busy at once and remove the inflammation as soon as possible. Every minute of delay is costly and risky. Don't think or say he'll be all right in the morning. The beginning of the trouble is the time to expect quick relief. Twenty-four hours may put you to a lot of trouble and loss for the acute form soon passes into the chronic and then to the chronic state, when cure becomes impossible and we have the ever lame horse, the wasting away of the coffin bone, deficient bone strength which grows spongy, dry and crumbling with the other defects above mentioned. After the case has reached this condition laminitis is easy to diagnose. The foot is swollen, sold down, too turns up, heel too long, knocking of the fetlock and so on.

The treatment is varied and judgment is in order. There are two points in view, preventing and curing. Preventing, of course, is of first importance and it is much easier than curing. We must first overcome any predisposing causes known to us. Do not work too hard the ever fat horses. Use care in their treatment in hot weather. Green horses should always have gradual work put upon them, especially if from the country to paved streets. A change in the stable and feed must be considered in some sensitive cases. Horses on the farm or track horses after a winter's rest should be worked out gradually. Protect the horse from draught and wind, when in a heated condition. Do not be afraid to use blankets just because "it's warm." (A draught of cool wind at this time does the trick. Don't drive wearying horses through the cold brook or wash their legs when just in from a heated trip, and do not make rapid changes in style of shoeing. Make the change gradual. If a horse has been fed oats and hay, only, don't give a feed of corn. Mix the corn a little at first, with the oats, shorts or other feeds. Corn is dangerous to feed some horses in hot weather. When the horse shows lameness in one foot, take off the shoe at once and apply warm water, or alternating hot and cold water, to both feet. Do them up in burp bags, keeping them wet for a few days. Use slings to take off the weight when possible. Keep blanketed warm. Give Aspirin or some good fever medicine. Half ounce doses of salicylate in the drinking water three times a day. In some conditions give diuretics. If active congestion cold water only to the feet. Stand the feet into tub of cold water or if the animal is down swab on the feet kept wet in cold water, and three or four ounces of salicylate in a pint of water, once in six hours, for a week, will do much in Acute Laminitis.

CHELMSFORD

The two games of basketball were played in the town hall Saturday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The only games these two teams have lost during the season have been to each other and the third and deciding game, to be played in March, will be awaited with interest.

The five of Diamonds, in defeating the Alumni five by the score of 32 to 8, gained its first victory of the season, in spite of the one-sided score, some excellent floor and team work was done by the Alumni. The members of the Five of Diamonds had acquired a skill in shooting baskets, together with good passing that their opponents could not seem to block. The summary:

Tigers.....Firemen

SENATOR BAILEY

Made a Strong Argument in Favor of Senator Lorimer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—By resorting to the bold device of asking his antagonists in the senate to stand up and testify, Senator Bailey of Texas caused a dramatic situation yesterday in his discussion of the case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois. Mr. Bailey is a member of the committee on privileges and elections and coincided with the report declaring that nothing invalidating Mr. Lorimer's title to his seat had been shown by the committee's investigation. His arguments in support of Mr. Lorimer had been anticipated with much interest, and when presented yesterday received the thoughtful attention of many senators.

The Texas senator's remarks were devoted largely to the substantiation of his contention that a sufficient number of votes must be shown to have been brought to effect the result unless it was proven that the senator whose election is challenged personally participated in the offense. Senators Root, Cummins and Borah, all opponents of Mr. Lorimer, were each in turn requested to stand up and express their opinions as to the legal soundness of this contention.

Dealing first with the general aspects of the case, Senator Bailey entered upon the consideration of the law involved. He laid down these two premises:

"First—if the officer whose election is challenged personally participated in or encouraged or sanctioned the bribery, then his election is void without reference to the extent of the bribery.

The first of these premises was dismissed with the declaration that there was not a word in the testimony to show that Lorimer had any knowledge of any bribery in his behalf. He asserted that the Chicago Tribune was compelled through its attorney to exonerate the accused senator in this respect, notwithstanding an unusual effort to connect him with it. True, the senator said, in the heat of debate some senators sought to connect Lorimer with the alleged wrongful transaction, but he was sure they would repent of that course.

Mr. Bailey contended that even if the seven votes of White, Browne, Beckenover, Link, Wilson, Holaday and Broderick were not counted, Lorimer still was legally and properly chosen.

Deducting these seven votes from Lorimer's 108 would leave him 101, and deducting these seven votes from the total vote of 222 would leave 215, of which the 101 votes received by Lorimer would constitute a clear majority, and he was therefore duly and legally elected, insisted Senator Bailey.

He ridiculed the contention of his opponents that these seven votes could be subtracted from Lorimer's column and still retained in the total vote, declaring that the contrary view was as elementary as to render it almost absurd to present authorities in support of it.

"We have the authority of the text books and of the courts for saying that an illegal vote must be rejected for all purposes and that it cannot be considered for any purpose," the senator continued. "That, sir, is not only the law and the logic, but it is the rule best calculated to promote political morality. It treats the dishonest vote as if the corrupt legislator who cast it were civilly dead, at least in that transaction, and it leaves the result to be determined by the votes of honest men."

Mr. Bailey would not admit as Senators Root, Borah and others still did, that in demanding the total exclusion of dishonest votes he really was giving effect to such votes. On the contrary, the undertone to turn the charge upon his antagonists. Saying that allegations of fault had been made against the members of the Illinois legislature, he added:

"Subtracting these 11 votes from a total of 222 we have an undiminished membership of 211 members who, by virtue of their position and of their integrity, were qualified to elect a senator. Of this 211 members, 94 would be a majority and after deducting every vote against which the suggestion of dishonesty has been made, Lorimer would still have 97 as against 94 votes for his opponents. Under these circumstances, no man could deny that he was entitled to his seat in this senate as a matter of law, and still less can he deny it as a matter of morals, because he had a clear majority of the honest men in the legislature. Now, let us apply the rule proposed by the senators from Idaho, Iowa and New York and what result do we reach? By reaching these 11 men in this question, they prevent 95 honest men from effecting an election over 94 honest men, and this makes it plain that they are the gentlemen who are giving effect to the votes of rascals, because by preserving those 11 votes they thus prevent an honest majority from working out its will."

Made Chief of Lawrence Fire Department

LAWRENCE, Feb. 14.—Dennis E. Carey was last night named as chief of the fire department to succeed Jas. Hamilton who is serving a three year term in the state prison at Charlestown for bribery. Carey was appointed by Mayor Cahill and immediately confirmed by the board of aldermen. He assumed charge of the department today. The new chief has been 14 years in the Lawrence department.

FINANCIAL POWERS SHOULD LINE UP WITH THE PEOPLE, SAYS FOSS

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—"It is time for the financial powers of America to fall into step with the people, and to line up with the sane and logical policy of progression. Money no longer dominates the conduct of public affairs in this country. The senate is the only place left in which capital, or so much of it as still hostile to the people's will, has power to thwart that will. And the senate is being made over into a popular body."

So spoke Gov. Eugene N. Foss before the Bank Officers' association of Boston at its annual dinner last night. The governor advocated reciprocity with Canada as in line with modern progress and as the only measure which is fit to become the foundation of an entire federal policy for the future.

"I urge progressive reciprocity beginning in moderation with a few essentials and widening out, year by year, with the further progress of the country."

Our Political Postoffice

John Wanamaker was Postmaster General; Senator Boies Penrose is chairman of the great Postoffice Committee of the United States Senate; Thomas H. Carter, Senator from Montana, has served many years on that committee.

No three men in the United States are better versed in postoffice affairs and needs than these.

On February 9, 1911, the Senate Postoffice Committee, under the leadership of Senators Penrose and Carter, reported favorably to the Senate for action the Postoffice Appropriation bill, containing a provision, put in without allowing public hearing or open consideration, but under political pressure from the White House, that increases the postage rate on magazines and periodicals to such an extent that it practically absorbs all the profits of the publishing business of the country and makes the further production of popular-priced magazines impossible. It imposes a tax that is confiscatory.

Notwithstanding, within the year Senator Boies Penrose said, referring to the Carter-Weeks bill:

"These are some of the big features of the bill. The whole intent is to systematize and to modernize the entire postal system. It is idle to take up such questions as apportioning the cost for carrying second-class mail matter or the proper compensation of railroads for transporting the mails until we shall have established business methods in postoffice affairs by a reorganization of the whole postal system.

"The commission unanimously recommended the passage of the projected bill. Personally I have been very much interested in all the details and, of course, am heartily in favor of the changes to be made."

Senator Carter said last March:

"But I must forego further pursuit of details. The bill was cordially approved by Postmaster General Meyer and his assistants, and likewise has the approval of Postmaster General Hitchcock. It failed of passage during the last Congress owing to lack of time for its proper consideration, but I have reintroduced the bill, which is now designated Senate 6287, Second Session, Sixty-first Congress. The Committee on Postoffices and Postroads will favorably report the bill to the Senate, and it should be enacted into law before the close of this session. I believe not only that it will increase efficiency, but that, after the expense of installation is absorbed, it will result in such economies in the administration of the department and service as will ere long wipe out the deficiency. In operating under it the department will be able with almost wearing certainty to determine the actual cost of each service performed, thereby reaching a sound basis for legislation such as is neither available nor obtainable under the present system.

"I deeply sympathize with the earnest desire of the department officials to get rid of the deficiency they are fated to encounter each year, but I submit that the first real movement toward that end must begin with the substitution of a modern, up-to-date business organization for the existing antiquated system, which rests upon a few sections of law enacted in 1835, supplemented by statutory fragments added from time to time since that year."

John Wanamaker said recently:

"With Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion, however, there will be no general agreement. The magazines are supported, not by the price paid for the magazine by the readers, but by the advertisers.

"In a sense, magazines are private concerns; but they have a public function to perform—an educational function. To tax the advertisements is to tax the quality of the educational matter contained in the pages, for the advertisements enable the publishers to pay high prices for literature and educational articles. The price paid for a magazine does not pay for the printing and the paper. If Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion should become part of the President's plan it would mean that the public would suffer in the loss of much educational material that the publishers then would be unable to buy."

We urge every friend of honest politics, economical government and a free press to telegraph or write an immediate protest to their Senators and Representatives at Washington.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of Work Done at Ayer Home During the Past Year

The following report, just completed, will give an idea of the work being done at the Ayer Home:

To the Trustees of the Ayer Home:

Gentlemen—From the examination of the records for the year 1910, it is pleasing to note the continued prosperity of the home, and that by the generosity of Frederick Fanning Ayer, we have been able to build a swimming pool and bathhouse on a portion of the canal that the proprietors of the Locks & Canals gave us the right to use, which will be of great benefit to the one hundred children at the home.

Children at the Home

Nov. 1, 1906—15 children, 6 girls, 9 boys.
Jan. 1, 1907—24 children, 18 girls, 16 boys, 7 adults; total 41.
Jan. 1, 1908—29 children, 52 girls, 47 boys, 15 adults; total 114.
Jan. 1, 1909—102 children, 56 girls, 46 boys, 15 adults; total 117.
Jan. 1, 1910—100 children, 54 girls, 46 boys, 15 adults; total 118.
Jan. 1, 1911—100 children, 56 girls, 44 boys, 15 adults; total 118.
Seventeen on the waiting list.

Calls

Number of calls on the children by parents and others.....1050
Personal.....127

Totals.....1197

The average daily attendance at school was 87, and for the 49 Sundays the Sunday school attendance was 79.

Health

The health of the children has been unusually good; five months of the year passed without any sickness among the one hundred children at the home, during the other seven months there were seven cases of measles, six of chickenpox, three of tonsillitis, and one each of pneumonia, bronchitis, adenoids, pleurisy and chorea. Of these eleven were cared for by the Lowell Hospital association and five by the out-patient department. With the above exceptions, the children have been well; they have grown and are looking ruddy, healthy, clean and happy.

Clothing

The parents are expected to clothe their children as far as they are able. Their contributions this year were $315.45 less than last year, and not one and one-half (1 1/2) cents a day for each child. With this amount, small as it is, and the many donations of hats, coats, dresses and other useful articles that friends have sent to the home, the matron has kept the one hundred children looking remarkably well.

Christmas

Christmas this year was a great day for the children. Mrs. May Knight Southwell entertained them in her happy manner and Santa Claus, who came down the chimney in the presence of the trustees, the children's parents and others and distributed presents to the children from the tree and the many packages he brought with him, to the great delight of all. Their Christmas dinner was at 2 p. m. and their church Christmas tree at 4 p. m. The evening exercises, conducted by the trustees, girls and boys and given under their direction, all of the one hundred children taking part and doing themselves great credit, having their parts so well committed that prompting was unnecessary. Letters were received from children who had left the home and were coming home for the winter, asking "if they could come back and spend Christmas at the home, the only home they ever knew." Permission was gladly given. They came, bringing presents to the matron and their comrades.

Donations

The trustees desire to express their sincere thanks to the following for their kindness in contributing to the welfare and the comfort of the children at the home:

Lowell Hospital association, Lowell General Hospital, proprietors of the Locks and Canals, Boston & Northern Street Railway company, Daniel Gago Ice company, Outlet Fruit company, Lowell Courier-Citizen, The Lowell Sun, Mr. Frederick Fanning Ayer, Mrs. Mary J. ### HATHAWAY THEATRE

Whether it's "John Storm" in "The Christian" or "Thaddeus Strong" in "Our New Minister" Severin DeBryn is at his best in a clerical role and his interpretation of the little role in Danman Thompson's great rural play at the Hathaway theatre last evening aroused the enthusiasm of a large audience of admirers to a high pitch. Last week Mr. DeBryn's light was hidden under a bushel, as it were, but this week he was given an opportunity to display his exceptional talent, now well known to all local lovers of the drama, and his work as Thaddeus Strong was clean cut.

GEORGE PRIMROSE (middle) WITH HIS DANCERS, MURPHY AND WEST

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The bill at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is one of the best; it is not the best, but on this season. It is headed by George Primrose, the well known minstrel, the famous Primrose. When he appeared on the stage with his two pupils, Murphy and West, he was given a rousing reception by the packed audiences.

What he did to entertain was exactly what he used to do when he appeared with that troupe, which was known as the Primrose and West minstrels. He danced and danced every sort of step known to vaudeville patrons of the day. The trio danced individually, in pairs and altogether, and with evident appreciation of the fondness for them of their audiences.

The Ransdell Sisters, with William B. Ransdell, are dancers also, but of a different sort. There were two pretty girls, equipped with pleasing voices, while the male member of the company is a fancy dancer of unusual merit. There is plenty of solo and trio work both dancing and singing.

The Musical Dicks and his company present a musical novelty, which is extremely amusing and useful. The two play about everything imaginable. A pair of young acrobats and strong men, the like of whom are really seldom seen on any Lowell stage, are the Errol Brothers. Their feats of strength are not only novel, but remarkable, and their balancing stunts no less so.

The moving pictures are extremely good and varied. These pictures are shown with the greater part of the house fully lighted, a novel and pleasing innovation.

A feature of the musical programs yesterday, as it will be all the week, was the striking selection, "The Blue Ribbon March," written by Philip Lederman, leader of the theatre orchestra, and dedicated to the patrons of the house. Last night the orchestra gave a delightful 15-minute concert from "The Gypsy Baron."

The above bill will be presented at continuous performances daily from 1 until 10:30 o'clock.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A capital show was presented at the Academy yesterday and was greeted by two large audiences in afternoon and evening. Mahoney Brothers and Daisly entertain in a comedy dancing act that is full of snap. "Daisly," the canine member of the team, is very clever in her dancing specialty, going through the evolutions of the two-step and waltz with much precision. The March and Gilly have a neat gymnastic act and perform some difficult stunts on the trapeze. George, Boone & Co., in "A Woman's Way," have an act that will keep you in roars of laughter. Mr. Deane is a real comedian in the part of the husband that comes home after a night at the club. The picture includes a biograph comedy.

MRS. WILLIAM SKANKS.

Lawson, Mr. (Special)—"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for a good many years and know its value. I intend to use it right along, as I need a stimulant and tonic. I will only be too glad to recommend it to all my friends as I feel sure it will be of great benefit to them." Mrs. Wm. Skanks, 37 Skinner St.

If you wish to feel young, strong and vigorous and enjoy perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It corrects the defective digestion of the food, increases the appetite, strengthens the heart, cures insomnia, brings rosiness to the brain and nervous forces and gives vigor to the entire system. Recognized as a family medicine everywhere. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children, and is a promoter of health and longevity. We have thousands of grateful patients who write us they have been cured after they were given up by the doctors.

All druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Send for free medical booklet and advice.

YOUTHFUL ACTOR

Forrest Stanley, Leading Man at 25

A leading man at 25 years of age and yet no novice is the record of Mr. Forrest Stanley whose work in "The Charity Ball" at the Opera House this week is making him a big favorite with local theatre-goers. Off the stage Mr. Stanley appears even younger than before the footlights and a number of men betting on his age at the Washington Tavern yesterday all placed it between 20 and 21.

But Mr. Stanley is old in experience, having started his career when but 16 years of age and he has worked his way up from the humble position of property boy, having done everything behind the footlights, even to pushing a brush over a setting and doing a little stage carpentering on the side.

FORREST STANLEY
Of Thompson-Flynn Co.

Mr. Stanley is a native of Brooklyn and for the past five seasons has been playing the leading parts at the Lyceum theatre, the theatre in which he started his career 19 years ago.

Speaking of his career, Mr. Stanley said to a reporter of The Sun: "When only a little fellow I was attracted by the glare of the footlights and refused to be thoroughly happy until I got a job of some kind around a theatre. I made several unsuccessful attempts to convince the management of the Lyceum theatre that I was just the boy to distribute programs in front, or run errands, but they told me to go home and grow and I did, but I returned at 16, big enough in my own opinion to manage the house. They looked me over and consigned me to the tender mercies of the stage manager who placed me in charge of the 'props.' I went along carefully observing the members of the company and after a short time was given a 'bit' to play. I remained at the Lyceum for three years and then went across the water and played my first lines in England with Martin Harvey and toured Birmingham, Hull, Liverpool and London, playing at Drury Lane in the Metropolitan. Upon returning to this country I went with Spencer and Adora and with Paddy Sullivan and then went to the scene of my experience on the boards, the Lyceum. I had a stock company of my own in Troy last season and am booked for the road next season."

Mr. Stanley is a natural actor and is at home in any part to which he may be assigned. He possesses a most pleasing personality, both on and off the stage. He has a fine voice and his enunciation is faultless.

Yesterday's performances of "The Charity Ball" ran as smoothly as if the company had been playing it an entire season. "The Charity Ball" will be presented twice daily except Friday, and "Girls" will be presented next week.

CLYDE FITCH'S "GIRLS" Clyde Fitch's brilliant comedy, "Girls," has been selected for next week's presentation by the Thompson-Flynn stock company at Lowell Opera House. It is a question if any better play of its kind has ever been written. No matter what the play might be that this brilliant author turned out, there was always somewhere in its makeup a gentle dig at some characteristic or foible of humanity, and usually timely and to the point. In this case, he took the question of the struggle of the unprotected young female who comes to the big city to make a living and around it built a play that is most interesting. Fitch could be bitterly sarcastic at times, but in "Girls" he was merely good humored and whimsical. The dialogue sparkles with the essence of real wit, and the situations are so spontaneous, natural and convincing that only a master mind could have conceived them. The play made an instantaneous hit when first produced at Daly's theatre, New York, and ran for almost a year.

THE GIRL FROM RECTORS

"The Girl From Rector's," which had a run of over three hundred nights at Weber's music hall, New York, will be seen in this city at the Opera House for one night only, Feb. 17th. Paul A. Potter is the author of the work, and despite the fact his past has been identified with plays of a serious nature, he hit upon a vein of humor in "The Girl," which astonished even his most ardent admirers. It is a long step from a play of the nature of "Tally Ho," of which he was the author, to an offering like that of his latest creation. The New York critics declare that he has made a name for himself in the field of comedy which will survive his former reputation. There isn't a dull line throughout "The Girl From Rector's," and not a situation that cannot be understood and appreciated by any one. The success of the piece may be judged from the fact that its earning capacity at Weber's was many times greater than that of the same house when the Weber & Fields offerings there were the sole topic of New York's theatre going public. Seats on sale today.

"SEVEN DAYS"

This is the stamp of approval put on "Seven Days" by Altmeyer's Magazine: "A veritable scream from the rising of the first curtain to the falling of the final curtain." The writer of the foregoing might have added, that the laughter doesn't end with the play, but recurs whenever one thinks of the wit and fun in it. This comedy is all the more attractive from the fact that its persons are of the twentieth century smart set. Its fun is drawing, room fun. To be sure it gets into the kitchen and climbs to the roof, but it carries the drawing room floor along with it. Underlying the laugh creating qualities of "Seven Days" is a decidedly interesting story of love and lovers, such as all the world has liked since the beginning of time. "Seven Days" will be acted at the Lowell Opera House soon by a distinguished New York cast. Messrs. Wagenhals & Kemper are sending the play here right from the Astor theatre in New York, where it is in its second year, and with a Broadway cast and production. It will be the best thing of the season.

MANY OFFICIALS

ATTENDED THE FUNERAL OF FORMER GOV. TUTTLE

PITTSFIELD, N. H., Feb. 14.—A large delegation of representatives of the official, civil and industrial life of New Hampshire came here yesterday to attend the funeral of former Gov. Tuttle, whose death occurred in this town last Friday. Special trains were run to Pittsfield from Manchester and Concord to bring from those cities former political and business associates of the late governor. The services were held at 2 p. m. in the Congregational church and were conducted by Right Rev. Edward Parker, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New Hampshire. They were of the simple character. Musical selections were sung by a quartet.

The active pallbearers were local employees of the former governor. The honorary pallbearers included associates of Gov. Tuttle in his banking, lumbering and railroad activities. They were Walter Parker, Manchester; J. H. Brown, Concord; S. J. Winslow, John Rand and John W. Drew of Pittsfield and James Ricker and Oscar Ross of Boston.

The schools were closed throughout the day and during the hour of the funeral all business was suspended as a tribute of respect to the memory of Pittsfield's leading citizen.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement:

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it." Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 6, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headache, backache, dragging-down distress or from painful irregularities, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary spots or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, catarrhal grain, prolapus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womankind organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for women's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same or, better still, send 31 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advisor, new, revised up-to-date Edition, 1008 pages.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it. It is not only foolish but often dangerous to do so.

SENATOR CURTIS THE BOOT TEAM REJECTED BILL FOR HOME RULE

Still Leads in Manufacturers' League

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—As "one of the senators from Kansas," Senator Curtis addressed the senate in opposition to a resolution proposed to submit to states a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by direct vote. All through his speech, Senator Curtis attacked his colleague, Senator Bristow, for approving of the amendment.

Senator Curtis said that he was in favor of a constitutional amendment looking to the election of senators by direct vote, but he was not willing that it should be so amended that congress should give up all its rights to make or alter the regulations of a state for the election of United States senators. This, he said, was what the amendment would provide. The amendment, he said, was passed, and the constitution is amended as provided therein, then the congress gives up all its rights to make or alter the regulations of a state for the election of United States senators and if electors are disfranchised, if outrages are perpetrated, if fraud is committed, or if corrupt practices are resorted to, the congress remains helpless.

The seemingly invincible Boot team is still leading the other teams in the race for supremacy in the Manufacturers' League. The Machine shop is trying hard to get into first place but it is doubtful if the members of that aggregation will reach the pinnacle for which they are working hard. The Bigelow team is doing good work but is still in third position. The other teams remain unchanged with the poor T. S. S. having no contest for last place.

Abbott of the Boot team is traveling along at a gait which is material in keeping the team of which he is a member in first position, but Carroll of the Appleton and McKinley of the Bigelow aggregation are trying to crowd him out of the top position. The team standing follows:

ONE MAN KILLED

DETROIT, Feb. 14.—One man was killed, one possibly fatally injured, three men and two women were hurt and two women escaped uninjured early today when a touring car going at a high rate of speed, it is claimed, skidded on the icy pavement and crashed into a telephone pole. The dead man was Harry Nederlander, agent of an automobile company.

KILLED BY NEGROES

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 14.—A special from Stanford, Ky., says three negroes attacked three aged white men there, attempting robbery. The whites showed fight and two were killed by the negroes. Two negroes were captured but another escaped. A mob is said to be forming.

NIXON'S BOUT

He Won the Decision From Scalea

HYDE PARK, Feb. 14.—Billy Nixon of Cambridge was awarded the decision over Kid Scalea of Spokane in a smashing 10-round bout at the Regatta A. C. last night. About 600 members saw the fight in French's opera house.

The first round was very even, with both men boxing carefully. In the second round Scalea sent a right cross to the jaw which sent the Cambridge man to the floor for the back of his head.

Nixon showed well in the seventh, but toward the end of this round Scalea scored heavily with right hand smashes in the clinches.

The eighth round was Nixon's. Just after they began their boxing in the ninth Scalea struck his opponent rather low, and before Scalea's blow stopped the bout temporarily and sent the men to their corners for a rest.

When they resumed they boxed it up in a lively fashion.

Mark Kelley of Cambridge, who made his debut as a professional in the semi-final, boxing against Jimmy Sullivan of Danvers, lasted only three rounds. He was floored with a right jab to the stomach, and was unable to rise before the count. Joe Milroy of Roxbury, bested Jim Carlstrom of Boston.

IS IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—"Keep President Taft in the White House eight years more and we will have all the problems solved, so far as legislation can solve them," declared Congressman J. Adam Bede, of Minnesota at the Lincoln day banquet of the Middlesex club at the Hotel Somerset last night. Congressman Bede touched upon governmental problems in general and in general to reciprocity.

"I am for the reciprocal arrangement with Canada, whether Minnesota likes it or not. It is the best for the whole country."

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—George Hackenschmidt last night won in straight falls from Charles Cutler. The first fall resulted from a toe and body hold in one hour and three minutes and four seconds. A toe lock brought about the second in 10 minutes and 20 seconds. American and Fred Baell wrestled one hour without a fall to a draw.

BOSTON HOCKEY CLUB

Boston hockey club defeated the crack Sherbrooke team from Canada, 4 to 3 before 4000 people at the Boston Arena last night. The game was rough from start to finish. The first half ended 2 to 2.

AT THE ARMORY

Big Tournament for Military Companies Opened Last Night

The sporting season at the Lowell armory in Westford street commenced last evening, when the first of a series of contests between Companies C, G and K of the Sixth regiment and M of the Ninth was held. The contest is to last 12 weeks and includes basketball, bowling, revolver and rifle shooting.

It is understood that the sports idea originated with Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson of this city, who has always believed that the dull routine of army life should be enlivened by contests of some kind. To this end Adj. Gen. Pearson will endeavor to arrange for sporting events in every Massachusetts armory which seems to be at a standstill.

The schedule and rules of the contests are as follows:

Feb. 20—"C" vs. "M."
Feb. 27—"M" vs. "G."
Mar. 6—"K" vs. "C."
Mar. 13—"K" vs. "M."
Mar. 20—"C" vs. "G."
Mar. 27—"K" vs. "G."
Apr. 3—"K" vs. "C."
Apr. 10—"K" vs. "M."
Apr. 17—"G" vs. "M."
Apr. 24—"G" vs. "C."
May 1—"K" vs. "G."

Rules for the Contests

1—Contestants must be members of this association who have been mustered into the service at least 30 days. (Failure to observe this rule will forfeit points in that particular event.)

2—Five members constitute a team, and no man can serve on more than one team on the same date.

3—Competitions commence promptly at 8 o'clock on night scheduled. Bowling teams failing to appear by 8.15 will forfeit games and points involved.

4—Team winning largest number of points will be declared winner of the tournament for trophy for season or month.

5—Points are to be awarded as follows:

Bowling: (Candle pins—3 strings) one point for each string, one point for total pinfall. Total, 4 points.

Indoor rifle practice: Each match, Total, 4 points.

Basketball: Each game, Total, 4 points.

Members must compete in at least 75 per cent of the matches to be eligible for prizes. Prizes will consist of tournament championship trophy. Trophies for team winning highest number of points in bowling, trophy for team winning highest number of points in basketball, trophy for rifle team winning highest number of points. Smaller cups will be given to individual members of winning teams. First and second individual prizes will be given to high average hand in rifle.

The armory is now equipped with a new range, which is one of the latest devices for determining the accuracy of shots. The principal feature of this range is the movable target, which from a wire and is placed in position by means of a hand crank from the spot where the marksmen stands. As soon as a shot is fired, the handle is turned, with the result that the target comes rapidly along the wire to the man who is shooting and the perforation in the cardboard tells the score. Little men in white coats are quickly passed over the perforation and the target moves back to its original position. This is absolutely safe for the reason that no one is required to stand near the target at the time the bullets penetrate it. The range is the only one of its kind in this part of the country and was put up by E. W. Douglass of this city under the government's supervision.

The contest was opened last night by Companies G and K, and the members of the former company carried off the honors in the matter of total points scored. Basketball, bowling and rifle tournament were the main features of the contest.

A large crowd was present and appreciated the affair to its full extent. The most interesting feature of the evening was the hearing of the case between Companies G and K, the former getting an easy victory over their opponents, by a score of 37 to 8.

The score and summary are as follows:

Co. G
McGookin 17
Jodoin 16
Paul 16
Keefer 16
St. Peter 16

Summary: Score, Co. C, 37; Co. K, 8. Score at end of first half, 16-4. Goals, Jodoin 9, St. Peter 3, McGookin 5, Paul 3, McCarthy 1, Carl 1, Cashin 1. Fouls, by Co. K, 3, by Co. G, 2. Time, 20 min. halves. Referee, Linscott. Timers, Luce and Planders.

Then came the rifle and bowling tournaments, which were held down stairs. After an hour of shooting, the targets shot at by the contestants were examined by several officers, and the count showed 408 to 337 in favor of Co. K. This gave K four points offsetting the points scored by G in the basketball game. A summary of the scores made is as follows:

Co. K—Musicien Greeley, 50; Private Savage, 51; Private Fox, 52; Private Page, 50; Sgt. Stevens, 53. Total, 408.

Company G—Sgt. Barnes, 73; Private Archie Alfano, 17; Private Alfonso Alfano, 51; Private Barnes, 74; Lieut. Doyle, 82. Total, 337.

Bowling was also very interesting and Co. G clinched the first series by winning four points in bowling. Company G won every string and the score was as follows:

Company G	1	2	3	Total
Crowell	80	72	85	237
Mortally	61	70	72	203
Jeyes	86	77	80	243
Shaughnessy	57	83	84	224
Wood	53	91	88	232
Totals	369	393	392	1154

Company K	1	2	3	Total
Huntley	73	81	78	232
Greig	53	81	83	217
Laycock	76	92	79	247
Doyle	56	66	69	191
Scott	67	65	67	199

General Items

It is understood that Lieut. Bernard F. McArdle of Company M, ninth regiment is to turn in his resignation at the company's regular meeting to be held tonight. If so, the election for the vacancy created by the resignation of Lieut. McArdle, will take place a week from Friday. The candidates for the position are: Sgt. Sheldon, Sgt. Dupes and Sgt. Stevens, the latter formerly second lieutenant of the same company.

Company G will also hold elections a week from Thursday to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Lieut. Fred Mottram, whose resignation took effect a couple of weeks ago. The only candidate for the position to the present time is Private Fred Campbell, who is a graduate of the Norwich military school.

Company M, Ninth regiment will hold a social and dance this evening in the drill shed at the armory, and tomorrow evening, Co. C, sixth regiment will have its prize drill and at the same time will hold a dance for the members and friends.

The members of the national guard of this city have been invited to attend the meeting of the National Guard to be held at the American house, Hanover street, Boston, Major Walter J. Fenfield of the U. S. army has been detailed by the war department to address the meeting which will be in the line of a smoke talk. The major will speak on the new infantry field belt and pack, new canteen, rifle equipped with telescope sight and silencer, automatic pistols and revolvers, field sabre, trenching tools, ration cans, etc. The speaker will have two soldiers with him to use as models to show the difference between the former and the new equipments. Many of the local officers will attend this meeting.

It is a positive fact that the Spanish War Veterans will hold their convention in the local armory on April 13. The members of the national guard of this city have been invited to attend in uniform the annual ball of Butler company, No. 16, U. S. P. which will be held some time this month.

The militiamen are pleased of the fact that the pom poms worn on their caps have been called in. They were used as ornaments only and were a nuisance.

A new basketball fence has been put in the armory and the men expect soon to have a fully equipped gymnasium.

SIX DROWNED

GASOLINE STEAMER WRECKED IN A STORM

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 14.—Captain Thomas Latham and five of the crew of ten were drowned yesterday when the gasoline steamer Oshkosh was wrecked in a storm on the south spit of the Columbia river.

CURES SORE AND TIRED FEET

Ordinary antiseptic vilano powder has many valuable uses, but probably few persons know what wonderful power it has over sore, tired, aching or calloused feet. It draws all the soreness out, checks excessive perspiration, prevents congestion and cold feet, while it removes corns, bunions and calluses. Many physicians know its worth, and the public can be saved much suffering by this knowledge being imparted.

If the reader wishes to try it, obtain of any leading druggist two ounces of vilano powder. To a gallon of steaming water add a teaspoonful of the powder and a tablespoonful of salt, and keep the feet immersed from 10 to 20 minutes every night for several weeks.

ROCHESTER LADY SAYS:

Mrs. J. Stewart, Rochester, New York, says: "Having given Blackburn's CascaRoyal Pills a trial, I find them superior to any other medicine we have ever tried for sick headache and constipation. You have my permission to do as you please with this letter, etc."

If you have suffered for years with constipation, and have not found anything which would relieve and restore a normal condition of the bowels, you should write to The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, and obtain a free trial package of Blackburn's CascaRoyal Pills, or you can obtain 100 boxes from any well stocked drug store.

CRIME INCREASES

Report Alarms and Puzzles Britons

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A blue book, just issued giving the judicial statistics of England and Wales indicates that during the period of 1904-8 the annual average of persons tried for indictable offences was 52,308; for 1909-1908 it was 55,015; for 1908 it increased to 58,000. In 1908 it increased to 58,000, the largest number on record. In 1909 it fell to 57,139. Inasmuch as the statistics of the latter half of the last century showed a steadily diminishing rate of crime, the record for this century is far from comforting to Britons.

In an introduction to this blue book, written by Mr. H. B. Simpson, principal clerk of the home office, he says: "The situation is not official, but the report is growing. It is due in his opinion to a growing indisposition to prosecute for offences of a less serious kind, a growing inclination toward leniency to take the trouble to prosecute the thief, who if he is convicted, is likely to be let off with little or no punishment, and it is consequently probable that the real increase in crime has been even greater than is shown by the figures relating to the number of persons prosecuted."

Mr. Simpson says that since 1893 there has been marked increase in the sentiment of compassion and a tendency to side with the lawbreaker in his conflict against the law. There is too much talk as if crime were simply the outcome of the revolt of the poor against the rich. "The feeling of dissatisfaction with the inequalities of our existing social system at the present time is so deep and general that any one professing to take part in such a revolt may count on securing a good deal of public sympathy."

Coming at a time when Mr. Winston Churchill as a cabinet official, is leading a "reform" which has for its mission the lessening of some of the hardships of criminals, and at a time when Mr. Galsworthy, the dramatic and fiction writer, is casting his influence in the same direction, the semi-official declaration against leniency in connection with crime and the presumable evil it works is the more suggestive and valuable.

COL. BALFOUR

BROTHER OF A. J. BALFOUR DIED TODAY

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Col. E. J. A. Balfour, brother of A. J. Balfour, M. P., died today. He was formerly an officer in the Scottish army and subsequently aide de camp to King Edward and King George. He was the fifth son of the late James Balfour, M. P., and in 1879 married Lady Francis Campbell, fifth daughter of the eighth duke of Argyll.

ORDNANCE EXPERTS

SAY THAT SERVICE PROJECTILES RETAIN THEIR EFFECTIVENESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—In the light of fuller reports of the firing test in the lower Potomac river last Friday when twelve inch shells fired by the monitor Tallahassee penetrated armored plate targets erected on the river Katabdo at a distance of 8,000 yards, naval ordnance experts have reiterated their contention that service projectiles retain their effectiveness at long battle ranges. The first shot which struck the target, according to the more complete reports, penetrated the armor but the shell was broken to pieces. The second projectile struck the top of the forward target, dug out a piece of steel measuring three and one-half feet and six feet and glanced off. It is not known whether or not this shell was broken. The third and fourth shots completely penetrated the larger of the two targets. The third bored a clean hole; the fourth likewise pierced the thick plate and in addition tore off a big piece of steel. The third and fourth shells disappeared in the water but as no fragments or third could be found anywhere in the vicinity of the target experts maintain that the shells did not break. None of the shells was loaded with explosives, the test being designed to determine the penetrating power of the projectiles.

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—General discussion of the Pan-American conference was scheduled for today's session of the Pan-American commercial conference. Diplomatic representatives of Latin America in Washington, state department officials and trade experts were scheduled to take part. Among the speakers in today's program were Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, Charles Sherrill, United States minister to Argentina, Isaac Manning, consul at La Guaira, Venezuela, and Lewis Nixon, who represented the United States at the fourth Pan-American conference at Buenos Ayres last summer.

KNOX TO SPEAK ON RECIPROCITY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—To deliver another speech for the administration in favor of the reciprocity agreement, Secretary Knox left today for Chicago. He will address the Chicago Association of Commerce tomorrow night in advocacy of reciprocity.

REVIVAL SERVICES

AT PENTECOSTAL CHURCH QUITE SUCCESSFUL

The revival services at the Pentecostal church on First street is attracting large crowds nightly. On February 3, John Wesley Lee of Kentucky came to Lowell and he is preaching the old fashioned bible gospel nightly to large congregations. The solos by Mrs. Reynolds, of Haverhill, have charmed all who have heard her. One of her most effective hymns is "The Lost Are Coming Home." The services are at 7.30 every evening except on Saturday.

INSURRECTOS

Were Held for the Grand Jury

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 14.—The nine insurgents who crossed the international border line into New Mexico and who were arrested by United States troops Friday had an examining trial at Las Cruces yesterday and were bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Being unable to give bond fixed at $100 each they must lie in jail until the grand jury meets the first Monday in April.

ENJOYED A SLEIGHRIDE TO TYNGSBORO

The second annual sleighride party of the employees of the D. L. Page Co. was held last night, and was attended by about 50 people, who had a splendid time.

The party left the corner of John and Merrimack streets at 8 o'clock and journeyed to Tyngsboro town hall, where general dancing was enjoyed till midnight. A fine supper was served by Mrs. Ann Andrews. The return was made soon after the midnight hour, the party arriving in the city after 1 o'clock. Dudley McLoon had general charge, and he was assisted by W. J. Johnson.

JOHN CARRERE

THE INJURED ARCHITECT REPORTED TO BE IMPROVING

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Some improvement in the condition of John M. Carrere, the architect, who was injured in an auto accident Sunday, was noted today at the Presbyterian hospital. The patient passed a fairly restful night, the hospital authorities reported, and gained partial consciousness at intervals. While still critically ill from concussion of the brain, there seemed ground for hope of his ultimate full recovery if the steady improvement so far noted should continue as was expected.

SIMPLE TREATMENT FOR A VELVETY COMPLEXION

Mrs. Mae Martyn, authority on health and beauty, writing for the Los Angeles Examiner, says: "Society women are discarding face powders and cosmetics and taking to liquid preparations, because powder tends to stop up the pores and roughens the skin, ruining a complexion, while a good lotion clears the skin and keeps it in a healthy condition. The lotion must be popular in exclusive circles is made of spumax and is prepared by dissolving 4 ounces of spumax in 12 pint hot water, then adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This is much nicer to apply than powder and does not rub off easily. It is inexpensive, and its use soon produces a soft and velvety complexion. Women using this recipe find it splendid for rough or oily skins, as it clears as well as beautifies."

THE NOMINATION OF MR. LEGARE

In naming Joseph A. Legare for the position of postmaster as successor to the late Postmaster Thompson, Congressman Ames has selected a young man who by education and training is eminently fitted for the position. There were other good men in the race for this office, but the fact that the nomination was made so quickly after the vacancy occurred, indicates that no other candidate was considered. Mr. Legare as the confidential friend and private secretary of the congressman, was evidently his first and only choice. Besides being a lawyer and having valuable experience in Washington, Mr. Legare is widely known throughout the district, and no doubt this and the fact that he represents a distinct and growing political element in Lawrence and Lowell, in all probability dictated his appointment.

ALL SEASONS OPEN ON SKUNKS

According to certain legislators in Connecticut it would appear to be good policy to go into the business of raising skunks. The legislature of the Nutmeg state has provided for a closed season on skunks, the open season being that in which the fur is marketable at $1 a pelt. The Massachusetts legislature wrestled with the skunk question, the people who wanted a closed season, asserting that the skunk devoured a lot of insect pests that are destructive to crops and that in consequence it is the friend of the farmer. To this the farmers demurred, charging that the skunk is a destructive midnight prowler about poultry yards, and that the harm it does is 100 times as great as the good. The farmers knew whereof they spoke; the legislators had had little experience with real skunks and having a dislike for skunks both real and figurative, they decided not to throw the protection of the law around an animal that can only give back the odor of nephitis nephilica.

BRITISH LIBERALS FAVOR RECIPROCITY

The British Liberals have lost no time in taking a positive stand in favor of free trade and against any policy of imperial preference from the colonies such as is advocated by the Unionists. This action by the Liberals means that no opposition to reciprocity may be feared from London and hence Canada will be free to negotiate with the United States as she may see fit, and her action will be endorsed by the imperial government. If the British parliament adopts a free trade policy at home, it cannot logically object to a measure of free trade between Canada and the United States. That clears the way on the other side of the border for freedom of action that the Unionists would deny were they in power. Thus one more excuse for opposing the agreement has been removed. President Taft is pushing the reciprocity pact and threatening republicans with grave consequences if this reciprocity measure be not adopted. This comes like a death-bed repentance. The president sees the handwriting on the wall, and this is the means by which he hopes to have its fatal meaning set aside.

NATIONALITIES IN LAWRENCE SCHOOLS

American	2700	Irish	920
Armenian	15	Italian	762
Austrian	57	Portuguese	69
Belgian	26	Jew and Lithuanian	872
Canadian	653	Scotch	250
English	850	Syrian	162
French	57	Unclassified	84
German	737

Lawrence is strong in the German nationality as in Italian and Russian Jews, none of which has any large representation in Lowell. The Irish and French children for the most part attend the parochial schools, so that the percentage in this table does not show the numerical proportion of either. Lowell on the contrary has many Greeks whereas Lawrence has very few.

SAN FRANCISCO'S VICTORY

San Francisco is to have the Panama Exposition of 1915. Congress, after a long discussion, so decided. This does not prove that the city of San Francisco is better adapted to the purpose than New Orleans, but it does prove that the city of the Golden Gate put up the better fight. It also put up more money which means that it showed greater public spirit than did its rival in the contest. The members of congress would rather go westward than southward. The climate is more agreeable; there is less danger of disease; the scenery is better and the new city risen from the ruins of the old has its charms for the men who decide such questions at Washington. The western orators exhausted the English vocabulary in describing the scenery along the routes leading to the Golden Gate from the north, the east and the south. Oh, what an education to journey across the Rocky mountains, across the wide prairies and the picturesque country along the trans-continental lines of railway! In view of this decision in favor of San Francisco and its great possibilities we may recall those well known lines of Bishop Berkeley:

Westward the course of empire takes its way;

The four first acts already past;

A fifth shall close the drama with the day;

SEEN AND HEARD

This is St. Valentine's day and what did you receive in the way of valentines? Were they horrid old things, or something nice?

The following has to do with the deaths of presidents, and is interesting as matter of record and history:

George Washington contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia, proving fatal Dec. 14, 1799. He was buried at Mt. Vernon.

John Adams died July 4, 1826, from senile debility and was buried in the First Congregational church, Quincy, Mass.

Thomas Jefferson died July 4, 1826, of chronic diarrhoea and, like most of the southern born presidents, was buried on his own estate, Monticello, Va.

James Madison died of old age June 28, 1836, and was buried at Montpelier, Va.

his special line:
He had the strength of navies and the lightning in one day;
We clean forgot our poker, and the run of drinks was light;
When we saw around us listened to this jingo talkin' fight.

But the stranger got to fussin' with old China in one day;
And the Original slipped him, and fast took his gun away.
Whereupon Bear Hawkins murmurs: "Boys, I sure am plum surprised That this jingo Hobson ever got us hypnotized."

So we organized a Peace Club, and we all swore to the pact;
And to shout the jingo's boodhoo's was our first official act;
And he faded over the ectus in the yellow shades of night,
And we know the joy of it now that no one's talkin' fight.

—Denver Republican.

FOR EACH OF US
Let us forget the things that vexed and tried us,
The worrying things that caused our souls to fret;
The hopes that, cherished long, were so despised as
Let us forget.

Let us forget the little slights that pained us,
The wrongs that rankled us, the wrongs that rankled us;
The pride with which some lofty one disdain us
Let us forget.

Let us forget our brother's fault and failing,
The yielding to temptation that he set,
That he perchance, though grief be unavailing,
Can not forget.

But blessings manifold, past all describing,
Kind words and helpful deeds, a comradely throng,
The fault of one, the rectitude unswerving,
Let us remember long.

The sacrifice of love, the generous giving
When friends were few, and hand-
The fragrance of each life of holy living,
Let us remember long.

Whatever things were good, and true, and gracious,
Whatever of right has triumphed over wrong,
What love of God of man has rendered precious,
Let us remember long.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Moorefield Storey of Boston has been selected to deliver the William J. Storrs lectures at Yale this year.

These lectures were established in the law school in 1889 by the Misses E. T. and M. A. Robinson of Hartford, in memory of William Lucius Storrs.

Judge Storrs was a professor in the law school of Brown university, the supreme court of Connecticut. A course of five or six lectures is given annually on this foundation. Mr. Storey's subject is not yet announced.

Miss Frances Taft, Wellesley, 1909, will deliver at San Francisco Feb. 15, for Pekin, China, to establish a branch of Young Women's Christian association work under the auspices of the National Y. W. C. A. As Miss Taft is a Wellesley graduate, members of the college have been especially interested in contributing toward her outfit and expenses. Miss Grace Kilbourne, a graduate in 1910, and president last year of the Christian association, will sail with Miss Taft to study and travel for a year in the east.

The general education board, founded by John D. Rockefeller, has voted to give $100,000 to the University of the gift to be made applicable upon the raising of the remainder of the $1,000,000 endowment fund which the university authorities are making efforts to obtain. The same board recently gave $50,000 toward the $200,000 of the $1,000,000 which is to be applied to the needs of the women's college. The total which the university must raise elsewhere is $350,000. When the additional sum is secured the general education board's gift is made available. The $50,000 gift for the women's college was announced recently by the Rockefeller board. The additional gift of $100,000 just announced constitutes a big step toward securing the remainder of the funds. President Francis says that the committee has already received several large gifts toward the fund, the origin of which he is not yet at liberty to state.

Miss Fanny Bixby is reported to be doing unusually good work among wayward boys and girls at Long Beach, Cal. She is a Wellesley graduate and spent a year in settlement study at the Civic Service House in Boston and another year in the Nurses Settlement of San Francisco. Though the daughter of wealthy parents, Miss Bixby devotes her time to helping the needy offenders. She is a special police officer.

The memorial in London to Queen Victoria that was finally decided upon has resulted in a result as soon as the squabble over the donation of the view-obstructing buildings in Trafalgar square is ended—in the most important improvement to the centre of the metropolis ever accomplished at one operation. From Trafalgar square there will be a view through the new statue arch, down the mall to the equestrian monument, with the Buckingham palace beyond. It will be one of the finest prospects in Europe.

For the London memorial to King Edward an improvement of equal, if not greater importance, is now proposed, and the chance of the donation of the view-obstructing buildings in Trafalgar square will be carried out. If this is done one of the ugliest features of this city will be replaced by structures of beauty, and a reproach that every observant visitor levels at the British capital will no longer be justified.

The scheme is briefly, to remove the Charing Cross railway station to the south side of the Thames and to improve the traffic facilities on both sides of the river by means of a new bridge, handsomely embellished, to be known as the King Edward bridge. The bridge, existing railway bridge would be removed and the Embankment would at last be visible as a single splendid thoroughfare.

Illinois college at Jacksonville, Ill., recently received a cash gift of $5000 from Edward C. Gifford, St. Louis, Mo., toward a new endowment of $150,000. Andrew Carnegie has contributed one-half of the amount; friends and alumni have thus far contributed about $65,000, so that only $19,000 still remains to be raised in order to complete the endowment.

A gift of $50,000 for the erection of new shops for the Sibley college of mechanical engineering at Cornell has been received from Mrs. Florence O. R. Lang of Montclair, N. J., as a memorial to her father, Jasper Raymond Lang, and to other members of her family. Jasper R. Lang, Jr., was a student at Cornell with the class of 1897.

Miss Marjorie Van Winkle, daughter of Augustus Van Winkle, has given to Lafayette college the necessary funds for an extension to the Van Winkle memorial library. This extension is a part of the original plan, and will provide additional stack room for about 5000 volumes.

The law school of the University of Virginia has received $5000 and a law library bequeathed by Judge Lambert Tree of Chicago.

Mrs. Stephen Baker is president of the board of managers of the Studio Club of New York, which has its home at 63 West 56th street. The object of the club is to provide a comfortable home for students of music, the drama, lectorial and plastic arts and crafts. About 25 girls make their home in the club, and the membership is said to be over 200. Members have the use of the pleasant club rooms for social teas, lectures, musicals and other student activities. Though affiliated with the Young Women's Christian association, it is absolutely non-sectarian.

SKULL PIERCED

Crowley Struck Sullivan With a Pick

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—William D. Crowley, aged 32, of 241 Vine street, Cambridge, was lodged at the county jail last night and John J. Sullivan, aged 19, of 35 Melrose street is at the Relief station in a serious condition as the result of an unprovoked assault committed by the former on the latter yesterday in front of 660 Washington street.

Sullivan, who is employed as a laborer by the Boston consolidated gas company, was bending over at his work when Crowley came along and without warning took up a pick and swung it down on Sullivan's head. The point pierced Sullivan's skull, causing a compound fracture and laying him senseless.

Crowley was arrested by Patrolman Sweeney of division 4, who jumped off a street car and caught him as he was running away from a crowd of men. At the station house and later before Inspector Dugan, Crowley appeared sullen and almost demented.

He said he did not mean to hit Sullivan, but "just wanted to show them he could swing the pick as well as ever."

The police, who say that Crowley has a record for larceny and intoxication, believe that he is mentally unbalanced as the result of persistent dissipation. Arraigned before Judge Loring, he was committed to the county jail.

Sullivan was taken to the Relief station, where he was operated on. Although his condition is serious, his name has been removed from the dangerous list and he is expected to recover.

A GOOD SLEUTH

Woman Trails Her Former Lover

BOSTON, Feb. 11.—Louis Rosenberg, a traveling tailor, has been arrested in New York, according to a telegram received by the Boston police yesterday, following his indictment in this city on the charge of theft of cash and diamonds valued at $800 belonging to Miss Thelma Hayden of Quincy street, Roxbury.

To Miss Hayden also, it appears, to whom the police say Rosenberg was formerly engaged, is due his arrest, since she pointed him out to a New York patrolman, saying that he was a fugitive from Boston.

Miss Hayden, according to her story, gave Rosenberg $800 of her savings and several rings, worth another $300, for the purpose of fitting up a flat. Rosenberg, however, it is charged, went away with another girl, taking the money and rings with him.

Miss Hayden secured an indictment against him, and later, learning he had gone to Jersey City followed him there and to New York, armed with letters from Deputy Supt. Watts. She continued her search until Sunday, when she saw him and had him arrested.

Rosenberg is now locked up at police headquarters in New York. Inspector Wolf has prepared extradition papers and expects to start after him today.

AFTER-EFFECTS OF ACUTE FEVERS

It Was Not Until He Tried the Tonic Treatment That His Health Was Restored.

Many whose health has been wrecked by an attack of typhoid, scarlet or malarial fever or of the grip, will be interested in the manner in which one sufferer found relief from the condition in which the acute attack left him. Mr. D. A. Kephart, now living at No. 211 Richmond street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says:

"About six years ago I had typhoid fever while working in a lumber camp near Alloupa, Pa. The disease left my bowels in such a condition that the doctors told me I could not be cured. My bowels were inactive and bloated. I had to take strong laxatives all of the time but even that did not give me relief. My appetite was gone and I was quite distressed. I was dizzy and frequently would topple over while walking along the street."

"I was treated by several doctors and tried many kinds of medicines but nothing helped me until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I gave them a good trial with the result that my bowels became regular. My blood soon became in good condition and I have been well ever since."

The symptoms shown when the health is wrecked by the attack of an acute disease differ in almost every case but the condition is one which calls emphatically for a tonic for the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine for this purpose for they act directly on the blood which they cleanse of all impurities.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anemia, rheumatism, sciatica, nervousness, after-effects of the grip and fevers, and neuralgia, owing to their blood-building property. These pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand-fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Charges Made Against Chief of Police of Salem Certifies to Benefits From Anti-Typhoid Vaccination

SALEM, Feb. 14.—Friction between the mayor and aldermen over police appointments came to a climax yesterday evening when Alderman Howard preferred charges against City Marshal Harris, requesting an early hearing before the board at a special meeting.

The death of Capt. George H. Ellis last August and of Lieut. Manning on Feb. 1 created vacancies which have caused the strife and ill-feeling. City Marshal Harris, under the police department rules, has filed the vacant positions by assignment.

This action has aroused the ire of supporters of Sergt. John J. Carr, who says that under civil service rules he is entitled to promotion.

The civil service commissioners have notified the mayor that police appointments must be by successive grades.

Mayor Adams has announced that he is not in favor of promoting Sergt. Carr and has requested a conference with the civil service commissioners.

To aggravate the situation, it is announced that the aldermen have certified to the civil service commission that appointments on the police force by successive grades is practicable.

Alderman Howard sent a letter to the mayor last evening urging immediate action toward curtailing "Mr. Harris' arbitrary ruling of the police department" and then outlines the following charges against the marshal:

"1. That by refusing to obey an order passed by the board of aldermen on Jan. 25, 1911, to correct last year's report he violated rule 1 of the rules of the police department, which reads as follows: 'The city marshal shall also promptly execute all orders and observe all rules prescribed by the mayor and aldermen.'"

"2. That in appointing Inspector Dennis to act as captain and Inspector Lehan to act as lieutenant he exceeded the authority conferred upon him as marshal of the police force and that such action on his part is an attempt to evade the civil service rules.

"3. That owing to the fact that he has not seen fit to consult the city solicitor of the city many complaints have been quashed in the superior court.

"4. That in placing Inspector Dennis and Inspector Lehan in charge of the station house he has violated rule 2, which reads as follows: 'The captain or sergeant, in the absence of superior officers, shall have charge of the station house and their orders shall be respected and obeyed and they shall report to the marshal every instance of violation of rules and disobedience of orders.'"

"5. That he has shown gross favoritism in the assignment of reserve officers to duty, thereby bringing about a condition in the police department distinctly detrimental to the proper conduct of the department, producing a condition of great discontent among the reserve officers.

"6. That in threatening the mayor that he would resign his office in case the mayor should make a certain appointment, he showed great disrespect for the chief executive officer of the city."

The charges against City Marshal Harris appear to be of a technical character and brought forward by somebody who wants to oust him. Mr. Harris will not remain as head of the police department unless he is given the authority necessary to run it.

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR THE EASTER MONDAY BALL

At the meeting of the Mathew Temperance Institute, President James J. Gallagher presiding. Mr. Gallagher was chosen general manager of the coming Easter Monday ball, and Mr. James E. Donnelly was selected as the floor director. A very interesting report was made by the chairman of the ball committee.

The society appointed a committee of five members to arrange to entertain the members of the St. Charles T. A. society of Woburn, together with their lady friends, who will be the guests of the local society on Thursday evening, Feb. 23. This will be the fourth meeting between these societies, and at the games played by both organizations since their first meeting the Mathews led their brethren from Woburn by one point. Inasmuch as this will be the final meeting before the Easter season, an elaborate program has been arranged. Prof. Bamberg's singing orchestra has been engaged for dancing.

A committee of 25 was also appointed to conduct the annual minstrel overture and dance to be held in Association hall Friday evening, May 26. Arrangements will be made to have a mixed chorus of 100 voices.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—So striking have been the benefits already realized by the regular army through the adoption of anti-typhoid vaccination that General Weaver, in charge of the militia division of the general staff, has addressed a circular to the organized militia, evidently with the purpose of preparing guardsmen for such vaccination in the future. The circular is based on a report by Lieut. George Foster, Jr., of the medical corps which contains startling figures illustrative of the havoc wrought by typhoid in armies. It is shown that in the short Spanish-American campaign there occurred 20,738 cases of typhoid among 107,973 men, with 1580 deaths.

About one-seventh of the regular army has now been vaccinated and it is pointed out that if it were required that all new recruits and enlistments be vaccinated the regular army would be immune to typhoid in three years.

With no serious results following over 31,000 inoculations in the army, the procedure is regarded as absolutely safe. The protective vaccine is prepared at the United States army medical school in this city.

KETCHUP SEIZED

Impounded by Order of District Court

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—The largest seizure of ketchup ever made in Boston under the pure food law took place yesterday afternoon when 29 barrels of ketchup in bulk were impounded by order of the U. S. district court. The barrels were found on the premises of the Standard grocery company at 80 Fulton street by Deputy U. S. Marshal Walters.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Asa P. French will ask that the ketchup be destroyed as detrimental to the public health. The proceedings were brought by the district attorney on information furnished by Drs. Adams and Rayner of the pure food branch of the U. S. department of agriculture, whose office is at 111 State street. They are the chemists who analyzed samples of the ketchup and declared it was adulterated to such an extent as to endanger health.

The government alleges that the ketchup was shipped to the Boston concern in December. The firm that supplied it, according to the allegation, is a firm in New York. It will be charged that the ketchup, on analysis, was found to contain the skins and cores of tomatoes that had been canned and that the pulp of the vegetable, which the government claims should form the basis of pure ketchup, does not appear in the analysis.

The chemists say that the analysis shows that the ketchup was apparently manufactured of the sweepings of the floors of the tomato canning factory and that in the operation quantities of foreign matter entered into the process of making.

Both Drs. Adams and Rayner said yesterday that the ketchup seized was absolutely unfit for consumption. They said they would not only ask that the goods seized be condemned, but destroyed.

They say that they have information that there were 20 more barrels received by the Standard grocery company from the same source.

All of these 20 barrels have been sold here. Some were bottled by the Standard company and some sold in bulk. The U. S. authorities say that they did not trace the ketchup sold by the Standard company since their duty as federal officers ceases when the ketchup is removed from the original packages.

The 29 barrels seized by Dep. Marshal Walters yesterday, weigh in the vicinity of 12 tons and represent many thousands of bottles in the retail trade.

After the seizure the barrels were left in the Fulton street store under seal. Later they will be transported to a government warehouse to await the action of the district court.

It is understood that the Standard company declares that it purchased the goods in good faith and knew absolutely nothing of any adulteration.

BOMB EXPLODED

The Police Blame the "Black Hand"

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Explosion of what is believed to have been a "black hand" bomb pitched the seven members of Frank Barna's family from their beds in a Harlem tenement today wrecked the apartment, broke every window in the building and drove the two score dwellers in the house to the street in a panic. No one was badly injured. Barna, an Italian dealer in fruits on a large scale, denied having received threatening letters, but the police are investigating on the theory that "black hand" revengefulness is at the bottom of the outrage.

New Store FOR RENT

The beautiful new double-deck store, No. 44 Central street, is now ready for occupancy and is offered for rent.

The store consists of a first and second floor with basement, affording over 6000 square feet of floor space, with entrances on Central and Prescott streets.

Modern display windows, fronting on each street, are provided on the first and second floors; the upper show windows on the Central street front following the latest metropolitan plan, are dropped low enough to display goods so as to be seen from the sidewalk.

The interior of the store is high-posted and finished in a most artistic manner and equipped with the latest devices for attractive electrical lighting and display effects.

The centre of the store is lighted from the sky by a huge dome of pleasing design and equipped with a vacuum ventilator which automatically changes the air on all floors and keeps it fresh and healthful.

Electrical base plugs at convenient intervals on every floor. All openings piped for both gas and electricity. Modern steam heating equipment. Maple floors and ash finish throughout the store.

Entrances to the store from both streets are at level of sidewalk without steps. The basement is lighted by the largest and finest walk lights in the city. Toilet rooms for men and women with perfect ventilation and modern fixtures.

Street cars pass the entrances on both streets, and the unobstructed light which reaches the Central street windows from Middle street affords daylight long after other stores in the vicinity are lighted up.

The Rent Is Low

Considering the fact that the store fronts on two busy streets, and is in the very centre of the shopping district, and that both entrances are within a few steps of Merrimack square, the rent is exceptionally low, being much less per square foot than is charged for any equally well located property in Lowell.

For further particulars apply at the office of The Lowell Sun.

SALARY OF $4000

Plan to Create a New Position
With Big Pay

A bill introduced in the legislature by one Maurice J. Fitzgerald seeks to establish another graft in the cities and towns of the commonwealth. It is an act to establish a department of income and revenues, and is supposed to be complementary to the auditing department of cities and towns. The office will be known as that of "conservator of income and revenues," and while the office is subordinate to that of the city or town auditor, the act provides that the salary of the conservator shall be $4000 per annum. The act reads as follows:

Section 1—Said department shall be known as "The department of income and revenues."

Section 2—Said department shall be subordinate to and complementary to the auditing department of cities and towns.

Section 3—Said department shall have a head officer to be known as conservator of income and revenues, and such necessary assistants as the mayor and council of the cities and the selectmen of towns may approve.

Section 4—Said conservator shall take quarterly inventories of all movable city property in every department, shall list and appraise same, and shall keep a permanent record of all inventories for ready reference and comparison by the auditor.

Section 5—Said conservator shall be present at every sale of city property, and shall list in triplicate the article or articles sold, giving in detail the price received and the name of purchaser, and shall make returns within twenty-four hours to the city treasurer of all money received from such sales, with duplicate list of same, leaving triplicate in the office of the department which sold the materials and reserving the original for reference in the department of income and revenues.

Section 6—The salary of the conservator shall be four thousand dollars per annum.

Section 7—This act shall take effect upon its passage.

DANGEROUS FIRE

Broke Out in an Appleton Street
House This Afternoon

What threatened to be a dangerous blaze broke out in a room in the third story of a building used as a lodging and boarding house by Victor H. Meisner at 201-203 Appleton street shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

People in the dining room of the house detected smoke and Mr. Wallace Butterfield, an occupant of the house, traced the smoke to a rear room on the third story of the building.

Mr. Butterfield telephoned to the protective and then sent a man to send in an alarm from box 24.

The department was soon on the scene and found that the fire was making its way between the flooring and partitions on the third story. Two chemical fires were used and in a short time the blaze was extinguished.

Inasmuch as the fire was between the partitions and under the flooring, the firemen found it necessary to rip away the lathes and floor boards before they could get at the centre of the blaze.

It is thought that the fire was caused by a rat's nest under the flooring. A year ago last month a fire started in the adjoining room in the same house, but was extinguished before much damage was done. The building is owned by the Howe estate.

SLEIGHRIDE PARTY

The town hall at Chelmsford Centre was the scene of a very happy party last night and the sleighride that went with it was all to the good. The party included nurses from the Lowell hospital and just enough of the sterner sex to do the honors when the dance was called. The town hall was in darkness when the party, drawn by four of Hanson's prancers, arrived there, but in a very few minutes the hall was well lighted and a curly-headed chap was ripping rag-time by the yard from the piano. Ice cream and cake had been ordered for the occasion, but the ice cream proved a minus quantity. The caterer forgot to send it and a telephone was called into requisition with the result that the cream arrived on "the next car." Dancing was continued until after midnight and the whole affair proved an exceptionally pleasant one.

BABY INJURED

Trampled Upon by a
Rearing Horse

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Samuel J. Rosen, who lives in the Sagamore apartment at No. 261 West Twenty-first street, took her three-year-old son, Louis, and her year-old baby, Pearl, with her on a shopping trip yesterday. The baby was in a go-cart and the little boy was clinging to his mother's skirt as they started to cross Twenty-seventh street, at Eighth avenue, early in the evening.

A big horse truck, driven by Edward Biggott, was going west through Twenty-seventh street, but the mother did not see it. The warning cries of persons on the sidewalk made her realize the danger. She had wheeled the go-cart to the middle of the street and the horses were almost upon her. There was no time to advance or retreat. Biggott drew the horses back on their haunches, but too late.

The hoofs of one of the animals crashed down upon the perambulator. Mrs. Rosen was hurled to the pavement and the baby was flung clear to the curb and one of the truck wheels struck the baby from the go-cart.

The screams of the mother and the rush by the bystanders to the scene brought Policeman Stewart, who called Dr. Mann in an ambulance from St. Vincent's hospital.

On the place of Mrs. Rosen all three were taken in the ambulance to their home. The mother is suffering from severe shock. The boy was bruised and has a wrenched knee. The baby is in a critical condition. The wheel of the truck, although it did not pass over the little one, seems to have injured her internally.

The family physician, Dr. Henry P. Hirsch, was in charge of all three patients last night.

RECIPROCITY

AGAIN TODAY

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Canadian reciprocity was again discussed at the state house today, a score of Gloucester fishermen appearing before the committee on federal relations in opposition of the legislative resolution favoring reciprocity, while Rep. Robert Washburn, a brother of Congressman Chas. G. Washburn, offered a substitute resolution placing the legislature in a neutral position on the matter.

The Gloucester fishermen denounced the agreement pending in congress as ruinous to their business.

Rep. Washburn's substitute resolution favors commercial reciprocity but declares that at present the Massachusetts legislature is neither for nor against the measure now pending in congress, for the reason that the members have been unable to obtain the sense of their constituents on the matter.

MINE MERGER

STOCK EXCHANGE

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—The proposed merger of a dozen mining properties in the Calumet region with the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. received the approval yesterday in a great way today by a special committee of the Boston stock exchange, but several suggestions were made of modifying the offer made by Calumet officers to the stockholders of the other companies. The committee believes that instead of an issue of 100,000 shares of stock, the other company should be formed with a large capitalization, the shares of which should be exchanged for those of the proposed new operating company. It is also suggested that a holding company organized in Maine be formed with a capitalization of 1,600,000 shares and that these shares might be exchanged on a basis of four of the holding company to one of the new proposed operating company.

The suggestions have been submitted to the Calumet officials.

NEW HAVEN ROAD MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Explains Plans for Tunnel Under
the Harbor

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—A definite proposition for the acquisition of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, a narrow gauge road, by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the construction of another tunnel beneath the harbor with an underground connection with the New Haven system and the extension of the Revere Beach road to Beverly was submitted to the legislature today in the form of an extensive bill prepared by the New Haven road officials. The bill follows the petition for this acquisition filed two months ago. The New Haven company promises electrification, the settlement of all land damages and rapid transit along the north shore. In return it asks permission to charge an additional fare through the tunnel.

As the plan includes a connection with the Portland division of the Boston & Maine railroad now controlled by the New Haven, the completion of the work would permit trains to be sent through from points south to points north of this city without change, and make Boston for the first time in its railroad history a way station instead of a terminal.

SEVERAL EXPLOSIONS

Gave the People of East Deer-
field a Bad Scare

EAST DEERFIELD, Feb. 14.—A series of explosions shook East Deerfield this noon and for a time caused considerable alarm. It was soon discovered that the cause for the detonations was a fire that broke out in a gas generating plant of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad, located in the local freight yards. The property loss did not exceed ten thousand dollars and no one was injured, but the exhibition of daylight fireworks was spectacular in the extreme.

The gas plant was situated in a supposedly fireproof one-story building of brick and cement. The origin of the fire is not known. When the blaze was discovered by J. J. McGuire, the superintendent of the plant and one of his assistants the flames had made such headway that the two men saw they could not extinguish them and they hurriedly left the building. A moment later there was a terrific explosion as one of the small gas tanks blew up and shot through the roof, leaving a train of sparks behind it. For an hour or so these explosions occurred every three or four minutes until the last of the tanks had blown up.

The exploding tanks contained gas that had been generated in the process for the use of locomotive headlights. The plant was located at this place because practically all freight trains operating between Boston and Rotterdam Junction, N. Y., are made up in the East Deerfield freight yards.

As the glass struck him it shattered into atoms with a tremendous crash that was heard for quite a distance and the shower went in all directions and on top of the prostrate Boyle.

Before assistance could get to him he arose, rubbed his head and walked away before it could be learned whether he had been cut or not.

The glass fell flat, the broadside striking his cap. Had it fallen edgewise undoubtedly it would have cut into his skull, for dropping four stories it had acquired great momentum and being about three feet square had considerable weight. Those who witnessed the accident were terror-stricken for a moment until Boyle regained his feet and started away for it was apparent the moment the crash of the breaking glass was heard what had knocked him down and those who ran to his assistance expected to find him cut to pieces. As far as could be learned he didn't sustain any serious injuries.

A moment later the face of a colored window-washer appeared in the aperture made by the departure of the glass from its framework looking down to the sidewalk and if ever a person of color looked "white" with fear it was that boy. It is believed that the colored youth while washing the window on the inside leaned too heavily on the glass causing it to fall out.

JOINT CONVENTION

Republican Councilmen May Duck
Again Tonight

The meetings at city hall this evening include adjourned meetings of both branches of the city council and a meeting of April 19 celebration committee. The committee meeting will be held at 7 o'clock, and the adjourned councilmen will meet at 8 o'clock.

The adjourned councilmen will meet in order to meet in joint convention with the common council, but it is the best bet that the council will duck a joint convention. A republican member of the common council said to a reporter for The Sun today, that there would be no joint convention tonight, and the councilman was very emphatic in his remarks. "Take it from me, there will be no joint convention tonight," he said.

The political pressmen at city hall were out with the prediction this forenoon that Stephen Kearney would be elected to the position of city civil engineer tonight by the common council in concurrence with the board of aldermen. The friends of the present incumbent, Mr. Bowers, refuse to harbor the thought that young Mr. Kearney has even the ghost of a show. They do not anticipate that the board of aldermen will endorse Bowers, but they do believe that the common council will stand pat. Kearney's friends claim that two democratic members of the lower house, signified their intention to desert Bowers and if that is true Kearney will have a comparatively easy row to hoe.

The reason given for the republican members of the common council refusing to go into joint convention is that they have not the necessary number of votes to retain City Clerk Dandam in office. Report has it that while the city treasurer is safe, the city clerk is on the firing line and the republicans won't want to take any chances.

$2,000,000 NEEDED

TO AID THE STARVING PEOPLE OF CHINA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—At least $2,000,000 will be required for the adequate relief of the famine sufferers of China, according to cable dispatches received by the state department from American Minister Calhoun at Peking. This is considered a conservative estimate.

In reply to an inquiry from the American National Red Cross society as to whether or not money remittances were needed immediately, the American Consul at Shanghai has called the secretary of state that further contributions are needed at once and are warranted by the horrifying conditions.

The annual representatives to the Chinese national assembly have expressed their gratitude to Minister Calhoun for American assistance. The local Chinese officials and missionaries, the minister adds, are co-operating in rendering aid. The southern section of the Tientsin-Hankow railway, which traverses the famine district, is conveying foodstuffs to the stricken people. As relief works, the Chinese government has begun dredging portions of canals, building roadways and constructing branch railways. These are regarded as sensible measures, which will result in reducing the probabilities of brigandage.

6 O'CLOCK FAMILY TROUBLES

Were Aired in the Police Court This Morning

Tuesday is considered ironing day by almost every housewife, and while the male members of the family are not supposed to use the iron, Judge Hadley found it incumbent upon him this morning to iron out several family difficulties.

Neglected His Wife

Claude A. R. True was charged with neglecting his wife, Alice P. A. True, and he admitted that he was guilty. Mrs. True said that she and her husband have not been living together since July 21 of last year, when her husband left her.

"Do you want to give any explanation?" asked Judge Hadley.

"No, sir," was the response of the husband.

Judge Hadley asked Mrs. True what she could live on and she answered that she needed about $5 per week.

Struck His Wife

Dennis Cavanaugh pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on his wife, Mary. The latter said that her husband had been away since Sunday morning and did not return home until yesterday. Mr. Cavanaugh, however, stated that he had been attending the funeral of a relative in Charlestown.

Mrs. Cavanaugh said that she was the mother of ten children, five of whom are dead. According to her testimony, her husband struck her over the head with a hifter. The court asked the woman to take her hat off, but she refused to do so, stating that the hat she received was not very bad.

"Why did he hit you?" asked Judge

Hadley.

"Because I asked for bread for the baby," was the answer which Mrs. Cavanaugh gave.

Mr. Cavanaugh said that he had been up for two nights at the wake in Charlestown and coming up on the train was suffering from a headache. The court ordered the man to pay a fine of $10 within three months.

Assaulted an Officer

Powell Reay, through his attorney, pleaded guilty to being drunk and not guilty to assaulting Patrolman Considine. Patrolman Considine said that he was arresting two men Sunday night, one of the men being Reay, when the latter struck him in the month. Patrolman Alex McCleughry, who assisted in the arrest, corroborated the testimony of the complainant.

Reay's record was produced and Deputy Downey, who prosecuted the case, thinking that it might take up too much of the court's time to read the record, handed the book to Judge Hadley.

The court found him guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $20 to be paid within three days or go to jail for three months. He appeared and was held under bonds for his appearance for the superior court.

Heavy Sentence Imposed

"He spit in my face four times in succession," said Mrs. Bridget Donahue, in testifying against her husband, Michael J. Donahue, who was arrested on a complaint charging him with assault.

He was given a sentence of three months in jail and ordered to furnish bonds of $100 to keep the peace for six months. He entered an appeal.

AUTO AMBULANCE

Board of Charities Discussed Prop-

osition to Buy One

The board of charities held a special meeting last night for the purpose of discussing the advisability of changing over from horse drawn ambulances to an automobile ambulance, and it was voted that the owners of garages be invited to meet the board and to discuss the maintenance of auto ambulances.

The auto ambulance was suggested by Commissioner Burns at a previous meeting, and at that meeting he was appointed a committee of one to look into the probable cost of an automobile ambulance. Mr. Burns said he had communicated with various cities and found that automobile ambulances are in use in Springfield, Camden, N. J., Danville, Ill., Fall River, Worcester, Lynn, Holyoke, Boston, New York, Providence, R. I., and Hartford, Conn., and at the Carnegie steel works, and by other firms. Some of the ambulances are owned by hospitals and the city is charged for the use of them.

The ambulance service contract with Dr. Sparks expires March 1, and the board members felt that they would like to arrive at a definite conclusion before that time.

Mr. Burns said the ambulance would cost between $3500 and $4000, and if it were placed in a local garage, a touring car would be at the disposal of the city in an emergency, with one man or two men on hand all the time. It would furnish much more efficient service, he said. The garage would supply gasoline, oil, etc., and would charge but $3500 a year. This in addition to $400 would cover all repairs. The first year the cost, including machine, would be $3400, but the second year this would be cut down to $1800, and could effect a saving of $1100 over what is spent on horse drawn ambulances now.

Mr. Coups said he would like an automobile ambulance, but did not believe the department could spare the money at the present time. He pointed out that the department had the right to go ahead and buy it.

Dr. McCarty suggested that the various agents for machines appear before the board, together with garage owners, in order that the cost and maintenance of ambulances could be found. He believed the aforementioned men should send their proposals to the board in sealed envelopes.

Mr. Coups thought that before the board went to any trouble it should find out what authority the department had to go ahead and make contracts.

Dr. McCarty said that all contracts made by departments in excess of $300 must have the mayor's approval. He said the appropriations committee might see its way clear to appropriate money enough to buy one ambulance, or perhaps two. He thought that, in an emergency, one of the horse-drawn ambulances should be ordered to go ahead and order another ambulance. If this right obtained, why would not the board have a right to order an automobile ambulance?

Mr. Howe said that it would be decidedly inconsistent for him to appear to discourage or frown upon any improvement in the department, for ever since he had become a member of the board of charities he had made an effort to increase the efficiency of the department, to make it more beneficial to the people, and his aim has been to make the department a credit to the city. He said that the first thing to be considered was whether or not the expected improvement in the service by installing an auto ambulance warranted the large expense. He said that when human life was at stake the cost in a matter of this kind should not be considered by this city or any other city. Mr. Howe said that he had not yet made up his mind as to whether this improvement warranted the additional expense.

Mr. Sparks, the excellent service given and said that it certainly could not be improved on, so long as horses were used to convey the ambulances. He thought that in the event the board decided to substitute auto ambulances for the contract were given out to a garage, that the board should reserve the right to determine who should receive the same, regardless of the bid submitted. The board concurred with him.

Mr. Ricard said he favored an automobile ambulance for the department. The motion was made by Mr. Coups that the owners of garages be invited to meet the board and to discuss the maintenance of auto ambulances. It was so voted.

Dr. McCarty said the horse-drawn ambulances need repair, and he doubted if the contract would bring $5000 if sold. He believed that it would be well to keep them.

It was voted to meet the garage owners next Friday evening at eight o'clock.

CONDITION IS CRITICAL

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14.—Dr. John J. Sweeney of Fall River, Mass., who is suffering from the effects of bichloride of mercury, which he swallowed last Sunday night, was reported to be in a critical condition at the hospital today and but slight hopes were held out for his recovery. Dr. Sweeney told the attending physicians that he ate the poison tablets by mistake for candy which he said he had in his pocket.

NOT TO REPEAL LIQUOR LAW

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 14.—After the longest debate of the session the house of representatives voted this noon 154 to 182 not to repeal the so-called Preston amendment, a liquor law which forbids the shipment of liquor from a license city or town into no-license territory.

ANNUAL REUNION

Of St. Peter's Parish to be Held Tonight

St. Peter's parish reunion opened up most auspiciously in Associate hall this afternoon with a merry gathering of children, who listened attentively to a fine entertainment arranged by Rev. James J. McGuinness of the church. The young people applauded the various numbers very generously and then the big event of the day took place, the climbing of the grassy pole by the boys. Needless to say, this feature proved to be the laugh-producer of the afternoon. Later the young folks had refreshments, closing with dancing.

This evening will be for adults, and the sale of tickets gives promise of a big attendance for from time immemorial St. Peter's affairs have been among the most successful of any of the parishes in Concord.

Tonight's entertainment embraces some of Lowell's leading talent, to be followed by general dancing. Frank J. Campbell is chairman of the general committee. Wm. F. Sadler, secretary, and Rev. John T. O'Brien, treasurer. The dancing will be in charge of Mr. J. Henry Gilbride, assisted by a corps of aids, while Councillman John J. Coughlin heads the reception committee. Mrs. Katherine McQuade and Mrs. Miss Burns are in charge of the refreshment table. Mrs. J. V. McKenney, matron of the luncheon table, and Miss Mary G. Quinn at the head of the candy table. Rev. Dr. Keleher and the priests of the parish were in attendance this afternoon.

MISS LONGYEAR

BECOMES THE BRIDE OF NEW YORK LAWYER

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Many guests from New York, Michigan and Rhode Island and other states attended the wedding today of Miss Judith Folger Longyear, daughter of John M. Longyear, a prominent capitalist of Brooklyn and Marquette, Mich., and John M. Richardson, an attorney of New York city. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. V. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, this city, at the Longyear mansion in Brookline, which was formerly the Marquette home of the family. The big structure was moved in sections to Brookline some years ago.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Margaret Longyear, and the supporter of the bridegroom was Elliot Parkhurst of Providence. Mrs. Lyeth is a graduate of Radcliffe. Mrs. Lyeth was graduated from Harvard in 1907 and from the Harvard law school in 1910.

MURDER TRIAL

Government Sets Forth Alleged Motive

SALEM, Feb. 14.—In an endeavor to establish robbery as a motive for the murder of Minnie Monahan at Lynn in the summer of 1909, for which John N. Nabantian is now on trial in the Essex county superior criminal court here, the prosecuting attorneys today produced witnesses who testified that Monahan had a large sum of money just previous to his death. Relatives of the victim testified that when he left Chicago for Lynn two months before his death he had more than $600 in cash. Another witness, who worked the same factory as Monahan, said that the victim carried a big roll of bills a week before his death. Half a dozen witnesses gave testimony to this effect during the forenoon session. During the forenoon testimony was introduced to show that when Monahan's body was found there was only seven cents in his clothing, in addition to his watch, a match safe and a stick pin.

MRS. LITTLETON

ONLY WOMAN AT L. I. EDITORS' LUNCHEON

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Martin L. Littleton, wife of the Congressman-elect, was the guest of honor yesterday at a complimentary luncheon at the Old Oak hotel, in Patchogue, L. I., tendered by the Suffolk County Press association. Editor L. B. Green, of the Patchogue Argus.

Mr. Green, who has been president of the association for thirteen years, spoke in advocacy of the establishment of a farm for transient children, the repeal of the Brown Duck law and the organization of a Long Island press association. Mrs. Littleton left without speaking, much to the regret of the editors, who had expected an address from the distinguished suffragette, who was the only woman present.

Mr. Martin Moran and daughter, Nellie Gertrude, left yesterday for Hot Springs, Ark. The trip is to combine pleasure and business.

Lowell is unusually free of contagious diseases at this time of the year. This is one of the seasons when contagious diseases are wont to flourish, but there are very few cases on record at the board of health office at the present time. The new case of diphtheria was reported today, making 17 cases in all.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of National League Baseball Magnates

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The baseball magnates of the National league were on hand bright and early for the 2d day of their annual meeting. The sessions are held at the Hotel Breslin in this city, and will probably last until the 10th of March. The program of lively doings have been flying around the league's circuit for the past few weeks and there were indications today that clashes were impending over several of the subjects programmed for discussion. The main clash was expected over the adoption of a new official league rule for 1912. Another subject on which a difference of opinion was not unlikely were the alleged attitude of President Lynch toward the umpire situation, the schedule committee's draft of dates and the question of rules revision.

C. W. Murphy, owner of the Chicago Cubs, declared before the meeting that he had a trunkful of suggestions as to possible changes in the rules, but he admitted that after all was said and done the meetings of the rules committee would be merely perfunctory. Nothing can be done because no American league rules committee has been appointed by President Johnson. Without his co-operation no changes can be made. Murphy was frank in his criticism of Johnson for this lack of co-operation. "Johnson has violated the national agreement and is making a joke of baseball," declared Murphy. "He is in duty bound to appoint a committee but because he heard I had issued a call for suggestions for changes in the rules, he did not do it. There are a number of changes that ought to be made, and, carefully discussed. Probably some alterations will be made. But what is the use? Johnson won't have it. So we are stumped."

GREEKS PROTEST

AGAINST THE TRANSFER OF THEIR PASTOR

TSARITSIN, government of Saratov, Russia, Feb. 11.—Frenzied scenes are being witnessed here, where the whole Greek parish is suffering self imposed deprivations in protest against the transfer to another parish of the minister Heliodoros, the reactionary leader.

Recently the holy synod announced the transference of the priest from Tsaritsin to the diocese of Tula. The announcement threw the parishioners into a religious frenzy and with Heliodoros they took a solemn vow not to sleep, eat or drink until the order of the holy synod has been rescinded. Thousands of persons are coping up in the churches, continuing uninterruptedly day and night. Many of the worshippers are on the point of suffocation and the suffering of all is acute.

Heliodoros is a peculiar character. In 1907 he was credited with leading the "black hundreds," the lowest stratum of the reactionary forces; in Voronezh province. He is bitterly anti-semitic and patriotic to a degree that has been described as fanatic. He is not only followed blindly by those among whom he ministers but frequently has been the recipient of marks of favor from Emperor Nicholas.

COASTING PARTY

Tom Rogers of Butterfield street, the genial member of the 7 of Fletcher street hill, held his annual coast in Mt. Vernon street last night.

Tom entertained all his neighbors and after about two hours of coasting he invited them into his spacious residence where he had a lunch prepared for them which was the equal of the best banquet ever set. Anecdotes on the "former coasts" were told and songs were sung after which the party broke up.

FAVOR RECIPROCITY

DETROIT, Feb. 11.—Letters seeking support for the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada have been mailed to all Michigan senators and representatives by the Wholesalers and Manufacturers Association of Detroit. The letters contain a resolution adopted by the association favoring the passage of the proposed agreement.

PRESERVES NATURAL COLOR OF THE HAIR

(From Woman's National Magazine)
"Any woman can postpone for years the time when her hair becomes thin and gray. It is a mistake to shampoo frequently with soap and water, as that tends to make the scalp scaly and hard and the hair dull and faded. The hair will respond quickly to the proper home treatment. Put in a fruit jar four ounces of olive oil and four ounces of rose water. Shake until well mixed. Once or twice a week sprinkle a little of this powder on the head and brush it thoroughly through the hair. This dry shampoo removes dirt, dust and dandruff from the scalp and leaves the hair fresh, sweet and clean. The rose water helps to grow beautiful hair and preserves its natural color."

26 HOMICIDES IN MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 14.—Twenty-six homicides were disposed of during 1909-10, according to the report of former Attorney General Warren Philbrick for those two years. They were distributed among the various counties, four each being in Aroostook and Penobscot counties, three in Cumberland, two each in Knox, Androscoggin, Oxford, Somerset, Waldo and York and one each in Franklin, Sagadahoc and Washington counties.

MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—William Bennett, 31 years old, respondent because he could not secure employment, committed suicide in his room on East 9th street today by placing the muzzle of a double-barreled shotgun in his mouth and releasing both hammers with a poker. Bennett locked himself last night in the apartments, where he lived with his father and brother, and would not admit them when they came home. To humor him they spent the night with friends. When they found the door still locked this morning, they suspected that something was wrong and broke in. They found Bennett's body lying on the floor with his head almost entirely shot away. The shotgun and poker lay nearby.

AMERICAN OFFICERS MISSING

CAIMANERA, Cuba, Feb. 14.—Three officers of the American battleship Minnesota who left the vessel in a power boat yesterday failed to return when expected and are still missing today. Tugs and torpedo boats have been despatched in search of the party, but had met with no success up to a late hour last night. The officers were last heard from at the town of Jatibonico.

MAYOR MEEHAN

Addresses Letters to City Council

Mayor Meehan has addressed the following letters to the city council. The letters will be read at the adjourned meetings of both branches to be held this evening.

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 14, 1911.

To the City Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: I desire to call your attention to the fact that April 19 will be the 50th anniversary of the march of the 6th regiment through Baltimore. I believe we should be much interested in this affair, because of the fact that four companies of that regiment went forth from this city to do their part in order that we might enjoy an undivided country. To my mind we cannot pay them too much honor, and I feel that it is but fitting at this time that we should appropriate a substantial sum for the commemoration of this great event.

Respectfully yours,
John P. Meehan, Mayor.

P. S.—The city council appropriated for the dedication of the Ladd and Whitney monument the sum of $3325.31.

February 13, 1911.

To the City Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen:—The state has recently completed labor investigations in several neighboring cities. These investigations having been undertaken in response to invitations of the respective city governments (the state bearing the entire expense of the same). Mr. Chas. Prosser of the state board of education will give the results of some of these investigations in Colonial hall on Friday, February 17, at 4 o'clock.

The Middlesex Women's club suggests and I heartily recommend that the city council appoint a joint committee to attend this meeting in order that they may be better able to decide on the advisability of inviting the state to investigate our own labor problem.

Respectfully yours,
John P. Meehan, Mayor.

The only building permit granted at the office of the Inspector of buildings since the last were published went to Richard A. Buckley for a two-family house two stories, in Boynton street. The house will be of concrete blocks and will be 22 by 41 feet. The estimated cost is $3400.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 11.—When William McCrory fired a bullet through his brain yesterday because of business and marital troubles he not only took his own life but killed a friend and probably cost the life of the woman with whom he is supposed to have been in love. The bullet passed through McCrory's head and entered the brain of Arthur Knowles, a bartender, who was standing beside him. Knowles died shortly before midnight. When Mrs. Julia Selin, with whom McCrory is said to have been infatuated, heard of his act, she took carbolic acid and was found unconscious several hours later in a room across the hall from where McCrory and his wife were living. She was taken to a hospital and probably will die.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of Work Done at Ayer Home During the Past Year

The following report, just completed, will give an idea of the work being done at the Ayer Home:

To the Trustees of the Ayer Home:

Gentlemen—From the examination of the records for the year 1910, it is pleasing to note the continued prosperity of the home, and that by the generosity of Frederick Fanning Ayer, we have been able to build a swimming pool and bathhouse on a portion of the canal that the proprietors of the Locks & Canals gave us the right to use, which will be of great benefit to the one hundred children at the home.

Children at the Home

Nov. 1, 1906—13 children, 6 girls, 7 boys.

Jan. 1, 1907—34 children, 18 girls, 16 boys, 7 adults; total 41.

Jan. 1, 1908—29 children, 15 girls, 14 boys, 15 adults; total 114.

Jan. 1, 1909—102 children, 56 girls, 46 boys, 15 adults; total 117.

Jan. 1, 1910—100 children, 54 girls, 46 boys, 15 adults; total 115.

Jan. 1, 1911—100 children, 56 girls, 44 boys, 15 adults; total 115.

Seventeen on the waiting list.

Calls

Number of calls on the children by parents and others.....1059

Personnel.....127

Totals.....1207

The average daily attendance at school was 57, and for the 49 Sundays

the Sunday school attendance was 75.

Health

The health of the children has been unusually good; five months of the year passed without any sickness among

one hundred children at the home,

during the other seven months there were seven cases of measles, six of chickenpox, three of tonsillitis, and one each of pneumonia, bronchitis, adenoids, pleurisy and chorea. Of these,

eleven were cured by the Lowell

Hospital association and five by the out-patient department. With the above exceptions, the children have been well; they have grown and are looking ruddy, healthy, clean and happy.

Clothing

The parents are expected to clothe their children as far as they are able.

Their contributions this year were $515.45 less than last year and are one-half (51%) cents a day for each child. With this amount, small as it is, and the many donations of hats, cloth, clothes and other articles that friends have sent to the home, the matron has kept the one hundred children looking remarkably well.

Christmas

Christmas this year was a great day for the children. Mrs. May Knight

Southwell entertained them in her happy manner and Santa Claus came down the chimney and gave the children's presents to the trustees, who distributed presents to the children from the tree and the many packages he brought with him, to the great delight of all. Their Christmas dinner was at 2 p. m. and their church

Christmas tree at 4 p. m. The ing exercises were conducted by the children, all of the one hundred children taking part and doing themselves great credit, having their parts

so well committed that prompting was unnecessary. Letters were received from children who had left the home and were coming home to live, asking "if they could come back and asked Christmas at the home, the only home they ever knew." Permission was gladly given. They came, bringing presents to the matron and their comrades.

Donations

The trustees desire to express their sincere thanks to the following for their kindness in contributing to the welfare and the comfort of the children at the home:

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Whether it's "John Storm" in "The Christian," or "Thaddeus Strong" in
"The New Minister," Senator DeDeyn is at his best in a clerical role and his interpretation of the title role in Denman Thompson's great rural play at the Hathaway theatre last evening aroused the enthusiasm of a large audience of admirers to a high pitch. Last week Mr. DeDeyn's light was hidden under a bushel, as it were, but this week
he gave us an opportunity to display his exceptional talent, now well known to all local lovers of the drama, and his work as Thaddeus Strong was clean cut and most artistic. The fact that Denman Thompson, dear old Josh Whitcomb, wrote the play, would draw people to witness a performance of it and it is doubtful if the play ever fell into more competent hands than with the members of the Donald Meek stock company. Most rural plays deal with the old fashioned New England character. "Our New Minister" is of particular interest to New England folks.

No playwright ever knew the New England character better than Uncle Denman and he has brought them all into the play together with their oddities, eccentricities and their amusing sloplights. Like all rural plays a simple story is told with the varying emotions of pathos and humor gracefully interwoven with the inevitable satisfactory ending. Of course there's a charming little love story, the minister himself falling in love, with the course of true love somewhat ruffled up through the agency of a hard-shelled old deacon.

His play is thoroughly clean and wholesome and has an uplifting influence although there is absolutely no sermonizing.

As the minister, Mr. DeDeyn was never seen to better advantage and his audience was "with him" from curtain to curtain.

Donald Meek as "Darius Sturtle," the village deacon, was certainly a hit,

and his make-up had the audience going from the start. Behind the make-up of a rube constable he completely hid every vestige of his own identity and his comedy work was delicious.

Miss Inez Buck added to her success of last week in the character of "Nance

Ransom." The part is a difficult one, including as it does considerable of an emotional nature. Miss Buck gave a most artistic conception of the role and her work was highly appreciated.

Don McCabe as "Curtis Heaton," a good fellow, but not strong on going to church, presented the part most acceptably, while William Thompson was good in the exacting role of "Lem

Ransom," the ex-convict. Charles M.

Crymble, a Lowell boy, delighted his many friends in the audience with his fine work as "Skeezicks," the Bowers boy. Mr. Crymble could hand out slang as gracefully as Carnegie can warble grand opera and was a big hit from the start. Ada Allen as "Dorcas Tattleby," the village gossip, supplied a goodly amount of rich comedy. The other members were all adequate to the demands upon them and a smooth and thoroughly enjoyable performance was given. The play was excellently staged but that goes without saying at the Hathaway.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The bill at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is one of the best, if not the best, put on this season. It is headed by George Primrose, the well known minstrel, the famous Primrose. When he appeared on the stage with his two pupils, Murphy and West, he was given a rousing reception by the packed audiences.

What he did to entertain was exactly what he used to do when he appeared with that troupe which was known as the Primrose and West minstrels. He danced and danced every sort of step known to vaudeville patrons of the day. The trio danced individually, in pairs and altogether, and with evident appreciation of the fondness for them of their audiences.

The Ransdell Sisters, with William B. Ransdell, are dancers also, but of a different sort. There were two pretty girls, equipped with pleasing voices, while the male member of the company is a fancy dancer of unusual merit. There is plenty of solo and trio work, both dancing and singing.

The Musical Buskirk and his company present a musical novelty, which is extremely amusing and tuneful. The two play about everything imaginable.

A pair of young acrobats and strong men, the like of whom are really seldom seen on any Lowell stage, are the Errato Brothers. Their feats of strength are not only novel, but remarkable, and their balancing stunts

no less so.

The moving pictures are extremely good and varied. These pictures are shown with the greater part of the house fully lighted, a novel and pleasing innovation.

A feature of the musical programs

yesterday, as it will be all the week, was the striking selection, "The Blue Ribbon March," written by Philip Lederman, leader of the theatre orchestra, and dedicated to the patrons of the house. Last night the orchestra gave a delightful 15-minute concert from

"The Gypsy Baron."

The above bill will be presented at continuous performances daily from 1 until 10.30 o'clock.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A capital show was presented at the Academy yesterday and was greeted by two large audiences in afternoon and evening. Mahoney Brothers and Daisy entertain in a comedy dancing act that is full of snap. "Daisy," the canine member of the team, is very clever in her dancing specially, going through the evolutions of the two step and waits with much precision. Miss

Martin and Oily have a neat gymnastic act, and perform some difficult stunts on the trapeze. George Beane

& Co., in "A Woman's Way," have an act that will keep you in roars of laughter. Mr. Beane is a real comedian in the part of the husband that comes home after a night at the club. The picture includes a biograph comedy.

behind the footlights, even to pushing a brush over a setting and doing a little stage carpentering on the side.

Mr. Stanley is a native of Brooklyn and for the past five seasons has been playing the leading parts at the Lyceum theatre, the theatre in which he started his career 15 years ago.

Speaking of his career, Mr. Stanley said to a reporter of The Sun: "When only a little fellow I was attracted by the glare of the footlights and refused to be thoroughly happy until I got a job of some kind around a theatre. I made several unsuccessful attempts to convince the management of the Lyceum theatre that I was just the boy to distribute programs in front, or run and grow and I did, but I returned at 15, big enough in my own opinion to manage the house. They looked me over and consigned me to the tender

Made a Sharp Attack on His Colleague, Senator Bristow That Set Time Limit on the Irish Party is Reassured by Secretary Birrell

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—As "one of the senators from Kansas," Senator Curtis addressed the senate in opposition to a resolution proposing to submit to states a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by direct vote. Although his speech, Senator Bristow, for approving of the amendment resolution.

Senator Curtis said that he was in favor of a constitutional amendment looking to the election of senators by direct vote, but he was not willing that it should be so amended that congress should give up all its rights to make or alter the regulations of a state for the election of United States senators. This, he said, was what the amended resolution would provide. The amended resolution, if its substance was approved by the states, would result in the states disfranchising colored voters if they so desired without congress being able to raise a hand, he said.

"I strongly favor the joint resolution to provide for the election of senators by a direct vote of the people," said Curtis, "but I do not think it should be burdened with the objectionable and unfair provisions placed in it by a majority of the committee, and as one of the senators from the state of Kansas, the child of freedom, the home of old John Brown, the advance agent of liberty, who gave his life to hasten the conflict which resulted in freeing the slaves, I cannot support the 'Rider' or 'Joker' placed in the resolution by a majority of the committee."

"That Senator Bristow should consider the amendment to the resolution as immaterial was deplored by Senator Curtis, of his republican colleague, to see the senator treat a constitutional amendment so lightly."

He concluded:

"If the resolution as amended is passed, and the constitution is amended as provided therein, then the congress gives up all its rights to make or alter the regulations of a state for the election of United States senators and if electors are disfranchised, it outrages are perpetrated, if fraud is committed, or if corrupt practices are resorted to, the congress remains helpless."

The seemingly invincible Boot team is still leading the other teams in the race for supremacy in the Manufacturers' League. The Machine shop quintet is trying hard to get into first place but it is doubtful if the members of that aggregation will reach the pinnacle for which they are working hard. The Bigelow team is doing good work but is still in third position. The other teams remain unchanged with the poor T. & S. having no contest for last place.

Abbott of the Boot team is traveling along at a gait which is material in keeping the team of which he is a member in first position, but Carroll of the Appleton and McKinley, of the Bigelow aggregation are trying to crowd him out of top position. The team standing follows:

MOODY BRIDGE LEAGUE

The Druggists and Letgers of the Moody Bridge League are fighting for first place, the former team having the advantage inasmuch as it is occupying the top rung of the ladder at the present time. The winning of the point by the Letgers and the losing of one by the Druggists would put the two teams on an even basis.

The game was practically no contest in the individual averages. The Letgers leading the other members of the league on averages, his nearest opponent being four pins behind. The team standing follows:

Y. M. C. I. TEAM WON

The Y. M. C. I. team won the Catholic league series played last night. The Knights started out with a regular "Ray Lopez" opening and captured the first string but in the second and third strings they were the wayside and the "young men" got two points and the total.

In the minor league the Ironquils won two of the three points from the J. P. Fielding of the troquils was high man with a single of 118 and a triple of 322.

The game between Highland and Lowell councils of the Royal Arcanum league resulted in a victory for the former team which won two of the three points and the total. The scores:

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—After further debate yesterday on the bill to provide that justices of the superior court shall sit no longer than three months in any one session of that court the house rejected the measure. It was offered Friday as a substitute for the adverse report of the Judiciary committee.

Yesterday the bill was again favored by Representative Lonsamey and Representative P. B. Carr. It was opposed by Representative Brackett of the Judiciary committee.

In urging substitution Representative Reidy of Boston said that it was a common thing among lawyers to form a certain judge "chief counsel" of a corporation which is frequently before him.

By a vote of 98 to 123, on roll call, the house refused to substitute the bill and the adverse report was then accepted.

Resolutions memorializing congress

In favor of the Subways pension bill now pending in congress were offered by Representative Keefe of Fall River. An order was adopted giving "E. Moody Heydon" the use of room 249, state house, Thursday night of this week, for a stereopticon lecture to show the operation of his single-rail railroad. This order was adopted 111 to 31.

Senator Owen a Visitor

The senate and house were visited yesterday afternoon by U. S. Senator Robert H. Owen of Oklahoma. The distinguished visitor was cordially greeted by the members of both bodies.

Pres. Treadway interrupted the proceedings of the senate to introduce the senator as one who came from the newest state of the union.

Senator Owen said that while he came from one of the new states he was glad to see that the east is following the lead of the new states in some things. He had been pleased to note that the state of Maine has adopted the initiative and referendum and that the governor of Massachusetts has also recommended it.

After a short speech in which he told of various instances in which the people have shown their ability to govern themselves under the initiative and referendum, Senator Owen left the chamber. His speech was warmly applauded.

On motion of Senator Granger the senate reconsidered its adverse action on the petition that the town of Winton, Me., be reimbursed for the construction of a section of breakwater at Short beach. The petition was then recommitted to the joint ways and means committee.

Senator Bennett of Essex offered an order, which was adopted, requesting the director of the bureau of statistics to inform the senate what towns have debts outstanding other than loans lawfully made in anticipation of taxes against which no sinking funds are being accumulated.

Senator Tinkham offered an order requesting the opinion of the attorney general whether the act passed last year providing for a list of the employees of the departments with their salaries should be construed as requesting the amount of salary paid to each employee set out separately or the lump sum of expenditures. This was laid over to today.

Action on Mayor's Petitions

In the senate these committee reports were received:

Agriculture—A bill to provide that local cattle inspectors be approved by the chief of the cattle bureau.

Leave—Leave to withdraw on petition of the mayor of Boston to increase the salary of reserve firemen.

Leave on petition of Mayor Fitzgerald that inspectors of the building department be fence viewers in Boston.

Banks and banking—Leave to withdraw on petition of George H. Tinkham that trust companies may consolidate.

Counties—Leave to withdraw on petition to abolish the office of controller at county accounts and to regulate the expenses of county treasurers.

Fisheries and game—A bill to prevent the taking of fish by nets in Lynn harbor.

Liquor laws—Leave to withdraw on the question to prevent soliciting of orders in no-license cities and towns, and to regulate the suspension of liquor licenses.

Election laws—Leave to withdraw on petitions to regulate the marking of ballots and that the state furnish ballots for caucuses.

Legal affairs—Leave to withdraw on the question to leave vacations for constables and court officers and for establishment of an old age pension system.

In the House

In the house Representative Breckinridge of North Adams presented a petition of the Berkshire street railway company that it be allowed to furnish electricity to any railroad corporation. Referred to rules.

These committee reports were received:

Election laws—Leave to withdraw on the bill granting municipal suffrage to women who own property.

Greenwood Bill in House Today

Today the house will take up the senate bill to permit the governor to employ such expert assistants for investigating the finances and business methods of state boards and commissions as a committee to consist of the governor and the senate and house chairman of ways and means may agree upon.

When the matter is reached today Representative Bean of Cambridge will offer an amendment to strike out of the bill all but the enacting clause and then amend the measure so as to give it back the original form in which the house sent it to the senate. If the house adopts such an amendment, as seems likely, a conference committee between the house and senate will be in order.

The bill to provide that civil service applicants shall not in their application papers, be compelled to set forth misdemeanors committed by them before the age of 18 was amended by making the age 16 years. It was then ordered to a third reading.

ANNUAL DINNER OF THE REPUBLICAN CLUB OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—For the first time since the fight at the state convention at Saratoga last September, representatives of all factions of the republican party in New York state gathered last night in harmony. The occasion was the 25th annual dinner of the Republican club of New York in commemoration of the one hundred and second anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

William Barnes, Jr., newly elected chairman of the republican state committee who led the opposition to Colonel Roosevelt at Saratoga, was seated at the right of the ex-president and held an animated conversation with him. Seth Low, president of the club, presided. He had on his list as speakers, Col. Roosevelt, Rev. Dr. Frank Gunsaulus, president of the Armour Institute at Chicago, who delivered the Lincoln day oration; Judge Emory Spear of the United States circuit court of Georgia and George von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy.

United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew, Lloyd C. Griscom, Henry L. Stimson, Horace White, Frank S. Black and Timothy L. Woodruff were among the republicans who were present. General Frederick D. Grant, U. S. A.; General Thomas H. Barry, U. S. A.; and Admiral E. H. C. Leatze were also guests.

THE PLAYING RULES

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—President Johnson said last night that he failed to appoint a committee on playing rules to meet a like committee from the National League because he did not believe there would be anything for it to do. He added:

"I understand that it was agreed that no changes were desired in the playing rules."

Orrine Destroys Desire for Drink

The man who drinks to excess needs treatment for his condition. The Orrine treatment can be used with absolute confidence. For those who desire to be free of whiskey, beer and other intoxicants. It is a simple treatment, it is given in the home—no sanitarium expense—no loss of time from work. It is an inexpensive treatment. Many men spend more in a day for whiskey and beer for their friends and themselves than would pay for the treatment.

We are so sure that Orrine will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, we will give you money back.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. ORRINE costs only $1.00 a box. ## Outline of the New Home Rule Measure Given Out in Parliament Yesterday—Home Rule Measure Coming Sooner Than Expected

LONDON, Feb. 14.—The entire reconstruction of the Irish administration was Augustine Birrell's description of the government's proposals for home rule, given in the house of commons yesterday.

The chief secretary for Ireland was replying to a question regarding the retention of the vice presidency of the department of agriculture and technical instruction for Ireland by Thomas Russell, although he has lost his seat in parliament. The secretary attributed the situation to the probability of a remote date of a reconstruction of the Irish administration.

Vigorous nationalist cheers greeted the promise which was taken to indicate the possibility of Irish legislation being enacted earlier than had been anticipated.

THE VETO BILL

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Premier Asquith announced in the commons yesterday that he would introduce the government's veto bill next Monday. As evidence of the government's intention to force this measure through John W. Gulland, the Scottish liberal whip, stated in a speech at Edinburgh this afternoon that he was busy just now compiling a list of men who would accept peerages with the object of passing the veto bill in the upper chamber in the event that the conservative peers proved recalcitrant.

LARCENY CHARGE Man Accused of Robbing the Masons

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—William Otis Wiley, for many years secretary of the Henry Price Lodge, of Masons' of Charlestown, was arrested last night by inspectors from police headquarters, charged with the larceny of $2000 from the funds of the lodge.

Wiley is a prominent man in local business circles. He formerly was engaged in the coal business in Charlestown and was reputed to be wealthy. He lives at 580 Commonwealth avenue. In default of bail he was taken to the Tombs, where he spent the night.

Up to a week ago Wiley was connected with the Jordan-Burnham Coal company and during the past few years had been associated with the Staples Coal company and in business for himself under the firm name of Smith & Wiley.

In 1902 Wiley succeeded Charles F. Sever as secretary of Henry Price Lodge, which celebrated its 50th anniversary two years ago. Less than a year ago it was discovered there was a shortage in the funds of the organization amounting to $2000. According to an officer of the lodge, the matter was brought to the attention of Wiley at the time and he promised to make good his accounts.

In June, however, he was deposed as secretary and advised that it would be a good thing to turn into the treasury the missing money.

The Masons intended to keep the matter among themselves, but in some unknown manner it was brought to the hands of District Attorney Feltner, who began an investigation.

Inspectors Polton and Waite of the detective bureau were assigned to the case, and for six months have been securing evidence.

It is understood the Masons will not prosecute the case, and the government will depend entirely upon the evidence of the police officers who have worked on the matter.

JENKS ARRESTED

THE THIRD CORNELL MAN TO BE TAKEN IN

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 14.—Benjamin J. Jenks was arrested yesterday and held under $500 bail for a hearing Thursday on a charge of being a leader in the riotous clash with police a week ago when 20 Cornell students were injured. Jenks is a son of Professor J. W. Jenks, the political economist. Jenks is the third student to be arrested for the riot. His arrest was based upon the affidavit of persons who alleged that he threw one of the eggs used to break up a theatre performance, and that he participated as a leader in the riot which followed.

AN OLD RESIDENT

John Carey Passed Away at Chelsea

John Carey, aged 86 years, a veteran of the Civil war, Company D, Sixth regiment, died Friday last at Chelsea. The deceased came to Lowell in 1851 and resided in St. Peter's parish over half a century. For many years he was employed in the dyeing department of the Middlesex mill. He is survived by two sisters, besides numerous nieces and nephews. The funeral took place yesterday from the home of his sister, Mrs. James McOrigan, at Appleville, Mass., a suburb of Danvers, and the interment took place in the Catholic cemetery there.

GOV. DIX RETURNS

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Gov. Dix, who has been on a visit to this city since the latter part of last week, left this morning for Albany.

THE FORESTERS EXPECT TO HAVE 300 CANDIDATES AT CLASS INITIATION

The class initiation committee of the Foresters of America held a large and enthusiastic meeting in Foresters hall on Middle street Sunday afternoon. Chairman John Harrell presided and considerably business of importance was transacted.

It was voted by the committee to hold a monster class initiation in Foresters hall, on Sunday, March 26th. Judging from the report of the different courts at the meeting yesterday there is no doubt that this class will be one of the largest that has ever been conducted by the Foresters in this city. The report of the number of candidates from all courts up to the present time is 96 and the committee feels confident that at least over 300 candidates will be initiated on that day.

The degree team of Court Middlesex No. 23 will perform the initiatory work. It was voted that one representative from each court act as a member of the invitation committee. The following were appointed: Wm. H. Stafford, Court Merrimack No. 11; Jelle J. Condon, Court Middlesex No. 23; J. St. Hillier, Court Garlin No. 185; James E. Pyra, Court General Shields No. 45; G. Labrie, Court Champlain No. 19; R. Monahan, Court City of Lowell No. 30; S. Green, Court Dimon No. 217; John A. Nelson, Court Scandale No. 132; J. Holmes, Court Centerville No. 134; F. Sullivan, Court Grantville No. 145. Many of the supreme grand officers have signified their intention of being present at the initiation.

The next meeting of the committee will be held on Sunday, Feb. 19th, in Foresters hall.

DR. PROSSER WILL BE SPEAKER AT EVENING HIGH GRADUATION EXERCISES

Principal Thomas G. Robbins of the Evening High school, announces that Dr. Charles A. Prosser, deputy commissioner of education, will be the speaker at the graduation exercises of the school.

AT THE ARMORY

Big Tournament for Military Companies Opened Last Night

The sporting season at the Lowell armory in Westford street commenced last evening, when the first of a series of contests between Companies C, G and K, of the Sixth regiment and M of the Ninth was held. The contest is to last 12 weeks and includes basketball, bowling, revolver and rifle shooting.

It is understood that the sports idea originates with Adj. Gen. Gardner. V. Pearson of this city, who has always believed that the dull routine of armory life should be enlivened by contests of some kind. To this end Adj. Gen. Pearson will endeavor to arrange for sporting events in every Massachusetts armory which seems to be at a standstill.

The schedule and rules of the contests are as follows:

Feb. 20—"C" vs. "M."
Feb. 27—"M" vs. "G."
Mar. 6—"G" vs. "C."
Mar. 12—"K" vs. "M."
Mar. 20—"C" vs. "G."
Mar. 27—"K" vs. "G."
Apr. 3—"M" vs. "C."
Apr. 10—"K" vs. "M."
Apr. 17—"G" vs. "C."
Apr. 24—"G" vs. "M."
May 1—"K" vs. "C."

Rules for the Contests

- 1—Contestants must be members of this association who have been mustered into the service at least 30 days (Failure to observe this rule will forfeit points in that particular event.)
- 2—Five members constitute a team, and one man cannot serve on more than one team on the same date.
- 3—Competitions commence promptly at 8 o'clock on night scheduled. Bowling teams failing to appear by 8:15 will forfeit games and points involved.
- 4—Team winning largest number of points will be declared winner of the tournament trophy for season of 1911.
- 5—Points are to be awarded as follows:
  - Bowling: (Candle pins—3 strings) one point for each string, one point for total pinfall. Total, 4 points.
  - Indoor rifle practice: Each match, Total, 4 points.
  - Basketball: Each game, Total, 4 points.

Members must compete in at least 75 per cent of the matches to be eligible for prizes. Prizes will consist of tournament championship trophy. Trophy for team winning highest number of points in bowling. Trophy for team winning highest number of points in basketball. Trophy for rifle team winning highest number of points. Smaller cups will be given to individual members of winning teams. First and second individual prizes will be given for high average in bowling.

The armory is now equipped with a new range, which is one of the latest devices for determining the accuracy of shots. The principal feature of this range is the movable target, which hangs from a wire and is placed in position by turning a handle directly on the spot where the marksman stands. As soon as the target is turned, the handle is turned, with the result that the target comes rapidly along the wire to the man who is shooting and the perforation in the cardboard tells the story. Little pieces of white paper are quickly passed over the perforation and the target moves back to its original position. This is absolutely safe, for the reason that no one is required to stand near the target at the time the bullets penetrate it. The range is the only one of its kind in this part of the country and was put up by E. W. Barnes of this city under the government's supervision.

The contest was opened last night by Companies G and K, and the members of the former company carried off the honors in the matter of total points scored. Basketball, bowling and rifle tournament were the main features of the contest.

A large crowd was present and appreciated the affair to its full extent. The most interesting feature of the evening was the basketball game between Companies G and K, the former getting an easy victory over their opponents by a score of 37 to 19.

The score and summary were as follows:

Co. G McGookin rf
John H.
Paul c
Keeler rb
St. Peter lb

Summary: Score, Co. C 37, Co. K 19. Score at end of first half, 16-4. Goals, John H. St. Peter 3, McGookin 2, Paul 1, McGookin 1, Carl 1, Cavin 1. Fouls, by Co. K, 3; by Co. G, 2. Time, 20 min. Halves, Referee, Linscott. Times, Luce and Planders.

Then came the rifle and bowling tournaments, which were held down stairs. After an hour of shooting, the targets shot at by the contestants were examined by several officers, and the count showed 408 to 337 in favor of Co. K. This gave K four points offsetting the points scored by G in the basketball game. A summary of the scores made is as follows:

Co. K—Musicians Greeley, 80; Private Savage, 81; Private Fox, 82; Private Page, 80; Sgt. Stevens, 85. Total, 408.

Company G—Sgt. Barnes, 73; Private Archie Alfano, 17; Private Alphonso Alfano, 91; Private Barnes, 74; Lieut. Doyle, 82. Total, 337.

Bowling was also very interesting and Co. G clinched the first series by winning four points in bowling. Company G won every string and the score was as follows:

Company G

Crowell	50	73	98	240
Morley	61	70	72	203
Joyes	86	77	80	243
Shaughnessy	57	83	64	204
Wood	85	91	53	264
Totals	369	393	392	1154

Company K

Huntley	78	84	78	240
Gregg	83	81	83	247
Laycock	76	92	79	247
Davis	56	66	68	191
Scott	67	55	67	189
Totals	360	378	376	1114

General Items

It is understood that Lieut. Bernard P. McArdle of Company M, ninth regiment is to turn in his resignation at the company's regular meeting, to be held tonight. If so, the election for the vacancy created by the resignation of Lieut. McArdle, will take place a week from Friday. The candidates for the position are: Sergt. Sheldon, Sergt. Dupree and Sergt. Stevens, the latter formerly second lieutenant of the same company.

Company G will also hold elections a week from Thursday to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Lieut. Fred Mottram, whose resignation took effect a couple of weeks ago. The only candidate for the position to the present time is Private Fred Campbell, who is a graduate of the Norwich military school.

Company M, ninth regiment will hold a social and dance this evening in the drill shed at the armory, and tomorrow evening, Co. C, sixth regiment will have its prize drill and at the same time will hold a dance for the members and friends.

The members of the national guard of this city have been invited to attend the meeting of the National Guard to be held at the American house, Hanover street, Boston. Major Walter J. Penfield of the U. S. has been detailed by the war department to address the meeting, which will be in the line of a smoke talk. The major will speak on the new infantry field belt and pack, new canteen, rifle equipped with telescopic sight and silencer, automatic pistols and revolvers, field sabre, trenching tools, ration cans, etc. The speaker will have two soldiers with him to use as models to show the difference between the former and the new equipments. Many of the local officers will attend this meeting.

It is a positive fact that the Spanish War Veterans will hold their convention in the local armory on April 18. The members of the national guard of this city have been invited to attend in uniform the annual ball of Butler company, No. 16, K. of P. which will be held some time this month.

The militiamen are pleased of the fact that the pom poms worn on their caps have been called in. They were used as ornaments only and were a nuisance.

A new basketball fence has been put in the armory and the men expect soon to have a fully equipped gymnasium.

CURES SORE AND TIRED FEET

Ordinary antiseptic powder has many valuable uses, but probably few persons know what wonderful power it has over sore, tired, aching or calloused feet. It draws all the soreness out, checks excessive perspiration, prevents congestion and cold feet, while it removes corns, bunions and callouses. Many physicians know its worth, and the public can be saved much suffering by this knowledge being imparted.

If the reader druggist two ounces of viame powder. To a gallon of steaming water add a teaspoonful of the powder and a tablespoonful of salt, and keep the feet immersed from 10 to 20 minutes every night for several weeks.

CRIME INCREASES

Report Alarms and Puzzles Britons

LONDON, Feb. 14.—A blue book just issued giving the judicial statistics of England and Wales indicates that during the period of 1894-8 the annual average of persons tried for indictable offences was 52,268; for 1899-1903 it was 55,018; for 1904-8 it had risen to 62,000. In 1908 it increased to 66,116, the largest number on record. In 1909 it fell to 57,110. Inasmuch as the statistics of the latter half of the last century showed a steadily diminishing rate of crime, the record for this century is far from comforting to Britons.

In an introduction to this blue book, written by Mr. H. B. Simpson, principal clerk of the home office, he acknowledges, not officially, for the altered situation. It is due in his opinion to "a growing inclination to prosecute for offences of a less serious kind, a growing inclination toward leniency to take the trouble to prosecute the thief, who, if he is convicted, is likely to be let off with little or no punishment; and it is consequently probable that the real increase in crime has been even greater than is shown by the figures relating to the number of persons prosecuted."

Mr. Simpson says that since 1888 there has been a marked increase in the number of persons prosecuted for offenses of a less serious kind, a growing inclination toward leniency to take the trouble to prosecute the thief, who, if he is convicted, is likely to be let off with little or no punishment; and it is consequently probable that the real increase in crime has been even greater than is shown by the figures relating to the number of persons prosecuted.

Coming at a time when Mr. Winston Churchill as a cabinet official, is leading a "reform" movement to prevent the lessening of some of the hardships of criminals, and at a time when Mr. Galworthy, the dramatic and fiction writer, is casting his influence in the same direction, this semi-official declaration against sentimentalism in connection with crime is the more suggestive and valuable.

He was the fifth son of the late James Balfour, M. P., and in 1879 married Lady Francis Campbell, fifth daughter of the eighth duke of Argyll.

SAY THAT SERVICE PROJECTILES RETAIN THEIR EFFECTIVENESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—In the light of fuller reports of the firing test in the lower Potomac river last Friday when twelve inch shells fired by the monitor Taitanahasse penetrated armored plate targets erected on the ram Katabidin at a distance of 3000 yards naval ordnance experts have reiterated their contention that service projectiles retain their effectiveness at long battle ranges. The first shot which struck the target, according to the more complete reports, penetrated the armor but the shell was broken to pieces. The second projectile struck the top of the forward target, dug out a piece of steel measuring three and one-half feet and six feet and glanced off. It is not known whether or not this shell was broken. The third and fourth shots completely penetrated the larger of the two targets. The third bored a clean hole; the fourth likewise pierced the thick plate and in addition tore off a big piece of steel. The third and fourth shells disappeared in the water but as no fragments of them could be found anywhere in the vicinity of the target experts maintain that the shells did not break. None of the shells was loaded with explosives, the test being designed to determine the penetrating power of the projectiles.

The second annual sleighride party of the employees of the D. L. Page Co. was held last night, and was attended by about 50 people, who had a splendid time.

The party left the corner of John and Merrimack streets at 8 o'clock and journeyed to Tyngsboro town hall, where general dancing was enjoyed till midnight. A fine supper was served by Mrs. Ann Andrews. The return was made soon after the midnight hour, the party arriving in the city after 1 o'clock. Dudley McLoon had general charge, and he was assisted by W. J. Johnson.

JOHN CARRERE

THE INJURED ARCHITECT REPORTED TO BE IMPROVING

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Some improvement in the condition of John M. Carre, the architect, who was injured in an auto accident Sunday, was noted today at the Presbyterian hospital. The patient passed a fairly restful night, the hospital authorities reported, and gained partial consciousness at intervals. While still critically ill from concussion of the brain, there seemed ground for hope of his ultimate full recovery if the steady improvement so far noted should continue as was expected.

SIMPLE TREATMENT FOR A VELVETY COMPLEXION

Mrs. Mae Martyn, authority on health and beauty, writing for the Los Angeles Examiner, says: "Society women are discarding face powders and cosmetics and taking to liquid preparations, because powder tends to stop up the pores and roughen the skin, ruining a complexion, while a good lotion clears the skin and keeps it in a healthy condition."

"The lotion most popular in exclusive circles is made of spumax and is prepared by dissolving 4 ounces of spumax in 12 pint hot water, then adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This is much nicer to apply than powder and does not rub off easily. It is inexpensive, and its use soon produces a soft and velvety complexion."

"Women using this recipe find it splendid for rough or oily skins, as it clears as well as beautifies."

Said to Have Forced First Nomination of Lincoln

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—New, and what are believed to be hitherto unpublished incidents concerning the politics which gave Abraham Lincoln the republican nomination for president the first time were told here yesterday in an address before the Hamilton club by Addison G. Proctor of St. Joseph, Mo., who believes himself the only surviving member of the famous "split tail" convention.

Mr. Proctor gives one man, Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky, the credit for forcing the nomination of Lincoln from a chaotic disorganized opposition to the regular candidate for the nomination, William H. Seward of New York.

This is how Clay's influence was exerted, as related by Mr. Proctor: "When the convention opened, Mr. Seward's interests were in the hands of Thurlow Weed, and were well organized. The opposition, of which Horace Greeley was the dominant figure, was absolutely without organization or community of desire.

"To show how much without aim we were working, I recall that Mr. Greeley said to us within thirty hours of the time for balloting, answering a question as to whom we should unite upon to oppose Seward, 'I think well of Edward Bates of Missouri; he is a strong man, and I believe one of the best we could nominate.'

"How about Lincoln?" we asked, and Greeley replied:

"While Mr. Lincoln is an adroit politician, he lacks experience in public affairs and while we are drifting toward a crisis, I do not believe the country will trust a man so lacking in experience in national affairs."

"We were discussing matters in the old Briggs house in Chicago when Mr. Clay and his mountaineer men from western Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky arrived. Clay was a man of most interesting personality and he headed an interesting group.

"We are on the eve of a great civil war," began Mr. Clay, but we of Kansas were used to strong words and smiled. The mountaineer looked at us sternly, and continued:

"We know not what your platform plans are, and I am here to say that if a candidate is nominated on that platform the south will make an attempt to dissolve the union. Your southern border extends from Maryland to Mississippi, and on this side stands a determined body of men, resolute that the union shall not be destroyed except after a most desperate struggle.

"It makes a great difference to you whom you nominate," thundered on the tall Kentuckian, "and it makes a much more vital difference to us. Our homes and all we possess are in peril. We demand of you a candidate who will inspire our courage and confidence."

"We call upon you to nominate Abraham Lincoln, who knows us and understands our aspirations. Give us Lincoln and we will push back your battle line from the Ohio river to the Tennessee, where it belongs. Give us Lincoln and we will unite the strength of our union sentiment with the strength of our army and bring success to your legions. Do this for us," pleaded the speaker, "and we will go home and prepare for the conflict."

"We saw things from a new angle, slavery, but of saving the union. Lincoln was nominated."

FOR LAMINITIS

Dr. Daniels Explains the Treatment

Laminitis varies in different cases, influenced by cause, previous condition, the severity of the attack, and the kind of treatment given, the early symptoms are not often noticed. While the animal is at work, perhaps a stumbling, perhaps excessive perspiration, possibly extra heavy breathing may hint at the coming trouble, but generally nothing is noticed until the animal has stood some time after being worked, when we notice he suddenly becomes stiff and sore. The inflammation causing this lameness goes on rapidly involving soon the entire foot and unless relieved leads to many disorders, pneumonia, sidebones, fetters, Punctured Sole and so on. Hence get busy at once and remove the inflammation as soon as possible. Every minute of delay is costly and risky. Don't think or say he'll be all right in the morning. The beginning of the trouble is the time to expect quick relief. Twenty-four hours may put you to a lot of trouble and less for the acute form soon passes into the subacute and then to the chronic state, when cure becomes impossible and we have the ever lame horse, the wasting away of the coffin bone, deficient bone strength which grows spongy, dry and crumbling with the other defects above mentioned. After the case has reached this condition laminitis is easy to diagnose. The foot is pained, sold down, toe turns up, heel too long, knocking of the fetlock and so on.

The treatment is varied and the argument is in order. There are two points in view, preventing and curing. Preventing, of course, is of first importance and it is much easier than the curing. We must first overcome any predisposing causes known to us. Do not work too hard the over fat horses. Use care in their treatment in hot weather. Green horses should always have gradual work put upon them, especially if from the country to paved streets. A change in the stable and feed must be considered in some sensitive cases. Horses on the farm or track horses after a winter's rest should be worked out gradually. Protect the horse from draught and wind when in a heated condition. Do not be afraid to use blankets just because "it's warm." A draught of cool wind at this time does the trick. Don't drive working horses through the cold brook or wash their legs when just in from a heated trip, and do not make rapid changes in style of shoeing. Make the change gradual. If a horse has been fed oats and hay, only, don't give a feed of corn. Mix the corn a little at first, with the oats, shorts or other feeds. Corn is dangerous to feed some horses in hot weather. When the horse shows lameness in one foot, take off the shoes at once and apply warm water or alternating hot and cold water to both feet. Do them up in burlap bags, keeping them wet for a few days. Use sling to take off the weight when possible. Keep blanketed warm. Give Acornite or some good fever medicine. Half ounce doses of salicylate in the drinking water three times a day. In some conditions give diuretics. If active congestion cold water only to the feet. Stand the feet into tub of cold water or if the animal is down swabs on the feet kept wet in cold water, and three or four ounces of salicylate in a pint of water, once in six hours, for a week, will do much in acute laminitis.

CHELMSFORD

The two games of basketball were played in the town hall Saturday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The only games these two teams have lost during the season have been to each other and the third and deciding game, to be played in March, will be awaited with interest.

The Five of Diamonds, in defeating the Alumni five by the score of 33 to 8, gained its first victory of the season. In spite of the one-sided score, some excellent floor and team work was done by the Alumni. The members of the Five of Diamonds had acquired a skill in shooting baskets, together with good passing, that their opponents could not seem to block. The summary:

SENATOR BAILEY

Made a Strong Argument in Favor of Senator Lorimer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—By referring to the bold device of asking his antagonists in the senate to stand up and testify, Senator Bailey of Texas caused a dramatic situation yesterday in his discussion of the case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois. Mr. Bailey is a member of the committee on privileges and elections and coincided with the report declaring that nothing invalidating Mr. Lorimer's title to his seat had been shown by the committee's investigation. His arguments in support of Mr. Lorimer had been anticipated with much interest and when presented yesterday received the thoughtful attention of many senators.

The Texas senator's remarks were devoted largely to the substantiation of his contention that a sufficient number of votes must be shown to have been bought to effect the result unless it was proven that the senator whose election is challenged personally participated in the offense. Senators Root, Cummins and Borah, all opponents of Mr. Lorimer, were each in turn required to stand up and express their opinions as to the legal soundness of this proposition.

Dealing first with the general aspects of the case, Senator Bailey entered upon the consideration of the law involved. He laid down these two principles:

"First—If the officer whose election is challenged personally participated in or encouraged or sanctioned the bribery, then his election is void without reference to the extent of the bribery.

The first of these principles was discussed with the declaration that there was not a word in the testimony to show that Lorimer had any knowledge of any bribery in his behalf. He asserted that the Chicago Tribune was compelled through its attorney to exonerate the accused senator in this respect, notwithstanding an unusual effort to connect him with it. True, the senator said, in the heat of debate some senators sought to connect Lorimer with the alleged wrongful transaction, but he was sure they would repent of that course.

Mr. Bailey contended that even if the seven votes of White, Brown, Beckenmeyer, Link, Wilson, Hobbs and Braderick were not counted, Lorimer still was legally and properly chosen.

Deducting these seven votes from Lorimer's 105 would leave him 101, and deducting these seven votes from the total vote of 203 would leave 196, of which the 101 votes received by Lorimer would constitute a clear majority, and he was therefore duly and legally elected, insisted Senator Bailey.

He ridiculed the contention of his opponents that these votes could be subtracted from Lorimer's column and still retained in the total vote, declaring that the contrary view was so elementary as to render it almost absurd to present authorities in support of it.

"We have the authority of the text books and of the courts for saying that an illegal vote must be rejected for all purposes and that it cannot be considered for any purpose," the senator continued. "That, sir, is not only the law and the logic, but it is the rule best calculated to promote political morality. It treats a dishonest vote as if the corrupt legislator who cast it were civilly dead, at least in that transaction, and it leaves the result to be determined by the votes of honest men."

Mr. Bailey would not admit as Senators Root, Borah and others charged, that in demanding the total exclusion of dishonest votes he really was giving effect to such votes. On the contrary, he undertook to turn the charge upon his antagonists, saying that if they best calculated to promote political morality, it treats a dishonest vote as if the corrupt legislator who cast it were civilly dead, at least in that transaction, and it leaves the result to be determined by the votes of honest men."

Our Political Postoffice

John Wanamaker was Postmaster General; Senator Boies Penrose is chairman of the great Postoffice Committee of the United States Senate; Thomas H. Carter, Senator from Montana, has served many years on that committee.

No three men in the United States are better versed in postoffice affairs and needs than these.

On February 9, 1911, the Senate Postoffice Committee, under the leadership of Senators Penrose and Carter, reported favorably to the Senate for action the Postoffice Appropriation bill, containing a provision, put in without allowing public hearing or open consideration, but under political pressure from the White House, that increases the postage rate on magazines and periodicals to such an extent that it practically absorbs all the profits of the publishing business of the country and makes the further production of popular-priced magazines impossible. It imposes a tax that is confiscatory.

Notwithstanding, within the year Senator Boies Penrose said, referring to the Carter-Weeks bill:

"These are some of the big features of the bill. The whole intent is to systematize and to modernize the entire postal system. It is idle to take up such questions as apportioning the cost for carrying second-class mail matter or the proper compensation of railroads for transporting the mails until we shall have established business methods in postoffice affairs by a reorganization of the whole postal system."

"The commission unanimously recommended the passage of the projected bill. Personally I have been very much interested in all the details and, of course, am heartily in favor of the changes to be made."

Senator Carter said last March:

"But I must forego further pursuit of details. The bill was cordially approved by Postmaster General Meyer and his assistants, and likewise has the approval of Postmaster General Hitchcock. It failed of passage during the last Congress owing to lack of time for its proper consideration, but I have reintroduced the bill, which is now designated Senate 6287, Second Session, Sixty-first Congress. The Committee on Postoffices and Postroads will favorably report the bill to the Senate, and it should be enacted into law before the close of this session. I believe not only that it will increase efficiency, but that, after the expense of installation is absorbed, it will result in such economies in the administration of the department and service as will ere long wipe out the deficiency. In operating under it the department will be able with almost unerring certainty to determine the actual cost of each service performed, thereby reaching a sound basis for legislation such as is neither available nor obtainable under the present system."

"I deeply sympathize with the earnest desire of the department officials to get rid of the deficiency they are fated to encounter each year, but I submit that the first real movement toward that end must begin with the substitution of a modern, up-to-date business organization for the existing antiquated system, which rests upon a few sections of law enacted in 1835, supplemented by statutory fragments added from time to time since that year."

John Wanamaker said recently:

"With Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion, however, there will be no general agreement. The magazines are supported, not by the price paid for the magazine by the readers, but by the advertisers."

"In a sense, magazines are private concerns; but they have a public function to perform—an educational function. To tax the advertisements is to tax the quality of the educational matter contained in the pages, for the advertisements enable the publishers to pay high prices for literature and educational articles. The price paid for a magazine does not pay for the printing and the paper. If Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion should become part of the President's plan it would mean that the public would suffer in the loss of much educational material that the publishers then would be unable to buy."

We urge every friend of honest politics, economical government and a free press to telegraph or write an immediate protest to their Senators and Representatives at Washington.

FINANCIAL POWERS

SHOULD LINE UP WITH THE PEOPLE, SAYS FOSS

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—"It is time for the financial powers of America to fall into step with the people and to line up with the sane and logical policy of progression. Money no longer dominates the conduct of public affairs in this country. The senate is the only place left in which capital, or so much of it as still hostile to the people's will, has power to thwart that will. And the senate is being made over into a popular body."

So spoke Gov. Eugene N. Foss, before the Bank Officers' association of Boston at its annual dinner last night. The governor advocated reciprocity with Canada as in line with modern progress and as the only measure which is fit to become the foundation of an entire federal policy for the future.

"I urge progressive reciprocity beginning in moderation with a few essentials and widening out year by year, with the further progress of the country."

LATEST MONUMENT OF FATHER GEORGE His Sympathy For George

(AS EXPRESSED BY A BOARDER.)

By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN

(Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.)

GEORGE WASHINGTON, great Father George,

I've read the story dire
Of how you froze at Valley Forge
With little warmth or fire.
My lodgings are not fine or grand;
They're four flights up, you see.
I'm owing something for them, and
I sympathize with thee.

I know just how you felt, great man.
There'll be no heat for me.
I'll freeze until I pay my bill—
I sympathize with thee.

Your food, they say, was poor and bad;
The quantity was small;
The luxuries were few you had—
In fact, you'd none at all.
My tea is weak, my steak is tough,
The milk is pale and blue,
And, worst of all, there's not enough—
I sympathize with you.

I know how thin you were, great George.
My board is overdue.
On fowl they dine—it's "neck" for mine—
I sympathize with you.

Your congress plotted for your fall
Where'er you turned about.
The friends you trusted most of all
Were those that sold you out.
Down where the parlor organ groans
They're jeering now at me.
And she—she's holding hands with Jones—
I sympathize with thee.

Oh, hard is misplaced trust, great sire!
I owe her ma a "V."
And so she smirks at cheap young clerks—
I sympathize with thee.

*****

Yes, Father George, I'm moping here,
With but your "life" to read,
While down below they laugh and sneer.
Nor give me little heed.
But let them laugh; my grip is packed.
Sometimes, when things looked blue,
You slyly beat a night retreat—
I sympathize with you.

If all the monuments of Washington in this country and abroad were photographed, the films arranged in proper order and then reeled off by one of the machines that are so popular nowadays we might have almost a moving picture of the Father of His Country. We have Washington standing, sitting, walking, standing at the side of a horse, riding on the horse, waving his arm, brandishing a sword, crossing the Delaware and in other attitudes. We have him clad in military uniform, garbed in civilian clothes, dressed like a Roman and also, as in the famous Greenough statue in Washington, partly unclothed. We have the immortal first president in marble, in bronze, in wood and in other materials. We have conceptions of him by the most famous sculptors and by others of less note. It cannot be denied that this country has a good supply of statues and monuments erected to the memory of Washington and that any one traveling about the country and studying them would gain a good idea of Daddy George's appearance.

The latest monument to Washington is the work of J. Massey Rhind, the well known New York sculptor. It is to be erected in Washington park, Newark, N. J., at a cost estimated between $25,000 and $50,000. To Mr. Rhind belongs the credit of showing to us Washington in a new and original attitude. The monument is called an equestrian statue, since the principal figure is that of Washington as a rider, but he is not mounted on his horse. He stands beside the animal. He wears the uniform of a general in the Continental army and has a riding cloak thrown over his shoulder. One of his hands, holding the reins, rests on the pommel of the saddle. When completed the group will measure about twelve feet high and will stand on a pedestal three feet in height. The whole will surmount a mound about seven feet high.

Few of the large cities of this country lack monuments to Washington. Some cities have more than one. This is especially the case in New York and Washington. The former city has no fewer than five memorials of the first president. They are the Washington arch, at the foot of Fifth avenue, erected at the time of the Washington centennial in 1859; the famous statue in front of the subway in Wall street (the work of John Q. A. Ward), the Houdon statue on Riverside drive, the Bartholdi statue of Washington and Lafayette in Harlem and the bronze tablet in bas-relief of Washington at Valley Forge affixed to the subway building near the Ward statue, already mentioned. In the national capital there are the lofty granite monument, the highest obelisk in the world; the two Houdon statues in the national capitol, one the gift of Virginia; the monument in Washington circle, the seated classical semireclining statue by Horatio Greenough and the bust in the rotunda of the capitol. The proposed national memorial building will stand in Washington.

Europe and South America have joined with the United States in honoring Washington with statues and memorials. There are statues of our first president in Paris, Budapest, Caracas and in other foreign cities. In this country he stands far above any other American in the matter of monuments. His closest rival is Lincoln, of course.

Here Mark Twain Lived, and Here Will Be His Memorial

UPPER PICTURE—MARK TWAIN AND HIS HOME.
LOWER PICTURE—HOUSE OF HUCK FINN.

TOM SAWYER'S CAVE.

ball, now grown into a city, have set themselves to the pleasant task of preserving for all time the house in which lived Samuel L. Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, beloved humorist, lecturer, philosopher and adviser general to the American people.

The house in Hannibal which is to be preserved in memory of Mark is not the house in which he was born. Florida, Mo., a little village about thirty miles from Hannibal, claims the honor of having given him to the world. But he lived in Hannibal for twenty years, from his fourth year to about his twenty-fourth, and "Mark Twain's home" means to his surviving friends and associates the little two story frame structure in Hannibal. Of course it cannot be associated closely with any of his literary work since he left it before he dropped the printer's stick and the pilot's wheel for the author's pen. It was the home of his father, Justice of the Peace Clemens, and while Mark lived in it he received such instruction as the common school of Hannibal could give him.

In his later years Mark used to love to talk about his old home in Hannibal. He paid flying visits to it from time to time in the fifty years he lived after leaving it forever. As it seemed, and in June, 1902, he paid to the old home his last and only real visit. He had been called to Columbia, Mo., to receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the state university, and he stopped at Hannibal on his way. For a week Mark "lazed" in Hannibal, enjoying a period of rest and relaxation which was a landmark in a life marred too often and undeservedly if we reject the fatalistic theory of life—by great sorrows and vicissitudes borne with fortitude. In his whimsical way Mark loved Hannibal, and Hannibal returns the affection by being exceedingly proud of Twain. He is indeed the city's only title to fame save for its growing commercial possibilities. It is no longer a "white town drowsing in the sunshine." Missouri, too, knows the humorist-philosopher as one of its greatest sons, and the entire state applauded when one of its legislators introduced recently a bill to appropriate $10,000 for a Mark Twain memorial in his home city of Hannibal. It was proposed at first that the state acquire the Clemens home in Hannibal and preserve it as a sort of Mark Twain museum or memorial, but Hannibal gently though firmly interposed a veto, saying that the Clemens house was its own especial concern and not that of the state. The sum of money needed to acquire the house was small, and Hannibal could take care of that itself, thank you. If the state of Missouri wished to remember Mark officially, well and good. Let it expend its $10,000 in some other way. A monument, with a statue of "Missouri's first citizen," to be placed either in the small city park in Hannibal or in the new Mark Twain park which is to be created by the city, has been suggested.

Naturally Hannibal knows its Mark Twain well; also it knows itself well, as portrayed in the Twain books, and hollows in the city sidewalks bear witness to the hours spent by various "originals" in standing and telling folks how Mark put them into his books as Huckleberry Finn or Tom Sawyer or Injun Joe or some other of his unforgettable characters. Until 1902 Hannibal had a small tumble-down shanty which was pointed out to visitors as the only genuine bona fide home of Huckleberry Finn. The house is shown in the picture. The reader may decide for himself whether its appearance agrees with his mental image of the sort of house Huck's father, being the sort of man he was, would be likely to provide for his family. Huck's father, you know, loved "red hicker" more than he did progeny.

Mark Twain park, recently acquired by Hannibal, lies below the city on the bank of the great river which will be associated forever with the writer's name in the mind of every one who has read "Life on the Mississippi." It includes "Lovers' Leap," made famous in local history by an old Indian tradition, and Tom Sawyer's cave, now known officially as Mark Twain's cave. Readers of "Tom Sawyer" that "cave of American boy life," will remember the cave in which Tom and his little sweetheart searched high and low for him. The cave is a freak of nature, a narrow underground passage about a mile long, with deep side pockets.

If the Showman Says "This Way To the Okapi!" Don't Believe Him

THIS WAY TO THE OKAPI!

If you see this sign prominently displayed when the circus comes to town this spring or summer don't invest any money in a glimpse of "the latest African wonder." The sign will be the guidepost to a "fake," for there are no live okapi in this country and very few if any stuffed ones. Why, there are not many okapi even in Africa, the habitat of the beasts, and there are only a few in Europe. There will be three stuffed okapi in this country soon, however, for they are on their way from Africa to the American Museum of Natural History, that great New York depository of objects relating to zoology, anthropology, meteorology and other ologies. (Right)

THE OKAPI AND SIR HARRY H. JOHNSTON, ITS DISCOVERER.

here it may be remarked that the museum is one of the biggest, most interesting things in the biggest city in America and does not receive from the city's people and from visitors half the attention which it deserves. It is one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world.)

But to get back to the okapi. He's an interesting beast. The description of him given by the zoologists, calling him a sort of cross between the giraffe and the antelope, makes one think of Hamlet's cloud, which was shaped like a camel and backed like a weasel or a whale. According to good scientific authority the animal stands about four feet and a half high at the withers and is of the peculiar shape shown in the picture. "The head is giraffe-like, but there are no external horns," says the zoological expert of the New International Encyclopedia. "The tail is rather short, and the neck is short and thick. The skull is characteristically giraffe and exhibits rudiments, or, rather, vestiges, of three horn cores. The coloration as described by Sir Harry H. Johnston, who discovered the okapi in 1899 in the Semliki forest of the Congo State, is extraordinary. The cheeks and the dark colored neck. The forehead and a line down to the muzzle are a deep red chestnut, and the large broad ears are of the same tint, fringed with black; the neck, shoulders and body range in tone from sepia and jet black to various reds; the belly is blackish; the hind chestnut, with a small black tuft; the hind quarters, hind and fore legs are either snowy white or pale cream color, touched here and there with orange and boldly marked with purple black horizontal stripes and blotches."

Altogether a well decorated, not to say gaudy, beast, the okapi, is it not? Small wonder that the first white men to hear of him from the savages who roam the Congo believed that the black men were drawing on their imaginations for their description of the okapi and that they believed that "there ain't no such animal," also when the white men returned to civilization with their tales of the okapi they were accused—with cruel injustice, as it now appears—of telling travelers' tales. But the okapi has its established place in zoology now with the hippopotamus, the rhinoceros, the giraffe and the other marvelous things which have come out of Africa from the days of the pharaohs onward even unto this day.

Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston, the discoverer of the okapi, is one of the best known and most energetic of the Britons who are forever poking themselves and their country's flag into the strange and out of the way corners of the earth. Mighty few men know more than Sir Harry does about the interior of what used to be called the "dark continent." He found the okapi when he was rummaging around in the Uganda protectorate. He had heard from the natives about the wonderful beast which had never been seen by white men.

It is not likely that the okapi will ever be common, either alive in zoological parks, or mounted in natural history museums. The habitat of the animal is a district about as large as Wales, lying on the west side of the Semliki river, which flows from Lake Albert Edward to the Albert Nyanza. The region is extremely hot and damp, with the usual natural disadvantages for white men's presence, sojourn or residence. In fact, the negroes of the surrounding country cannot remain long in the okapi country, and the only permanent human residents are dwarfs. The great heat, dampness and density of the jungle deter all but the most intrepid sportsmen from penetrating into this country, and thus the okapi is insured against molestation. At one time Sir Harry Johnston headed an expedition into the region for the purpose of capturing an okapi, but the expedition went to pieces, the negroes and Sir Harry himself falling victims to fever, from which the Englishman escaped narrowly with his life.

Wash That Itch Away

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you knew that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. Devine's Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

Rest possible wash for pimples and all skin impurities.

If you have not already tried it, get at least a 25 cent bottle today. We assure you of instant relief.

Principal court yesterday morning to Judge Sullivan. He spoke on behalf of Mrs. Cora Wilkey, colored, of 27 Fairview street, accused of drunkenness.

As Judge Sullivan did not care much for this idea, Attorney Wright suggested a number of alternatives.

Judge Sullivan, however, took up the cause for him with this suggestion: "Mr. Wright, you have suggested several moves, all of which I find by the records have been tried before without success."

"Now, Mr. Wright, I cannot hang this woman, as the law does not allow me to do that, so I have but one recourse left. I find that hitherto she had sentences of not more than one month in the house of correction, but now send her away for two months to the house of correction to see what that will do toward reforming her."

ANOTHER DROP

IN THE PRICE OF EGGS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Withdrawal of cold storage eggs from the open market yesterday followed the announcement of a further decline of two cents a dozen in the price of the fresh product. This reduction brought the cost of the best selected eggs to 16 cents a dozen, which is the lowest price recorded for three years and lower than ever recorded so early in the month of February.

FORGERY CHARGE

Was Made in the Senate by Sen.
Bailey Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Senator Bailey was prompt today in resuming his argument against the senate in support of its committee on privileges and elections exonerating Senator Lorimer of Illinois from the charge of bribery in connection with his election to the senate. He quickly entered upon sensational grounds by practically charging forgery against the Illinois state bank of Chicago in which he held Governor Deneen is interested.

The Texas senator returned to the consideration of his charge that the bank deposit slip evidencing State Senator Holst's deposit in the State bank of Chicago had been a forgery. He referred to the fact that yesterday Senator Cummins had sought to introduce the original slip, which was claimed to have been made out by Chief Clerk Newton of the bank. Mr. Cummins, Mr. Bailey said, had permitted him to take the paper and he added that his examination of it had only had the effect of confirming his theory that the slip had been a forgery. Ex-

SALARY OF $4000

Plan to Create a New Position
With Big Pay

A bill introduced in the legislature by one Maurice J. Fitzgerald seeks to establish another graft in the cities and towns of the commonwealth. It is an act to establish a department of income and revenues, and is supposed to be complementary to the auditing departments of cities and towns. The office will be known as that of "conservator of income and revenues," and while the office is subordinate to that of the city or town auditor, the act provides that the salary of the conservator shall be $4000 per annum. The act reads as follows:

Section 1.—Said department shall be known as "The department of income and revenues."

Section 2.—Said department shall be subordinate to and complementary to the auditing department of cities and towns.

Section 3.—Said department shall have a head officer to be known as conservator of income and revenues, and such necessary assistants as the mayor and council of the cities and the selectmen of towns may approve.

Section 4.—Said conservator shall take quarterly inventories of all movable city property in every department, shall list and appraise same, and shall keep a permanent record of all inventories for ready reference and comparison by the auditor.

Section 5.—Said conservator shall be present at every sale of city property, and shall list in triplicate the article or articles sold, giving in detail the price received and the name of purchaser, and shall make returns within twenty-four hours to the city treasury of all money received from such sales, with duplicate list of same, leaving triplicate in the office of the department which sold the materials and reserving the original for reference in the department of income and revenues.

Section 6.—The salary of the conservator shall be four thousand dollars per annum.

SPECIAL MEETING

Bricklayers Preparing for Conference

A special meeting of the local Bricklayers' union has been called for tomorrow evening when delegates to the coming state convention will be chosen. Committees will also be appointed for the reception and entertainment of the many visiting bricklayers who are due here next month to attend the annual state conference of the bricklayers of Massachusetts to be held in this city during the week of March 12th.

The local union is making elaborate plans for the coming convention which promises to be a big affair.

THE GRAND JURY

Will Resume County
Investigation Here

The grand jury will come in at the court house tomorrow and resume its investigation of county affairs. Just how long the grand jury will remain in Lowell this time is not known. It was here for three days last week but in that time examined comparatively few witnesses.

BABY INJURED

Trampled Upon by a
Rearing Horse

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Samuel J. Rosen, who lives in the Santa Elena apartments, at No. 261 West Twenty-first street, took her three-year-old son, Louis, and her year-old baby, Pearl, with her on a shopping trip yesterday. The baby was in a go-cart and the little boy was clinging to his mother's skirt as they started to cross Twenty-seventh street, at Eighth avenue, early in the evening.

A big two horse truck, driven by Edward Biggott, was going west through Twenty-seventh street, but the mother did not see it. The wailing cries of persons on the sidewalk made her realize the danger. She had wheeled the go-cart to the middle of the street and the horses were almost upon her. There was no time to advance or retreat. Biggott drew the horses back on their haunches, but too late.

The hoofs of one of the animals crashed down upon the paralytic mother. She was hurled to the pavement. The little boy was flung clear to the curb, and one of the truck wheels struck the tiny form of the baby.

The screams of the mother and the rush by the bystanders to the scene brought Pullman Stewart, who called Dr. Mann in an ambulance from St. Vincent's hospital.

On the floor of Mrs. Rosen all three were taken in the ambulance to their home. The mother is suffering from severe shock. The boy was bruised and has a wrenched knee. The baby is in a critical condition. The wheel of the truck, although it did not pass over the child, seems to have injured her internally.

The family physician, Dr. Henry P. Hirsch, was in charge of all three patients last night.

NEW HAVEN ROAD

Explains Plans for Tunnel Under
the Harbor

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—A definite proposition for the acquisition of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, a narrow gauge road, by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, the construction of another tunnel beneath the harbor with an underground connection with the New Haven system and the extension of the Revere Beach road to Beverly was submitted to the legislature today in the form of an extensive bill prepared by the New Haven road officials. The bill follows the petition for this acquisition filed two months ago. The New Haven company

SEVERAL EXPLOSIONS

Gave the People of East Deer-
field a Bad Scare

EAST DEERFIELD, Feb. 14.—A series of explosions shook East Deerfield this noon and for a time caused considerable alarm. It was soon discovered that the cause for the detonations was a fire that broke out in a gas generating plant of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad, located in the local freight yards. The property loss did not exceed ten thousand dollars and no one was injured, but the exhibition of daylight fireworks was spectacular in the extreme.

The gas plant was situated in a supposedly fireproof one-story building of brick and cement. The origin of the fire is not known. When the blaze was discovered by J. J. McCune, the superintendent of the plant and one of his assistants the flames had made such headway that the two men saw they could not extinguish them and they hurriedly left the building. A moment later there was a terrific explosion as one of the small gas tanks blew up and shot through the roof, leaving a trail of sparks behind it. For an hour or so these explosions occurred, every three or four minutes until the last of the tanks had blown up.

The exploding tanks contained gas that had been generated in this plant for the use of locomotive headlights. The plant was located at this place because practically all freight trains operating between Boston and Portland, Jackson, N. Y., are made up in the East Deerfield freight yards.

RECIPROCITY BILL

Was Under Discussion in the National House Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—When the house resumed consideration of the reciprocity bill today it was announced that the proposed amendment to extend general debate at 5 p. m. had failed and that the passage of the measure might be delayed two days.

Last night it was generally believed a final vote on the bill would be reached today. A conference was held on the floor this morning when it was seen that an agreement was out of the question. A motion was made that calendar Wednesday be dispensed with tomorrow so that consideration of the measure could continue. Speaker Cannon ruled the motion out of order. To dispense with calendar Wednesday requires a two-thirds vote. The effort to do so will be renewed tomorrow.

Calendar Wednesday is one of the house reforms won by the republican insurgents and democrats in their memorable fight against Speaker Cannon and the rules of the house a year ago. The only business in order is a call of the committee for unfinished business. The Moon bill to codify the laws relating to the judiciary has occupied every calendar Wednesday this

House This Afternoon

What threatened to be a dangerous blaze broke out in a room in the third story of a building used as a lodging and boarding house by Victor H. Meister at 201-203 Appleton street shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

People in the dining room of the house detected smoke and Mr. Wallace Butterfield, an occupant of the house, traced the smoke to a rear room on the third story of the building.

Mr. Butterfield telephoned to the police and an alarm was sent in an alarm from box 24.

The department was soon on the scene and found that the fire was making its way between the flooring and partitions on the third story. Two chemical fires were laid and in a short time the blaze was extinguished.

Inasmuch as the fire was between the partitions and under the flooring, the firemen found it necessary to rip away the lathes and floor board before they could get at the centre of the blaze.

It is thought that the fire was caused by a rat's nest under the flooring. A year ago last month a fire started in the adjoining room in the same house, but was extinguished before much damage was done.

The building is owned by the Howe estate.

KILLED BY GAS

Finding of Chemists in Poisoning Case

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 14.—That Charles E. Twigg and Grace Blosser, the young couple found dead in the parlor of the Blosser home on December 31 last, the eve of their wedding day, came to their end from carbon monoxide (coal gas) poisoning was the conclusion of the Washington and Baltimore chemists who tested the blood of the two victims. State's Attorney Robb announced the result of the analysis yesterday.

Heretofore the authorities have maintained that the pair met death by cyanide of potassium, the coroner's jury returning a verdict to that effect.

Mr. Robb said the tests were made by the two chemists independently, and that their reports agreed. He added: "The facts in the case, as I see them, without having any evidence to justify the belief that any particular person caused the deaths of these parties, are: That two persons were found dead in a room in which a stove with defective flues was at the time; that afterwards two bodies were placed in the same room, the stove lighted and the doors closed, and the animals died, and the scientists (the chemists who made the blood tests) say that carbon monoxide gas existed in the blood of the two persons who died in the room to such an extent as to cause death."

Dr. Thomas W. Bacon, police commissioner, declares that if the finding of the chemists is accepted as the solution of the tragedy, "murder with cyanide will become cheap and safe."

"Appended to the state attorney's report," said Dr. Bacon, "you will notice a statement signed by Dr. Harrington and Dr. Barker, the chemists who made the first analysis and turned in the report of cyanide poisoning. I asked Dr. Harrington at the time if he were competent to make this analysis and he said he was. He now says these cyanide traces may be developed by the putrefactive process following death."

Reporters are at work tracing the cyanide the police believe caused the deaths of Miss Blosser and Twigg, and within the next two days it is expected that important evidence will be produced.

The facts brought out at the autopsy and the apparent facts of the reports of the chemists are irreconcilable save on two grounds. If cyanide was found in the blood of the two victims then it must have been administered consciously with Dr. Barker by cyanide poisoning or it must have been introduced after death.

DR. MANAHAN

WELL KNOWN HARVARD ATH-LETE IS DEAD

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Following a brief illness of pneumonia, Dr. Thomas Manahan, a well known surgeon and former Harvard athlete, died at his home here today. He was 37 years old. He was a graduate of Harvard college and medical school and when a student played on the varsity football team. During the Spanish-American war he was attached to the hospital ship Bay State and later went to England with a Harvard boat crew as its medical adviser.

RECIPROCITY

AGAIN TODAY

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Canadian reciprocity was again discussed at the state house today, a score of Gloucester fishermen appearing before the committee on federal relations in opposition to the legislative resolution favoring reciprocity, while Rep. Robert Washburn, republican, a brother of Congressman Chas. G. Washburn, offered a substitute resolution placing the legislature in a neutral position on the matter.

The Gloucester fishermen denounced the agreement pending in congress as ruinous to their business.

Rep. Washburn's substitute resolution favors commercial reciprocity but declares that at present the Massachusetts legislature is neither for nor against the measure now pending in congress, for the reason that the members have been unable to obtain the sense of their constituents on the matter.

MINE MERGER

STOCK EXCHANGE

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—The proposed merger of a dozen mining properties in the Calumet region with the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. received the approval yesterday in a broad way today by a special committee of the Boston stock exchange, but several suggestions were made of modifying the offer made by Calumet officers to the stockholders of the other companies. The committee believes that instead of an issue of 400,000 shares of stock another company should be formed with a large capitalization, the shares of which should be exchanged for those of the proposed new operating company. It is also suggested that a holding company organized in Maine be formed with a capitalization of 1,600,000 shares and that these shares might be exchanged on a basis of four of the holding company to one of the new proposed operating company.

MAN RETURNS TO HIS FAMILY WITH MOST AMAZING STORY

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—With but a dim recollection of the events of the last two weeks, and still in a dazed condition, Edward Morgan, a horse-shoer, who disappeared from his home, 36 Morris street, New Rochelle, on January 30, returned yesterday afternoon.

Morgan says he came to New York, intending to go to New Jersey. He started for the Hudson tube, and remembers nothing more until Sunday, when he found himself in a house in a small town near Philadelphia. He cannot remember the name of the town nor the name of the family that cared for him, but he says he was treated there by a physician. Yesterday morning, he says, he started for New York, and telephoned from there to his wife. He is in bed under the care of a physician.

EX-SEN. GARDNER

IS CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO BRIBE

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Former State Senator Gardner, who is under indictment on a charge of attempting to bribe Congressman Otto J. Foelker in April, 1908, when Mr. Foelker was also in the state senate to have him vote against the passage of the anti-race-truck gambling bill was called for trial today before Justice Seabury in the supreme court.

It is charged that Gardner offered Congressman Foelker $2,000 which the latter refused. Assistant District Attorney Robert Eldor of Kings county told of the alleged attempt to bribe before the legislative graft committee. When court convened today Gardner entered with his counsel Max Slaur and Henry J. Goldsmith. He stepped over to his wife, who came to court early accompanied by a woman friend, Mrs. Gardner was formerly in the stage under the name of May Yerba. The examination of witnesses was begun about noon.

THE ARCHBISHOP

Suffering From an Attack of Grippe

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Because of an attack of grippe which has confined him to his room, Most Rev. William O'Connell, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, will be unable to attend the funeral of the late Archbishop Ryan at Philadelphia. The archbishop's condition is not considered serious and his physicians believe that he will have completely recovered within a few days.

SLEIGHRIDE PARTY

The town hall at Chelmsford Centre was the scene of a very happy party last night and the sleighride that went with it was all to the good. The party included nurses from the Lowell hospital and just enough of the stern sex to do the honors when the sleigh was called. The town hall was in darkness when the party, drawn by four of Hanson's prancers, arrived there, but in a very few minutes the hall was well lighted and a curly-headed chap was ripping rag-time by the yard from the piano. Ice cream and cake had been ordered for the occasion, but the ice cream proved a minus quantity. The sleigh ride was a success. It and a telephone call in requisition with the result that the cream arrived on the "next car." Dancing was continued until after midnight and the whole affair proved an exceptionally pleasant one.

6 O'CLOCK FAMILY TROUBLES

Were Aired in the Police Court This Morning

Tuesday is considered ironing day by almost every housewife, and while the male members of the family are not supposed to use the iron, Judge Hadley found it incumbent upon him this morning to iron out several family difficulties.

Neglected His Wife
Claude A. R. True was charged with neglecting his wife, Alice F. A. True, and he admitted that he was guilty. Mrs. True said that she and her husband have not been living together since July 24 of last year, when her husband left her.

"Do you want to give any explanation?" asked Judge Hadley.
"No, sir," was the response of the husband.

Judge Hadley asked Mrs. True what she could live on and she answered that she needed about $5 per week.

After considering the case the court advised the pair to consult with Probation Officer Slaters.

Struck His Wife
Dennis Cavanaugh pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on his wife, Mary. The latter said that her husband had been away since Sunday morning and did not return home until yesterday. Mr. Cavanaugh, however, stated that he had been attending the funeral of a relative in Charlestown.

Mrs. Cavanaugh said that she was the mother of ten children, five of whom are dead. According to her testimony, her husband struck her over the head with a hifter. The court asked the witness to take her off the stand, she refused to do so, stating that the case she received was not very bad.

"Why did he hit you?" asked Judge

Hadley.
"Because I asked for bread for the baby," was the answer which Mrs. Cavanaugh gave.

Mrs. Cavanaugh said that he had been up for two nights at the wake in Charlestown and coming up on the train was suffering from a headache. The court ordered the man to pay a fine of $10 within three months.

Assaulted an Officer
Powell Reay, through his attorney, pleaded guilty to being drunk and not guilty to assaulting Patrolman Conditine. Patrolman Conditine said that he was arresting two men Sunday night, one of the men being Reay, when the latter struck him in the mouth. Patrolman Alex McCaughy, who assisted in the arrest, corroborated the testimony of the complainant.

Reay's record was produced and Deputy Downey, who prosecuted the case, thinking that it might take up too much of the court's time to read the record, handed the book to Judge Hadley.

The court found him guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $20 to be paid within three days or go to jail for three months. He appealed and was held under bonds for his appearance for the superior court.

Heavy Sentence Imposed
"He split in my face four times in succession," said Mrs. Bridget Donahue, in testifying against her husband, Michael J. Donahue, who was arrested on a complaint charging him with assault.

He was given a sentence of three months in jail and ordered to furnish bonds of $100 to keep the peace for six months. He entered an appeal.

AUTO AMBULANCE

Board of Charities Discussed Prop-

osition to Buy One

The board of charities held a special meeting last night for the purpose of discussing the advisability of changing over from horse drawn ambulances to an automobile ambulance, and it was voted that the owners of garages be invited to meet the board and to discuss the maintenance of auto ambulances.

The auto ambulance was suggested by Commissioner Burns at a previous meeting, and at that meeting he was appointed a committee of one to look into the probable cost of an automobile ambulance. Mr. Burns said he had communicated with various cities and found that automobile ambulances are in use in Springfield, Camden, N. J., Danville, Ill., Fall River, Worcester, Lynn, Holyoke, Boston, New York, Providence, R. I., and Hartford, Conn., and at the Carnegie steel works, and other firms. Some of the ambulances are owned by hospitals, and the city is charged for the use of them.

The ambulance service contract with Dr. Sparks expires March 1, and the board members felt that they would like to arrive at a definite conclusion before that time.

If the department could obtain a car between $300 and $400, and if it were placed in a local garage, a touring car would be at the disposal of the city in an emergency, with one man or two men on hand all of the time. It would furnish much more effective service, he said. The garage would supply gasoline, oil, etc., and would charge but $1500 a year. In addition to $400 would cover all repairs. The first year the cost, including machine, would be $5400, but the second year this would be cut down to $3900, and would effect a saving of $1500 over what is spent on horse drawn ambulances now.

Mr. Coupe said he would like an automobile ambulance, but did not believe the department could spare the money at the present time. He doubted if the department had the right to go ahead and buy it.

Mr. McCarty suggested that the various agents for machines appear before the board, together with garage owners, in order that the cost and maintenance of ambulances could be found out. He also suggested that the men should send their proposals to the board in sealed envelopes.

Mr. Coupe thought that before the board went to any trouble it should find out what authority the department had to go ahead and make contracts.

Mr. McCarty said that all contracts made by departments in excess of $300 must have the mayor's approval. He said the appropriations committee might see its way clear to appropriate money enough to buy one ambulance, or, perhaps, two. He thought that an auto ambulance of the horse-drawn type would have a perfect right to go ahead and order another ambulance. If this right obtained, why would not the board have a right to order an automobile ambulance?

Mr. Howe said that it would be decidedly inconsistent for him to appear to discourage or frown upon any improvement in the department, for ever since he had become a member of the board of charities he had made an effort to increase the efficiency of the department, to make it more beneficial to the people, and his aim has been to make the department a credit to the city. He said that the first thing to be considered was whether or not the expected improvement in the service by installing an auto ambulance warranted the large expense. He said that when horse life was at stake the cost in a matter of this kind should not be considered by this city or any other city. Mr. Howe said that he had not yet made up his mind as to whether this improvement warranted the additional expense. He commended Dr. Sparks for the service given, and said that it certainly could not be improved on, so long as horses were used to convey the ambulances. He thought that in the event the board decided to substitute auto ambulances if the contract were given out to a garage, that the board should reserve the right to determine who should receive the same, regardless of the bid submitted. The board concurred with him.

Mr. Richard said he favored an automobile ambulance for the department. The motion was made by Mr. Coupe that the board should reserve the right to meet the board and to discuss the maintenance of auto ambulances. It was so voted.

Dr. McCarty said the horse-drawn ambulances need repair, and he doubted if they would bring $5000 if sold. He believed that it would be well to keep them.

It was voted to meet the garage owners next Friday evening at eight o'clock.

WM. McELROY

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE STEAM ENGINEERS

A special meeting of Local 352, International Union of Steam Engineers, was held last night. There was a large attendance and considerable business of importance was transacted during the evening. The principal business of the meeting was the election of president, which resulted in the choice of William McElroy. Michael Ready was elected a delegate to attend a hearing Feb. 21, before the committee on mercantile affairs at the state house. The regular meeting nights of the local union have been changed from Monday to Wednesday nights of each week. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 22.

DOES NOT PROMISE BENEFIT SAYS MINISTER ELLISON

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 14.—Finance Minister Ellison in his budget speech yesterday touched on the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States. "It seems almost too bad from our point of view that at such a time of prosperity there should be a feeling of uncertainty and apprehension engendered among farmers by proposed changes in tariff relations with the United States," said Mr. Ellison. "These changes do not seem in any respect to promise benefit and may work much hardship."

SHOT HIMSELF

MAN ALSO KILLED CLOSE FRIEND OF HIS

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 14.—When William McCarty fired a bullet through his brain yesterday because of business and marital troubles he not only took his own life but killed a friend and probably cost the life of the woman with whom he is supposed to have been in love. The bullet passed through McCarty's head and entered the brain of Arthur Knowles, a bartender, who was standing beside him. Knowles died shortly before midnight. When Mrs. Julia Solin, with whom McCarty is said to have been intimate, heard of his act, she took carbolic acid and was found unconscious several hours later in a room across the hall from where McCarty and his wife were living. She was taken to a hospital and probably will die.

FUNERALS

SWAIN—The funeral services of Mrs. Helen E. Swain were held Sunday afternoon from the family residence in Westford. A large gathering of relatives, neighbors and friends were present.

The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. Rev. Mr. Havermale of the M. E. church, Granville, was the officiating clergyman. The body was taken to the early morning train to Franklin, N. H., where the burial will take place. Undertaker David L. Greig was in charge.

The following is a list of the floral offerings: Large wreath on base, E. O. and A. C. Sargent; wreath, O. H. Gilchrist; E. Day; spray of pinks, Fred Shaw and family; spray of pinks and narcissus, Mrs. Shugrue and Mrs. Healey; spray of pinks, Miss Ruth Fisher; spray of roses, pinks and sweet peas, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard and Rhine Ross Dunklee; spray pinks, Mrs. Sargent; spray pinks, Bertha and Gladys Swain; spray, Mr. and Mrs. F. Chandler; spray, Miss M. M. Hildreth and Mrs. Sarah Hildreth.

REKOWICZ—The funeral of Stanislaw Rekowicz, daughter of John and Anna Rekowicz, who died at the Lowell General hospital yesterday morning, aged eight years, was held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, in charge of Undertaker McKenna.

COX

The funeral of the late Mrs. Rose Cox took place this morning from the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons at 8:30 o'clock and was largely attended. The cortege wended its way to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. J. O'Brien. The choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mr. Donnelly and Miss Whitely, Mrs. Josephine McKennedy presiding at the organ. The bearers were Mr. Edward Devaney, John Nicholson, James Fitzpatrick and Joseph O'Brien. Among the many floral offerings were the following: Large wreath, "Mother," from Mrs. Edward Devaney; spray from her granddaughter, Miss Vera Cox and sprays from other friends. The interment was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committed prayers were read by Fr. O'Brien. The funeral was under the direction of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

CONDITION IS CRITICAL

BALTIMORE, Feb. 14.—Dr. John J. Sweeney of Fall River, Mass., who is suffering from the effects of bichloride of mercury, which he swallowed last Sunday night, was reported to be in a critical condition at the hospital today and but slight hopes were held out for his recovery. Dr. Sweeney told the attending physicians that he ate the poison tablets by mistake for candy which he said he had in his pocket.

NOT TO REPEAL LIQUOR LAW

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 14.—After the longest debate of the session the house of representatives voted this noon 154 to 182 not to repeal the so-called Preston amendment, a liquor law which forbids the shipment of liquor from a license city or town into no-license territory.

ANNUAL REUNION

Of St. Peter's Parish to be Held Tonight

St. Peter's parish reunion opened up most auspiciously in Associate hall this afternoon with a merry gathering of children, who listened attentively to a fine entertainment arranged by Rev. James J. McGuinness of the church. The young people applauded the various numbers very generously and then the big event of the day took place, the climbing of the greasy pole by the boys. Needless to say, this feature proved to be the laugh-producer of the afternoon. Later the young folks had refreshments, closing with dancing.

This evening will be for adults, and the sale of tickets gives promise of a big attendance for from time immemorial St. Peter's affairs have been among the most successful of any of the pre-Lenten affairs.

Tonight's entertainment embraces some of Lowell's leading talent, to be followed by general dancing. Frank Campbell is chairman of the general committee, Wm. F. Sadlier, secretary, and Rev. John T. O'Brien, treasurer. Fred H. Rourke is general manager, and Daniel P. Carroll, assistant. The dancing will be in charge of Mr. J. Henry Gilbride, assisted by a group of aids, while Counselman John J. Connelley heads the reception committee. Mrs. Katherine McQuade and Mrs. Miles Burns are in charge of the refreshment table. Mrs. J. W. McKennedy, matron of the luncheon table, and Mary G. Quinn, who is in charge of the early table. Rev. Dr. Keleher and the priests of the parish were in attendance this afternoon.

BECOMES THE BRIDE OF NEW YORK LAWYER

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Many guests from New York, Michigan and Rhode Island and other states attended the wedding today of Miss Judith Falger Longyear, daughter of John M. Longyear, a prominent capitalist of Brooklyn and Marquette, Mich., and John M. Richardson Lyeth, an attorney of New York city. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, this city, at the Longyear mansion in Brooklyn, which was formerly the Marquette home of the family. The big structure was moved in sections to Brookline some years ago.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Margaret Longyear, and the supporter of the bridegroom was Elliot Harkness of Providence. Miss Lyeth is a graduate of Radcliffe. Mr. Lyeth was graduated from Harvard in 1907 and from the Harvard law school in 1910.

MURDER TRIAL

Government Sets Forth Alleged Motive

SALEM, Feb. 14.—In an endeavor to establish robbery as a motive for the murder of Minna Monahan at Lynn in the summer of 1903, for which Valan Nalbandian is now on trial in the Essex county superior criminal court here, the prosecuting attorneys today produced witnesses who testified that Monahan had a large sum of money just previous to his death. Relatives of the victim testified that when he left Chicago for Lynn two months before his death he had more than $500 in cash. Another witness, who worked in the same factory as Monahan, said that the victim carried a big roll of bills a week before his death. Half a dozen witnesses gave testimony to this effect during the forenoon session. During the forenoon testimony was introduced to show that when Monahan's body was found there was only a few cents in his clothing, in addition to his watch, a match safe and a stick-pin.

MRS. LITTLETON

ONLY WOMAN AT L. I. EDITORS' LUNCHEON

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, wife of the Congressman-elect, was the guest of honor yesterday at a complimentary luncheon at the Old Oak hotel, in Patchogue, L. I., tendered by the Suffolk County Press association by Editor L. E. Green, of the Patchogue Argus.

Mr. Green, who has been president of the association for thirteen years, spoke in advocacy of the establishment of a farm for blind children, the repeal of the Brown Duck law and the organization of a Long Island press association.

Mrs. Littleton left without speaking, much to the regret of the editors, who had expected an address from the distinguished suffragette, who was the only woman present.

Mr. Martin Moran and daughter, Nellie Gertrude, left yesterday for Hol Springs, Ark. The trip is to combine pleasure and business.

Lowell is unusually free of contagious diseases for this time of the year. This is one of the seasons when contagious diseases are wont to flourish, but there are very few cases on record at the hotel of health, offices at this present time. One new case of diphtheria was reported today, making 17 cases in all.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of National League Baseball Magnates

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The baseball magnates of the National league were on hand bright and early for the 2 day of their annual meeting. The sessions are held at the Hotel Breslin in this city and will probably last until late tomorrow or Thursday. Rumor of lively doings have been flying around the league's circuit for the past few weeks and there were indications today that clashes were impending over several of the subjects programmed for discussion. The main clash was expected over the adoption of a new official league ball for 1912. Another subject on which a difference of opinion was not unlikely were the alleged attitude of President Lynch toward the umpire situation, the schedule committee draft of rules and the question of reserve revision.

C. W. Murphy, owner of the Chicago Cubs, declared before the meeting that he had a trunkful of suggestions as to possible changes in the rules but he admitted that after all was said and done the meetings of the rules committee would be merely perfunctory. Nothing can be done because no American league rules committee has been appointed by President Johnson. Without his co-operation no changes can be made. Murphy was frank in his criticism of Johnson for this lack of co-operation. "Johnson has violated the national agreement and is a man who is not to be trusted," declared Murphy. "He is in duty bound to appoint a committee but because he heard I had issued a call for suggestions for changes in the rules, he did not do it. There are a number of changes that ought to be taken up and carefully discussed. Probably some alterations will be made. But what's the use of that? We won't have it. So we are stumped."

GREEKS PROTEST

AGAINST THE TRANSFER OF THEIR PASTOR

TSARITSIN, government of Saratov, Russia, Feb. 14.—Fanatical scenes are being witnessed here, where the whole Greek parish is suffering self imposed deprivations in protest against the transfer to another parish of the minister Helleodorus, the reactionary leader.

Recently the holy synod announced the transference of the priest from Tsaritsin to the diocese of Tula. The announcement threw the parishioners into a religious frenzy and with Helleodorus they took a solemn vow not to sleep, eat or drink until the order of the holy synod has been rescinded. Thousands of persons are cooped up in the church, where a service with lighted candles continues unintermittently day and night. Many of the worshippers are on the point of suffocation and the suffering of all is acute.

Helleodorus is a peculiar character. In 1878 he was credited with leading the "black hundreds," the lowest stratum of the reactionary forces, in Voronezh province. He is bitterly anti-semitic and patriotic to a degree that has been described as fanatic. He is not only followed blindly by those among whom he ministers but frequently has been the recipient of marks of favor from Emperor Nicholas.

COASTING PARTY

Tom Rogers of Butterfield street, the genial member of Hose 7 of Fletcher street hall, held his annual coast in Mt. Vernon street last night.

Tom entertained all his neighbors and after about two hours of coasting he invited them into his spacious residence where he had a lunch prepared for them which was the equal of the best banquet ever set. Anecdotes on the "former coasts" were told and songs were sung after which the party broke up.

FAVOR RECIPROCITY

DETROIT, Feb. 14.—Letters seeking support for the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada have been mailed to all Michigan senators and representatives by the Manufacturers and Manufacturers Association of Detroit. The letters contain a resolution adopted by the association favoring the passage of the proposed agreement.

PRESERVES NATURAL COLOR OF THE HAIR

(From Woman's National Magazine)
"Any woman can postpone for years the time when her hair becomes thin and gray. It is a mistake to shampoo frequently with soap and water, as that tends to make the scalp scaly and bald and the hair dull and faded. The hair will respond to the proper home treatment. Put in a full jar four ounces of orris root and four ounces of theriac. Shake until well mixed. Once or twice a week sprinkle a little of this powder on the head and brush it thoroughly through the hair. This dry shampoo removes dirt, dust and dandruff from the scalp and leaves the hair fresh, sweet and clean. The theriac helps to grow beautiful hair and preserves its natural color."

26 HOMICIDES IN MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 14.—Twenty-six homicides were disposed of during 1909-10, according to the report of former Attorney General Warren Philbrick for those two years. They were distributed among the various counties, four each being in Aroostook and Penobscot counties, three in Cumberland, two each in Knox, Androscoggin, Oxford, Somerset, Waldo and York and one each in Franklin, Sagadahoc and Washington counties.

MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—William Bennett, 31 years old, despondent because he could not secure employment, committed suicide in his room on East 9th street today by placing the muzzle of a double-barreled shotgun in his mouth and releasing both hammers with a poker. Bennett looked himself last night in the apartments, where he lived with his father and brother, and would not admit them when they came home. To humor him they spent the night with friends. When they found the door still locked this morning they suspected that something was wrong and broke in. They found Bennett's body lying on the floor with his head almost entirely shot away. The shotgun and poker lay nearby.

AMERICAN OFFICERS MISSING

CAIMANERA, Cuba, Feb. 14.—Three officers of the American battleship Minnesota who left the vessel in a power boat yesterday failed to return when expected and are still missing today. Tugs and torpedo boats have been despatched in search of the party, but had met with no success up to a late hour last night. The officers were last heard from at the town of Jatibonico.

MAYOR MEEHAN

Addresses Letters to City Council

Mayor Meehan has addressed the following letters to the city council. The letters will be read at the adjourned meetings of both branches to be held this evening.

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 14, 1911.

To the City Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: I desire to call your attention to the fact that April 13 will be the 50th anniversary of the march of the Sixth regiment through Baltimore. I believe we should be much interested in this affair, because of the fact that four companies of that regiment went forth from this city to do their part in order that we might enjoy an undivided country. To my mind

ANNUAL REPORT

Of Work Done at Ayer Home
During the Past Year

The following report, just completed, will give an idea of the work being done at the Ayer Home:

To the Trustees of the Ayer Home:

Gentlemen: From the examination of the records for the year 1910, it is pleasing to note the continued prosperity of the home, and that by the generosity of Frederick Fanning Ayer, we have been able to build a swimming pool and bathroom on a portion of the canal that the proprietors of the Locks & Canals gave us the right to use, which will be of great benefit to the one hundred children at the home.

Children at the Home

Nov. 1, 1895—13 children, 6 girls, 7 boys.

Jan. 1, 1907—24 children, 18 girls, 16 boys, 7 adults; total 47.

Jan. 1, 1909—50 children, 52 girls, 37 boys, 15 adults; total 114.

Jan. 1, 1909—102 children, 56 girls, 46 boys, 15 adults; total 117.

Jan. 1, 1910—100 children, 54 girls, 46 boys, 15 adults; total 115.

The average daily attendance at school was 37, and for the 49 Sundays

Health

The health of the children has been unusually good; five months of the year passed without any sickness among the one hundred children at the home. During the other seven months there were seven cases of measles, six of chickenpox, three of tonsillitis, and one each of pneumonia, bronchitis, adenoids, pleurisy and chorea. Of these, eleven were cared for by the Lowell General Hospital, six by the Lowell Hospital association, and five by the out-patient department. With the above exceptions, the children have been well, they have grown and are looking ruddy, healthy, clean and happy.

Clothing

The parents are expected to clothe their children as far as they are able. Their contributions this year were $15.45 less than last year—and is not one and one-half (1 1/2) cents a day for each child. With this amount, small as it is, and the donations of hats, coats, dresses and other useful articles that friends have sent to the home, the matron has kept the one hundred children looking remarkably well.

Christmas

Christmas this year was a great day for the children. Mrs. May Knight Southwell entertained them in her happy manner and Santa Claus came down the chimney in the presence of the trustees, the children's parents, and the children. The children's presents to the trustees and distributed presents to the children from the tree and the many packages were brought with him, to the great delight of all. Their Christmas dinner was at 2 p. m. and their church Christmas tree at 4 p. m. The evening exercises were conducted by the older girls and boys and given under their direction; all of the one hundred children gave credit, having their parts as well committed that prompting was unnecessary. Letters were received from children who had left the home and were earning their own living, asking "if they could come back and spend Christmas at the home, the only home they ever knew." Permission was gladly given. They came, bringing presents to the matron and their comrades.

Donations

Lowell Hospital association, Lowell General Hospital, proprietors of the Locks and Canals, Boston & Northern Street Railway company, Daniel Gage ice company, Outfit, Fruit company, Lowell Courier-Citizen, The Lowell Sun, Mr. Frederick Fanning Ayer, Mrs. Mary J. HATHAWAY THEATRE

Whether it's "John Storm" in "The Christian" or "Thaddeus Strong" in "Our New Minister," Soverin DeBeyn is at his best in a clerical role in his interpretation of the title role in DeBeyn Thompson's great rural play at the Hathaway theatre last evening aroused the enthusiasm of a large audience of admirers to a high pitch. Last week Mr. DeBeyn's light was hidden under a bushel, as it were, but this week has given him an opportunity to display his exceptional talent, now well known to all local lovers of the drama, and his work as Thaddeus Strong was clean cut

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The bill at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is one of the best, it is not the best, put on this season. It is headed by George Primrose, the well known minstrel, the famous Primrose. When he appeared on the stage with his two pupils, Murphy and West, he was given a rousing reception by the packed audiences.

What he did to entertain was exactly what he used to do when he appeared with that troupe which was known as the Primrose and West minstrels. He danced and danced every sort of step known to vaudeville patrons of the day. The trio danced individually, in pairs and altogether, and with evident appreciation of the fondness for them of their audiences.

The Randall Sisters, with William B. Randall, are dancers also, but of a different sort. There were two pretty girls, equipped with two pretty voices, while the male member of the company is a fancy dancer of unusual merit. There is plenty of solo and trio and most artistic. The fact that Denman Thompson, dear old Josh Whitcomb, wrote the play, would draw people to witness a performance of it and it is doubtful if the play ever fell into more competent hands than with the members of the Donald Meek stock company. Most rural plays deal with the old fashioned New England character so well known in these parts and hence "Our New Minister" is of peculiar interest to New England folks.

No playwright ever knew the New England character better than Uncle DeBeyn and he has brought them all into this play together with their oddities, eccentricities, and their amusing side-lights. Like all rural plays a simple story is told with the varying emotions of pathos and humor gracefully interwoven with the inevitable satisfactory ending. Of course there's a charming little love story, the minister himself falling in love with the course of true love somewhat ruffled up through the agency of a hard-shelled old deacon.

They play is thoroughly clean and wholesome and has an uplifting influence although there is absolutely no sermonizing.

As the minister Mr. DeBeyn was never seen to better advantage and his audience was "with him" from curtain to curtain.

Donald Meek as "Darius Sturte" the village detective, was certainly a hit, and his make-up had the audience going from the start. Behind the make-up of a rube constable he completely hid every vestige of his own identity and his comedy work was delicious.

Miss Inez Buck added to her success of last week in the character of "Nance Ransom." The part is a difficult one, including as it does considerable of an emotional nature. Miss Buck gave a most artistic conception of the role and her work was highly appreciated. Dan McCabe as "Curtis Hotten," a good fellow, but not strong on going to church, presented the part most acceptably, while William Thompson was good in the exacting role of "Len Ransom," the ex-convict. Charles M. Crymble, a Lowell boy, delighted his many friends in the audience with his fine work as "Skeezle," the Bowers boy. Mr. Crymble could hand out slang as gracefully as Caruso can warble grand opera and he was a big hit from the start. Ada Allen as "Dorcas Talbot," the village gossip, supplied a goodly amount of rib comedy. The other members were all adequate to the demands upon them and a smooth and thoroughly enjoyable performance was given. The play was excellently staged but that goes without saying at the Hathaway.

THEATRE VOYONS

The average man or woman thinks seldom of the trials or privations of the physician's life and little is said about them, but today the Theatre Voyons is showing an Edison subject, "The Doctor," which tells a story of his life and how his duty interferes with one of his social engagements. It is based on the celebrated picture of the same name and is as pleasing and pathetic a picture as has been seen in many a day. The comedy is especially appropriate to the season, for it deals with the troubles two valentines cause. All these pictures are exclusively shown at the Theatre Voyons, and in what is termed a daylight theatre.

ELECTIONS RATIFIED

SAN SALVADOR, Salvador, Feb. 14.—Election of Dr. Manuel Armijo to the presidency, and of Onofre Duran to the vice presidency was ratified by congress today. They will assume office on March 1.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A capital show was presented at the Academy yesterday and was greeted by two large audiences in afternoon and evening. Mahoney Brothers and Dalsey entertain in a comedy dancing act that is full of snap. "Dalsey" the canine member of the team, is very clever in her dancing specialty, going through the evolutions of the two step and waltz with much precision. Miss Martha and Oily have a neat gymnastic act and perform some difficult stunts on the trapeze. George Deane & Co. in "A Woman's Way" have an act that will keep you in roars of laughter. Mr. Deane is a real comedian in the part of the husband that comes home after a night at the club. The picture includes a biograph comedy.

Forrest Stanley, Leading Man at 25

A leading man at 25 years of age and yet no novice is the record of Mr. Forrest Stanley whose work in "The Charity Ball" at the Opera House this week is making him a big favorite with local theatre-goers. Off the stage Mr. Stanley appears even younger than before the footlights and a number of men betting on his age at the Washington Tavern yesterday all placed it between 20 and 21.

But Mr. Stanley is old in experience, having started his career when but 15 years of age and he has worked his way up from the humble position of property boy, having done everything sent at Daly's theatre, New York, and ran for almost a year.

THE GIRL FROM RECTOR'S
"The Girl From Rector's," which had a run of over three hundred nights at Weber's music hall, New York, will be seen in this city at the Opera House for one night only, Feb. 17th. Paul M. Potter is the author of the work, and despite the fact his past has been identified with plays of a serious nature, he hit upon a vein of humor in "The Girl," which astonished even his most ardent admirers. It is a long step from a play of the nature of "Tribby," of which he was the author, to an offering like that of his latest creation. The New York critics declare that he has made a name for himself in the field of comedy which will survive his former reputation. There isn't a dull line throughout "The Girl From Rector's," and not a situation that cannot be understood and appreciated by any one. The success of the piece may be judged from the fact that its earning capacity at Weber's was many times greater than that of the same house when the Weber & Fields' offerings there were the sole topic of New York's theatre going public. Seats on sale today.

"SEVEN DAYS"
This is the stamp of approval put on "Seven Days" by Amusee's Magazine: "A veritable scream from the rising of the first curtain to the falling of the final curtain." The writer of the foregoing might have added, that the laughter doesn't end with the play, but recurs whenever one thinks of the wit and fun in it. This comedy is as the more attractive from the fact that its persons are of the twentieth century. smart set. Its fun is drawing room fun. To be sure it gets into the kitchen and climbs to the roof, but it carries the drawing room folk along with it. Underlying the laugh creating qualities of "Seven Days" is a decidedly interesting story of love and lovers, such as all the world has liked since the beginning of time. "Seven Days" will be noted at the Lowell Opera House soon by a distinguished New York cast. Messrs. Wagonhals & Kemper are sending the play here right from the Astor theatre in New York, where it is in its second year, and with a Broadway cast and production. It will be the best thing of the season.

MANY OFFICIALS
ATTENDED THE FUNERAL OF FORMER GOV. TUTTLE

PITTSFIELD, N. H., Feb. 14.—A large delegation of representatives of the official, civil and industrial life of New Hampshire came here yesterday to attend the funeral of former Gov. Tuttle, whose death occurred in this town last Friday. Special trains were run to Pittsfield from Manchester and Concord to bring from those cities former political and business associates of the late governor.

The services were held at 2 p. m. in the Congregational church and were conducted by Right Rev. Edward Parker, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New Hampshire. They were of a simple character. Musical selections brushed the footlights, even to pushing a hand over a setting and doing a little stage carpentering on the side.

Mr. Stanley is a native of Brooklyn and for the past five seasons has been playing the leading parts at the Lyceum theatre, the theatre in which he started his career 10 years ago.

Speaking of his career, Mr. Stanley said to a reporter of the Sun: "When only a little fellow I was attracted by the glare of the footlights and refused to be thoroughly happy until I got a job of some kind around a theatre. I made several unsuccessful attempts to captivate the management of the Lyceum theatre that I was just the boy to distribute programs in front, or run errands, but they told me to go home and grow and I did, but I returned at 15, big enough in my own opinion to manage the house. They looked me over and consigned me to the tender mercies of the stage manager who placed me in charge of the props. I went along carefully observing the members of the company and after a short time was given a 'bit' to play. I remained at the Lyceum for three years and then went across the water and played my first lines in England with Martha Harvey and toured Birmingham, Hull, Liverpool and London, playing at Drury Lane in the Metropolis. Upon returning to this country I went with Spencer and Ajona and with Paddy Sullivan and then went to the scene of my experience on the boards, the Lyceum. I had a stock company of my own in Troy last season and am booked for the road next season."

Mr. Stanley is a natural actor and is at home in any part to which he may be assigned. He possesses a most pleasing personality, both on and off the stage. He has a fine voice and his enunciation is faultless.

Yesterday's performances of "The Charity Ball" ran as smoothly as if the company had been playing it an entire season. "The Charity Ball" will be presented twice daily except Friday, and "Girls" will be presented next week.

CLYDE FITCH'S "GIRLS"
Clyde Fitch's brilliant comedy, "Girls," has been selected for next week's presentation by the Thompson-Flynn stock company at Lowell Opera House. It is a question if any better play of its kind has ever been written. No matter what the play might be that the brilliant author turned out, there was always somewhere in its making a gentle dig at some characteristic or folly of humanity, and usually timely and to the point. In this case, he took the question of the struggle of the unprotected young female who comes to the big city to make a living and around it build a play that is most interesting. Fitch could be bitterly sarcastic at times, but in "Girls" he was merely good humored and whimsical. The dialogue sparkles with the essence of real wit, and the situations are so spontaneous, natural and convincing that only a master mind could have conceived them. The play made an instantaneous hit when first produced at Daly's theatre, New York, and ran for almost a year.

THE active pallbearers were local employees of the former governor. The honorary pallbearers included associates of Gov. Tuttle in his banking, lumbering and railroad activities. They were Walter Parker, Manchester, J. H. Brown, Concord, S. J. Winslow, John Rand and John W. Drew of Pittsfield and James Ricker and Oscar Foss of Boston.

The schools were closed throughout the day and during the hour of the funeral all business was suspended as a tribute of respect to the memory of Pittsfield's leading citizen.

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement:
Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for seven months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by overwork, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headache, dizziness, dragging-down distress or from painful irregularities, yawning or oppressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary spots or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable catarrhs of the bladder, antenatal or retrovenal or other displacements of some or many organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for women's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the best investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of women's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same or, better still, send 31 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new, revised up-to-date Edition, 1008 pages.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it. It is not only foolish but often dangerous to do so.

SENATOR CURTIS

Made a Sharp Attack on His Colleague, Senator Bristow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—As "one of the senators from Kansas," Senator Curtis addressed the senate in opposition to a resolution proposing to submit to states a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by direct vote. All through his speech, Senator Curtis attacked his colleague, Senator Bristow, for approving of the amended resolution.

Senator Curtis said that he was in favor of a constitutional amendment looking to the election of senators by direct vote, but he was not willing that it should be so amended that Congress should give up all its rights to make or alter the regulations of a state for the election of United States senators. This, he said, was what the amended resolution would provide. The amended resolution, if its substance was approved by the states, would result in the states disfranchising colored voters if they so desired without Congress being able to raise a hand, he said.

"I strongly favor the joint resolution to provide for the election of senators by a direct vote of the people," said Curtis, "but I do not think it should be burdened with the objectionable and unfair provisions placed in it by a majority of the committee, and as one of the senators from the state of Kansas, the child of freedom, the home of John Brown, the advance agent of liberty, who gave his life to hasten the conflict which resulted in freeing the slaves, I cannot support the 'trick' or 'joker' placed in the resolution by a majority of the committee."

He continued:

"If the resolution as amended is passed, and the constitution is amended as provided therein, then the Congress gives up all its rights to make or alter the regulations of a state for the election of United States senators and if electors are disfranchised, if outrages are perpetrated, if fraud is committed, or if corrupt practices are resorted to, the Congress remains helpless."

ONE MAN KILLED

DETROIT, Feb. 14.—One man was killed, one possibly fatally injured, three men and two women were hurt and two women escaped uninjured early today when a touring car going at a high rate of speed, it is claimed, skidded on the icy pavement and crashed into a telephone pole. The dead man was Harry Nederlander, agent of an automobile company.

KILLED BY NEGROES

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 14.—A special from Stanford, Ky., says three negroes attacked three aged white men there, attempting robbery. The whites showed fight and two were killed by the negroes. Two negroes were captured but another escaped. A mob is said to be forming.

LOBSTER LAW

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 14.—The so-called egg lobster law, enacted at the last session of the legislature, and which was made a campaign issue by Lewis Waterman, the democratic candidate for governor at the last election, was endorsed by the inland fisheries commission in its annual report submitted to the general assembly today. The law provided that fishermen might catch lobsters under the legal length and sell them to the state, hatcheries at the regular rates. The commission recommended the reduction of the size of lobsters which can be caught legally from 3 to 2 inches and also asks that bass under 10 inches be protected. At present bass over 8 inches may be caught.

STOCK MARKET

WAS HEAVY AT THE CLOSING HOUR TODAY

Some Active Selling Late in the Day—Leading Stocks Went Off to Below Saturday's Close

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Accumulation of buying orders over the holiday imparted some strength to the market at the opening today. The most conspicuous gains were a point in Wisconsin Cen. Gt. Northern Ore. car lines and Duluth South Shore and Atlantic pfd. 1/2 in Reading and 1/2 in International Harvester and C. P. R. Gains established in the active market at the opening were not maintained long. Prices reacted as soon as the early buying orders had been filled. Reading fell 1/2 to Saturday's close. Speculation became lifeless as the market had relaxed to last week's level. Int. Paper sagged 1/2 and the pfd. 1. United States Rubber and Bethlehem Steel pfd. gained 1/2.

The market ruled dull and showed a fairly good undertone throughout the morning session. Bear operators made no determined efforts to sell and there was further covering of short contracts in spots. C. P. R. advanced to 21 3/4, a new high record.

The announcement of the financing by the New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio railroads was without immediate effect on the stock market, which continued extremely dull around last week's closing figures. Lehigh Valley was sold down a point but Missouri Pacific went a peg higher, touching 58.

Continued strength in Missouri Pacific led to resumption of pool operations in Gould stocks. Wabash pfd. advanced 2 points. Denver & Rio Grande and Texas & Pacific 1 and the others fractions. The general list was neglected. Colorado & Southern dropped 2 1/2.

The market closed heavy. The failure of the market to respond to the strength shown by the Canadian and Gould groups caused some active profit selling late in the day, and the leading stocks went off to below Saturday's close. General Chemical sold a 120, compared with 104 1/2, the previous sale last month.

STATION AGENT

TO WED GIRL HE SNATCHED FROM DEATH

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Behind the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Ernestine Steele, of Springs, N. Y., and Lewis Thayer, station agent at Amherst, is the story of a romance that had its inception almost two years ago, when Thayer, stepped in front of the "Cannon Ball" railroad train, to save the girl's life.

Station Agent Thayer was standing on the platform of his station when he saw Miss Steele start to cross the tracks in front of the approaching train. Bystanders shouted a warning, and becoming confused, the girl stood still between the rails. Thayer sprang at her and sent her spinning out of the locomotive's way. He himself leaped after her just in time.

The frightened girl wished to know to whom she was indebted for her life, and, of course, the blushing station agent desired to know to whom he was indebted for several of the sweetest smiles he had ever received.

Their acquaintance developed fast and their friends were not greatly surprised at the announcement that they will be married early next spring.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Frank Boyle Knocked Down by Falling Glass

But Fortunately He Escaped Being Cut—Glass Fell From Top Story of Mansur Building Into Market Street as Boyle Was Walking Along Sidewalk

A man named Frank Boyle, who got away before his address could be learned, should always remember St. Valentine's day with feelings of deep gratitude for it, even if man had a miraculous escape from frightful and probably fatal injuries, Boyle is the man.

Boyle was walking along Market street toward Central shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. He was clad in a heavy Scotch cap and overcoat. Just as he reached a point in front of Cheney & Thompson's store a large light of glass came toppling down from the fourth or top floor of the Mansur building, striking him squarely on the head with sufficient force to knock him to the ground.

As the glass struck him it shattered into atoms with a tremendous crash that was heard for quite a distance and the shower went in all directions and on top of the prostrate Boyle.

Before assistance could get to him he arose, rubbed his head and walked away before it could be learned whether or he had been cut or not.

The glass fell flat, the broadside striking his cap. Had it fallen edge-wise undoubtedly it would have cut into his skull, for dropping four stories it had acquired great momentum and being about three feet square had considerable weight. Those who witnessed the accident were terror-stricken for a moment until Boyle regained his feet and started away for it was apparent the moment the crash of the breaking glass was heard what had knocked him down and those who ran to his assistance expected to find him cut to pieces. As far as could be learned he didn't sustain any serious injuries.

A moment later the face of a colored window-washer appeared in the aperture made by the departure of the glass from its framework looking down to the sidewalk and if ever a person of color looked "whitey" with fear it was that boy. It is believed that the colored youth while washing the window on the inside leaned too heavily on the glass causing it to fall out.

AT THE ARMORY

Big Tournament for Military Companies Opened Last Night

The sporting season at the Lowell armory in Westford street commenced last evening, when the first of a series of contests between Companies C, G and K, of the Sixth regiment and M of the Ninth was held. The contest is to last 12 weeks and includes basketball, bowling, revolver and rifle shooting.

It is understood that the sports idea originates with Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson of this city, who has always believed that the dull routine of army life should be enlivened by contests of some kind. To this end Adj. Gen. Pearson will endeavor to arrange for sporting events in every Massachusetts armory which seems to him a standstill.

The schedule and rules of the contests are as follows:

Feb. 20—"C" vs. "M."
Feb. 27—"M" vs. "G."
Mar. 6—"K" vs. "C."
Mar. 13—"K" vs. "M."
Mar. 20—"C" vs. "G."
Mar. 27—"K" vs. "G."
Apr. 3—"M" vs. "C."
Apr. 10—"K" vs. "M."
Apr. 17—"G" vs. "C."
Apr. 24—"G" vs. "M."
May 1—"K" vs. "C."

Rules for the Contests
1—Contestants must be members of this association who have been duly mustered into the service at least 30 days. (Failure to observe this rule will forfeit points in that particular event.)
2—Five members constitute a team, and one man cannot serve on more than one team on the same date.
3—Contestants must appear promptly at 8 o'clock on night scheduled. Bowling teams failing to appear by 8.15 will forfeit games and points involved.
4—Team winning largest number of points will be declared winner of the tournament trophy for season of 1911.
5—Points are to be awarded as follows:

Bowling: (Candle pins—3 strings) one point for each string, one point for total pinfall. Total, 4 points.
Indoor rifle practice: Each match, 4 points.
Total, 4 points.
Basketball: Each game, Total, 4 points.

Members must compete in at least 75 per cent of the matches to be eligible for prizes. Prizes will consist of tournament championship trophy, trophy for team winning highest number of points in bowling, trophy for team winning highest number of points in basketball, trophy for rifle team winning highest number of points. Smaller cups will be given to individual members of winning teams. First and second individual prizes will be given for highest average bowling.

The armory is now equipped with a new range, which is one of the latest devices for determining the accuracy of shots. The principal feature of this range is the movable target which hangs from a wire and is placed in position by turning a handle directly on the spot where the marksmen stands. As soon as a shot is fired, the handle is turned, with the result that the target comes rapidly along the wire to the man who is shooting and the perforation in the cardboard tells the score. Little pieces of white paper are quickly passed to the marksmen and the target moves back to its original position. This is absolutely safe, for the reason that no one is required to stand near the target at the time the bullets penetrate it. The range is the only one of its kind in this part of the country and was put up by E. W. Doudle of this city, under the government's supervision.

The contest was opened last night by Companies G and K, and the members of the former company carried off the honors in the matter of total points scored. Basketball, however, rifle tournament were the main features of the contest.

A large crowd was present and appreciated the affair to its full extent. The most interesting feature of the evening was the basketball game between Companies G and K, the former getting an easy victory over their opponents, by a score of 37 to 5.

The score and summary were as follows:

Co. G
McCookin 17
Jodoin 11
Paul 10
Keefer 10
St. Peter 10
Summary: Score, Co. G 37, Co. K 5. Score at end of first half, 16-4. Goals, Jodoin 9, St. Peter 3, McCookin 3, Paul 3, McCarthy 1, Carl 1, Cashin 1. Fouls, by Co. K, 3; by Co. G, 2. Time, 20 min. Halves, Referee, Linscott. Timers, Luce and Flinders.

Then came the rifle and bowling tournaments, which were held down stairs. After an hour of shooting, the targets shot at by the contestants were examined by several officers, and the count showed 408 to 337 in favor of Co. K. This gave K four points offsetting the points scored by G in the basketball game. A summary of the scores made is as follows:

Co. K—Muskan Greeley, 50; Private Savage, 41; Private Fox, 32; Private Page, 30; Sergt. Stevens, 35. Total, 408.

Company G—Sergt. Barnes, 73; Private Archie Alfano, 17; Private Alfonso Alfano, 51; Private Barnes, 74; Lieut. Doyle, 32. Total, 237.

Bowling was also very interesting and Co. G clinched the first series by winning four points in bowling. Company G won every string and the score was as follows:

Company G
Crowley ..... 80 72 38 240
Morlarity ..... 51 70 72 208
Jeyes ..... 86 77 80 243
Shughnessy ..... 57 63 64 204
Wood ..... 85 91 88 264
Totals ..... 369 393 392 1154

Company K
Huntley ..... 78 84 78 240
Greig ..... 83 81 83 247
Laycock ..... 76 82 79 237
Davis ..... 56 65 69 191
Scott ..... 67 55 57 189
Totals ..... 360 378 376 1114

General Items
It is understood that Lieut. Bernard M. McArdie, of Company M, ninth regiment is to turn in his resignation at the company's regular meeting to be held tonight. If so, the election for the vacancy created by the resignation of Lieut. McArdie, will take place a week from Friday. The candidates for the position are: Sergt. Sheldon, Sergt. Dupree and Sergt. Stevens, the latter being second lieutenant of the same company.

Company G will also hold elections a week from Thursday to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Lieut. Fred Moltram, whose resignation took effect a couple of weeks ago. The only candidate for the position at the present time is Private Fred Campbell, who is a graduate of the Norwich military school.

Company M, Ninth regiment will hold a social and dance this evening in the drill shed at the armory, and tomorrow evening, Co. C, sixth regiment will have its prize drill and at the same time will have a dance for the members and friends.

The members of the national guard of this city have been invited to attend the meeting of the National Guard to be held at the American house, Hanover street, Boston. Major Walter J. Penfield of the U. S. has been detailed by the war department to address the meeting which will be in the line of a smoke talk. The major will speak on the new infantry held belt and pack, new canteen, rifle equipped with telescopic sight and silencer, automatic pistols and revolvers, field sabre, trenching tools, ration cans, etc. The speaker will have two soldiers with him to use as models to show the difference between the former and the new equipments. Many of the local officers will attend this meeting.

It is a positive fact that the Spanish War Veterans will hold their convention in the local armory on April 13. The members of the national guard of this city have been invited to attend in uniform the annual ball of Butler company, No. 16, K. of P. which will be held some time this month.

The militiamen are pleased of the fact that the pom-poms worn on their caps have been called in. They were used as ornaments only and were a nuisance.

A new basketball fence has been put in the armory and the men expect soon to have a fully equipped gymnasium.

GASOLENE STEAMER WRECKED IN A STORM

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 14.—Captain Thomas Latham and five of the crew of ten were drowned yesterday when the gasoline steamer "Oskosh" was wrecked in a storm on the south spit of the Columbia river.

CURES SORE AND TIRED FEET

Ordinary antiseptic vilane powder has many valuable uses, but probably few persons know what wonderful power it has over sore, tired, aching or calloused feet. It draws all the soreness out, checks excessive perspiration, prevents congestion and cold feet, while it removes corns, bunions and calluses. Many physicians know its worth, and the public can be saved much suffering by its use.

If the reader wishes to try it, obtain of any leading druggist two ounces of vilane powder. To a gallon of steaming water add a tablespoonful of the powder and a tablespoonful of salt, and keep the feet immersed from 10 to 20 minutes every night for several weeks.

ROCHESTER LADY SAYS:
Mrs. J. Stewart, Rochester, New York, says: "Having given Blackburn's CascaRoyal Pills a trial, I find them superior to any other medicine we have ever tried for sick headache and constipation. You have my mission to do as you please with this letter, etc."

If you have suffered for years with constipation, and have not found anything which would relieve and restore a normal condition of the bowels, you should write to The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, and obtain a free trial package of Blackburn's CascaRoyal Pills, or you can obtain a 30-day supply from any well stocked drug store.

CRIME INCREASES

Report Alarms and Puzzles Britons

LONDON, Feb. 14.—A blue book just issued giving the judicial statistics of England and Wales indicates that during the period of 1904-5 (the annual average of persons tried for indictable offences was 52,293; for 1899-1903 it was 55,018; for 1904-5 it had risen to 56,200. In 1905 it increased to 63,111, the largest number on record. In 1909 it fell to 67,140. Inasmuch as the statistics of the latter half of the last century showed a steadily diminishing rate of crime, the record for this century is far from comforting to Britons.

In an introduction to this blue book, written by Mr. H. B. Simpson, principal clerk of the home office, he accounts—not officially—for the present situation. It is due in his opinion to "a growing indisposition to prosecute for offences of a less serious kind, a growing inclination toward leniency to first offenders, a growing reluctance to take the trouble to prosecute the thief, who, if he is convicted, is likely to be let off with little or no punishment; and it is consequently probable that the real increase in crime has been even greater than is shown by the figures relating to the number of persons prosecuted."

Mr. Simpson says that since 1898 there has been marked increase in the sentiment of compassion and a tendency to side with the lawbreaker in his conflict against the law. There is too much talk as if crime were simply the outcome of the revolt of the poor against the rich. "The feeling of dissatisfaction with the inequalities of our existing social system at the present time is so deep and general that any one professing to take part in such a revolt may count on securing a good deal of public sympathy."

Coming at a time when Mr. Winston Churchill as a cabinet official, is leading a "reform" which has for its mission the lessening of some of the hardships of criminals, and at a time when Mr. Galsworthy, the dramatic and fiction writer, is casting his influence in the same direction, "The feeling of dissatisfaction against sentimentalism in connection with crime and the presumable evil it works is the more suggestive and valuable."

COL. BALFOUR

BROTHER OF A. J. BALFOUR DIED TODAY

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Col. E. J. A. Balfour, brother of A. J. Balfour, M. P., died today. He was formerly an officer of the Scottish army and subsequently aide de camp to King Edward and King George. He was the fifth son of the late James Balfour, M. P., and in 1879 married Lady Francis Campbell, fifth daughter of the eighth duke of Argyll.

ORDNANCE EXPERTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—In the light of fuller reports of the firing test in the lower Potomac river last Friday when twelve high shells fired by the monitor Tallahassee penetrated armored plates projected on the rear of Kalaidin at a distance of 300 yards naval ordnance experts have reiterated their contention that service projectiles retain their effectiveness at long battle ranges. The first shot which struck the target, according to the more complete reports, penetrated the armor but the shell was broken to pieces. The second projectile struck the top of the forward target, dug out a piece of steel measuring three and one-half feet and six feet and glanced off. It is not known whether or not this shell was broken. The third and fourth shots completely penetrated the larger of the two targets. The third bored a clean hole; the fourth likewise pierced the thick plate and in addition tore off a big piece of steel. The third and fourth shells disappeared in the water but as no fragments of them could be found anywhere in the vicinity of the target experts maintain that the shells did not break. None of the shells was loaded with explosives, the test being designed to determine the penetrating power of the projectiles.

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—General discussion of the Pan-American conference scheduled for today's session of the Pan-American commercial conference. Diplomatic representatives of Latin America in Washington, state department officials and trade experts were scheduled to take part. Among the speakers on today's program were: Hon. William Wilson, assistant secretary of state, Charles Sherrill, United States minister to Argentina, Isaac Manning, consul at La Guaira, Venezuela, and Lewis Nixon, who represented the United States at the fourth Pan-American conference at Buenos Ayres last summer.

INSURRECTOS

Were Held for the Grand Jury

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 14.—The nine Insurrectos who crossed the international border line into New Mexico and who were arrested by United States troops Friday had an examining trial at Las Cruces yesterday and were bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Being unable to give bond fixed at $200 each they must be in jail until the grand jury meets the first Monday in April.

The second annual sleighride party of the employees of the D. L. Page Co. was held last night, and was attended by about 50 people, who had a splendid time.

The party left the corner of John and Merrimack streets at 8 o'clock and journeyed to Tyngsboro town hall, where general dancing was enjoyed till midnight. A fine supper was served by Mrs. Ann Andrews. The return was made soon after the midnight hour, the party arriving in the city after 1 o'clock. Dudley McLoon had general charge, and he was assisted by W. J. Johnson.

JOHN CARRERE

THE INJURED ARCHITECT REPORTED TO BE IMPROVING

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Some improvement in the condition of John M. Carrere, the architect, who was injured in an auto accident Sunday, was noted today at the Presbyterian hospital. The patient passed a fairly restful night, (the hospital authorities reported, and gained partial consciousness at intervals. While still critically ill from concussion of the brain, there was a slight improvement in his ultimate full recovery if the steady improvement so far noted should continue as was expected.

SIMPLE TREATMENT FOR A VELVETY COMPLEXION

Mrs. Mae Martyn, authority on health and beauty, writing for the Los Angeles Examiner, says: "Society women are discarding face powders and cosmetics and taking to liquid preparations, because powder tends to stop up the pores and roughens the skin, ruining a complexion, while a good lotion clears the skin and keeps it in a healthy condition."

The lotion most popular in exclusive circles is made of glycerine and is prepared by dissolving 4 ounces of spumax in 1/2 pint hot water, then adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This is much nicer to apply than powder and does not rub off easily. It is inexpensive, and its use soon produces a soft and velvety complexion. "Women using this recipe find it splendid for rough or oily skins; as it clears as well as beautifies."

THE NOMINATION OF MR. LEGARE

In naming Joseph A. Legare for the position of postmaster as successor to the late Postmaster Thompson, Congressman Ames has selected a young man who by education and training is eminently fitted for the position. There were other good men in the race for this office, but the fact that the nomination was made so quickly after the vacancy occurred, indicates that no other candidate was considered. Mr. Legare as the confidential friend and private secretary of the congressman was evidently his first and only choice. Besides being a lawyer and having valuable experience in Washington, Mr. Legare is widely known throughout the district, and no doubt this and the fact that he represents a distinct and growing political element in Lawrence and Lowell, in all probability dictated his appointment.

ALL SEASONS OPEN ON SKUNKS

According to certain legislators in Connecticut it would appear to be good policy to go into the business of raising skunks. The legislature of the Nutmeg state has provided for a closed season on skunks, the open season being that in which the fur is marketable at $1 a pelt. The Massachusetts legislature wrestled with the skunk question, the people who wanted a closed season, asserting that the skunk devoured a lot of insect pests that are destructive to crops and that in consequence it is the friend of the farmer. To this the farmers demurred, charging that the skunk is a destructive midnight prowler about poultry yards, and that the harm it does is 100 times as great as the good. The farmers knew whereof they spoke; the legislators had had little experience with real skunks and having a dislike for skunks both real and figurative, they decided not to throw the protection of the law around an animal that can only give back the odor of mephitic mephitica.

BRITISH LIBERALS FAVOR RECIPROCITY

The British Liberals have lost no time in taking a positive stand in favor of free trade and against any policy of imperial preference from the colonies such as is advocated by the Unionists. This action by the Liberals means that no opposition to reciprocity may be feared from London and hence Canada will be free to negotiate with the United States as she may see fit, and her action will be endorsed by the imperial government. If the British parliament adopts a free trade policy at home, it cannot logically object to a measure of free trade between Canada and the United States. That clears the way on the other side of the border for freedom of action that the Unionists would deny were they in power. Thus one more excuse for opposing the agreement has been removed. President Taft is pushing the reciprocity pact and threatening republicans with grave consequences if this reciprocity measure be not adopted. This comes like a death-bed repentance. The president sees the handwriting on the wall, and this is the means by which he hopes to have its fateful meaning set aside.

NATIONALITIES IN LAWRENCE SCHOOLS

The cosmopolitan character of the population of the city of Lawrence is shown by the school statistics presented by Supt. Sheridan. Out of 8288 pupils attending the schools the nationality was distributed as follows:

American	2700	Irish	520
Armenian	19	Italian	702
Austrian	57	Portuguese	63
Belgian	26	Jew and Lithuanian	872
Canadian	553	Scotch	250
English	920	Syrian	153
French	57	Unclassified	84
German	737

Lawrence is strong in the German nationality as in Italian and Russian Jews, none of which has any large representation in Lowell. The Irish and French children for the most part attend the parochial schools, so that the percentage in this table does not show the numerical proportion of either. Lowell on the contrary has many Greeks whereas Lawrence has very few.

SAN FRANCISCO'S VICTORY

San Francisco is to have the Panama Exposition of 1915. Congress, after a long discussion, so decided. This does not prove that the city of San Francisco is better adapted to the purpose than New Orleans, but it does prove that the city of the Golden Gate put up the better fight. It also put up more money which means that it showed greater public spirit than did its rival in the contest. The members of congress would rather go westward than southward. The climate is more agreeable; there is less danger of disease; the scenery is better and the new city risen from the ruins of the old has its charms for the men who decide such questions at Washington. The western orators exhausted the English vocabulary in describing the scenery along the routes leading to the Golden Gate from the north, the east and the south. Oh, what an education to journey across the Rocky mountains, across the wide prairies and the picturesque country along the trans-continental lines of railway! In view of this decision in favor of San Francisco and its great possibilities we may recall those well-known lines of Bishop Berkeley:

Westward the course of empire takes its way;
The four first acts already past,
A fifth shall close the drama with the day;
Time's noblest offspring in the last."

SEEN AND HEARD

This is St. Valentine's day and what did you receive in the way of valentines? Were they horrid old things, or something nice?

The following has to do with the deaths of presidents and is interesting as matter of record and history:

George Washington contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia, proving fatal Dec. 14, 1799. He was buried at Mt. Vernon.

John Adams died July 4, 1826, from senile debility and was buried in the First Congregational church, Quincy, Mass.

James Madison died of old age June 28, 1836, and was buried at Montpelier, Va.

Jos. Monroe died of general debility July 4, 1831. He was buried in the Hollywood cemetery, Richmond, Va.

John Quincy Adams died Feb. 23, 1848 of a stroke of paralysis, with which he was attacked while in the house of representatives at Washington. He was buried in the First Congregational church at Quincy, Mass., beside his father.

Andrew Jackson died of consumption June 8, 1845, and was buried on his estate, the Hermitage, near Nashville, Tenn.

Martin Van Buren died of asthmatic calarh July 24, 1862, and was buried at Kinderhook, N. Y.

William Henry Harrison caught a severe cold the day of his inauguration which developed into pleurisy from which he died April 4, 1841. He was buried at North Bend, O.

John Tyler died of a bilious attack Jan. 17, 1862, and was buried at Richmond, Va.

Zachary Taylor died of bilious fever July 9, 1850, and was buried on his estate near Louisville, Ky.

James K. Polk died of chronic diarrhoea June 15, 1849, and was buried on his estate near Nashville, Tenn.

Millard Fillmore died of debility on March 8, 1874, and was buried in Forest Lawn cemetery at Buffalo, N. Y.

Franklin Pierce died of inflammation of the stomach Oct. 8, 1869, and was buried at Concord, N. H.

James Buchanan was for many years a sufferer from rheumatism and gout, from which he finally died June 1, 1868. He was buried at Lancaster, Pa.

Abraham Lincoln was assassinated at Washington April 15, 1865, and is buried at Springfield, Ill.

Andrew Johnson's death on July 31, 1875, was caused by paralysis, and he is buried at Greenville, Tenn.

Ulysses S. Grant died July 23, 1885, after a long struggle from cancer of the throat, and his body lies in a mausoleum at Riverside park, New York city.

Rutherford B. Hayes died of paralysis of the heart Jan. 17, 1893, and was buried at Fremont, O.

James A. Garfield was shot and died at Atlantic City, Sept. 19, 1881. He is buried at Cleveland, O.

Chester A. Arthur died of Bright's disease Nov. 17, 1885, and his grave is in Rural cemetery, Albany, N. Y.

Grover Cleveland died of debility on June 24, 1895, and is buried at Princeton, N. J.

Benjamin Harrison died of pneumonia March 13, 1901, and is buried at Indianapolis.

William McKinley was the third of the presidents to be assassinated, and died at Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1901. He is buried at Canton, O.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Moorfield Storey of Boston has been selected to deliver the William L. Storrs lectures at Yale this year. These lectures were established in the law school in 1889 by the Misses E. T. and M. A. Robinson of Hartford, in memory of William Lucius Storrs. Judge Storrs was a professor in the law school and chief justice of the supreme court of Connecticut. A course of five or six lectures is given annually on this foundation. Mr. Storey's subject is not yet announced.

Miss Frances Taft Wellesley, 1909, will sail from San Francisco Feb. 15, for Peking, China, to establish a branch of Young Women's Christian association work under the auspices of the National Y. W. C. A. As Miss Taft is a Wellesley graduate, members of the college have been especially interested in contributing toward her outfit and expenses. Miss Grace L. Bourne, a graduate in 1910, and president last year of the Christian association, will sail with Miss Taft to study and travel for a year in the east.

The general education board, founded by the Rockefeller foundation, has voted to give $100,000 to Brown university, the gift to be made applicable upon the raising of the remainder of the $1,000,000 endowment fund which the university authorities are making efforts to obtain. The same board recently gave $50,000 toward the $200,000 of the $1,000,000 just announced constitutes the needs of the women's college. The total which the university must raise elsewhere is $850,000. When the additional sum is secured the general education board's gift is made available. The $50,000 gift for the women's college was announced recently by the Rockefeller board. The additional gift of $100,000 just announced constitutes a big step toward securing the remainder of the funds, President Faunce says that the committee has already received several large gifts toward the fund, the origin of which he is not yet at liberty to state.

CASSIUS M. CLAY

Said to Have Forced First Nomination of Lincoln

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Now, and what are believed to be hitherto unpublished incidents concerning the politics which gave Abraham Lincoln the republican nomination for president the first time were told here yesterday in an address before the Hamilton club by Addison C. Proctor of St. Joseph, Mo., who believes himself the only surviving member of the famous "split rail" convention.

Mr. Proctor gives one man, Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky, the credit for forcing the nomination of Lincoln from a chaotic disorganized opposition to the regular candidate for the nomination, William H. Seward of New York. This is how Clay's influence was exerted, as related by Mr. Proctor:

"When the convention opened Mr. Seward's interests were in the hands of Thurlow Weed, and were well organized. The opposition, of which Horace Greeley was the dominant figure, was absolutely without organization or community of desire.

"To show how much without aim we were working, I recall that Mr. Greeley said to us within thirty hours of the time for balloting, answering a question as to whom we should unite upon to oppose Seward, 'I think well of Edward Bates of Missouri; he is a strong man, and I believe one of the best we could nominate.'

"How about Lincoln?" we asked, and Greeley replied:

"While Mr. Lincoln is an adroit politician, he lacks experience in public affairs and while we are drifting toward a crisis, I do not believe the country will trust a man so lacking in experience in national affairs."

"We were discussing matters in the old Belge house in Chicago when Mr. Clay and his mountain men from western Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky arrived. Clay was a man of most interesting personality and he headed an interesting group.

"We are on the eve of a great civil war," began Mr. Clay, but we of Kansas were used to strong words and smiled. The mountaineer looked at us sternly, and continued:

"We know not what your platform plans are, and I am here to say that if a candidate is nominated on that platform the south will make an attempt to dissolve the union. Your southern border extends from Maryland to Missouri, and on this side stands a determined body of men, resolute that the union shall not be destroyed except after a most desperate struggle.

"It makes a great difference to you whom you nominate, thundered on the tall Kentuckian, and it makes a much more vital difference to us. Our homes and all we possess are in peril. We demand of you a candidate who will inspire our courage and confidence.

"We call upon you to nominate Abraham Lincoln, who knows us and understands our aspirations. Give us Lincoln and we will push back your battle line from the Ohio river to the Tennessee, where it belongs. Give us Lincoln and we will unite the strength of our union sentiment with the union army and bring success to your legions. Do this for us," pleaded the speaker, and we will go home and prepare for the conflict.

"We saw things from a new angle. It was no longer a question of fighting slavery, but of saving the union. Lincoln was nominated."

FOR LAMINITIS

Dr. Daniels Explains the

Treatment

Laminitis varies in different cases, influenced by cause, previous condition, the severity of the attack, and the kind of treatment given, the early symptoms are not often noticed. While the animal is at work, perhaps a stumbling, perhaps excessive perspiration, possibly extra heavy breathing may hint at the coming trouble, but generally nothing is noticed until the animal has stood some time after being worked, when we notice he suddenly becomes stiff and sore. The inflammation causing this lameness goes on rapidly involving soon the entire foot and unless relieved leads to many disorders, pneumonia, Sidelocks, Paddies, Punctured Sole and so on. Hence get busy at once and remove the inflammation as soon as possible. Every minute of delay is costly and risky. Don't think or say he'll be all right in the morning. The beginning of the trouble is the time to expect quick relief. Twenty-four hours may put you to a lot of trouble and loss for the acute form soon passes into the subacute and then to the chronic state when cure becomes impossible and we have the ever lame horse, the wasting away of the coffin bone, deficient bone strength which grows spongy, dry and crumbling with the other defects above mentioned. After the case has reached this condition laminitis is easy to diagnose. The foot is warm, sensitive, swollen, the foot is hot, the horse is down, the turns up, the heel too long, knocking of the fetlock and so on. The treatment is varied and judgment is in order. There are two points in view, preventing and curing. Preventing, of course, is of first importance and it is much easier than curing. We must first overcome any predisposing causes known to us. Do not work too hard the over fat horses. Use care in their treatment in hot weather. Green horses should always have gradual work put upon them, especially if from the country to paved streets. A change in the stable and feed must be considered in some sensitive cases. Horses on the farm or track horses after a winter's rest should not be worked out gradually. Protect the horse from draught and wind, when in a heated condition. Do not be afraid to use blankets just because "it's warm." A draught of cool wind at this time does the trick. Don't drive working horses through the cold brook or wash their legs when just in from a heated trip, and do not make rapid changes in style of shoeing. Make the change gradual. If a horse has been fed oats and hay, only, don't give a feed of corn. Mix the corn a little at first with the oats, and then other feeds. Corn is dangerous to feed some horses in hot weather. When the horse shows lameness in one foot, take off the shoes at once and apply warm water, or alternating hot and cold water to both feet. Do them up in burlap bags, keeping them wet for a few days. Use sling to take off the weight when possible. Keep blankets warm. Give Acornite or some good fever medicine. Half ounce doses of saltpeter in the drinking water three times a day. In some conditions give diuretics. If active congestion cold water only to the feet. Stand the feet into tub of cold water or if the animal is down swabs on the feet kept wet in cold water, and three or four ounces of saltpeter in a pint of water, once in six hours, for a week, will do much in Acute Laminitis.

CHELMSFORD

The two games of basketball were played in the town hall Saturday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The only games these two teams have lost during the season have been to each other on the third and deciding game, to be played in March, will be awaited with interest.

The Five of Diamonds, in defeating the Alumni five by the score of 39 to 8, gained its first victory of the season. In spite of the one-sided score, some excellent floor and team work was done by the Alumni. The members of the Five of Diamonds had acquired a skill in shooting baskets, together with good passing that their opponents could not seem to block. The summary:

Tigers: Dutton 11, Baldwin 11, Paschoe 6, Douglas 10, Russell 10. Firemen: Sweetser 11, A. Carl 11, C. A. House 11, W. Johnson 11, G. House 11, Fletcher 11, Sheehan 11. Score: Tigers 16; Firemen 12. Goals from floor, Paschoe 3, Baldwin 2, Dutton 1, Russell 1, W. Johnson 1, C. House 2, Goals from fouls, Dutton 2, A. House 6, Fletcher 3, Charles Brock 1, (then V. L. Parkhurst, scorer, Lester Smith. Time, 20 minute periods.

Hence get busy at once and remove the inflammation as soon as possible. Every minute of delay is costly and risky. Don't think or say he'll be all right in the morning. The beginning of the trouble is the time to expect quick relief. Twenty-four hours may put you to a lot of trouble and loss for the acute form soon passes into the subacute and then to the chronic state when cure becomes impossible and we have the ever lame horse, the wasting away of the coffin bone, deficient bone strength which grows spongy, dry and crumbling with the other defects above mentioned. After the case has reached this condition laminitis is easy to diagnose. The foot is warm, sensitive, swollen, the foot is hot, the horse is down, the turns up, the heel too long, knocking of the fetlock and so on. The treatment is varied and judgment is in order. There are two points in view, preventing and curing. Preventing, of course, is of first importance and it is much easier than curing. We must first overcome any predisposing causes known to us. Do not work too hard the over fat horses. Use care in their treatment in hot weather. Green horses should always have gradual work put upon them, especially if from the country to paved streets. A change in the stable and feed must be considered in some sensitive cases. Horses on the farm or track horses after a winter's rest should not be worked out gradually. Protect the horse from draught and wind, when in a heated condition. Do not be afraid to use blankets just because "it's warm." A draught of cool wind at this time does the trick. Don't drive working horses through the cold brook or wash their legs when just in from a heated trip, and do not make rapid changes in style of shoeing. Make the change gradual. If a horse has been fed oats and hay, only, don't give a feed of corn. Mix the corn a little at first with the oats, and then other feeds. Corn is dangerous to feed some horses in hot weather. When the horse shows lameness in one foot, take off the shoes at once and apply warm water, or alternating hot and cold water to both feet. Do them up in burlap bags, keeping them wet for a few days. Use sling to take off the weight when possible. Keep blankets warm. Give Acornite or some good fever medicine. Half ounce doses of saltpeter in the drinking water three times a day. In some conditions give diuretics. If active congestion cold water only to the feet. Stand the feet into tub of cold water or if the animal is down swabs on the feet kept wet in cold water, and three or four ounces of saltpeter in a pint of water, once in six hours, for a week, will do much in Acute Laminitis.

The two games of basketball were played in the town hall Saturday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The only games these two teams have lost during the season have been to each other on the third and deciding game, to be played in March, will be awaited with interest.

The Five of Diamonds, in defeating the Alumni five by the score of 39 to 8, gained its first victory of the season. In spite of the one-sided score, some excellent floor and team work was done by the Alumni. The members of the Five of Diamonds had acquired a skill in shooting baskets, together with good passing that their opponents could not seem to block. The summary:

Treatment

Laminitis varies in different cases, influenced by cause, previous condition, the severity of the attack, and the kind of treatment given, the early symptoms are not often noticed. While the animal is at work, perhaps a stumbling, perhaps excessive perspiration, possibly extra heavy breathing may hint at the coming trouble, but generally nothing is noticed until the animal has stood some time after being worked, when we notice he suddenly becomes stiff and sore. The inflammation causing this lameness goes on rapidly involving soon the entire foot and unless relieved leads to many disorders, pneumonia, Sidelocks, Paddies, Punctured Sole and so on. Hence get busy at once and remove the inflammation as soon as possible. Every minute of delay is costly and risky. Don't think or say he'll be all right in the morning. ## THE NOMINATION OF MR. LEGARE

In naming Joseph A. Legare for the position of postmaster as successor to the late Postmaster Thompson, Congressman Ames has selected a young man who by education and training is eminently fitted for the position. There were other good men in the race for this office, but the fact that the nomination was made so quickly after the vacancy occurred, indicates that no other candidate was considered. Mr. Legare as the confidential friend and private secretary of the congressman was evidently his first and only choice. Besides being a lawyer and having valuable experience in Washington, Mr. Legare is widely known throughout the district, and no doubt this and the fact that he represents a distinct and growing political element in Lawrence and Lowell, in all probability dictated his appointment.

ALL SEASONS OPEN ON SKUNKS

According to certain legislators in Connecticut it would appear to be good policy to go into the business of raising skunks. The legislature of the Nutmeg state has provided for a closed season on skunks, the open season being that in which the fur is marketable at $1 a pelt. The Massachusetts legislature wrestled with the skunk question, the people who wanted a closed season, asserting that the skunk devoured a lot of insect pests that are destructive to crops and that in consequence it is the friend of the farmer. To this the farmers demurred, charging that the skunk is a destructive midnight prowler about poultry yards, and that the harm it does is 100 times as great as the good. The farmers know whereof they spoke; the legislators had had little experience with real skunks and having a dislike for skunks both real and figurative, they decided not to throw the protection of the law around an animal that can only give back the odor of mephitic mephitism.

BRITISH LIBERALS FAVOR RECIPROCITY

The British Liberals have lost no time in taking a positive stand in favor of free trade and against any policy of imperial preference from the colonies such as is advocated by the Unionists. This action by the Liberals means that no opposition to reciprocity may be feared from London and hence Canada will be free to negotiate with the United States as she may see fit, and her action will be endorsed by the imperial government. If the British parliament adopts a free trade policy at home, it cannot logically object to a measure of free trade between Canada and the United States. That clears the way on the other side of the border for freedom of action that the Unionists would deny were they in power. Thus one more excuse for opposing the agreement has been removed. President Taft is pushing the reciprocity pact and threatening republicans with grave consequences if this reciprocity measure be not adopted. This comes like a death-bed repentance. The president sees the handwriting on the wall, and this is the means by which he hopes to have its fateful meaning set aside.

NATIONALITIES IN LAWRENCE SCHOOLS

The cosmopolitan character of the population of the city of Lawrence is shown by the school statistics presented by Supt. Sheridan. Out of 8288 pupils attending the schools the nationality was distributed as follows:

American	2700	Irish	920
Armenian	15	Italian	763
Austrian	57	Portuguese	69
Belgian	26	Jew and Lithuanian	572
Canadian	552	Scotch	230
English	930	Syrian	152
French	67	Unclassified	84
German	737

Lawrence is strong in the German nationality as in Italian and Russian Jews, none of which has any large representation in Lowell. The Irish and French children for the most part attend the parochial schools, so that the percentage in this table does not show the numerical proportion of either. Lowell on the contrary has many Greeks whereas Lawrence has very few.

SAN FRANCISCO'S VICTORY

San Francisco is to have the Panama Exposition of 1915. Congress, after a long discussion, so decided. This does not prove that the city of San Francisco is better adapted to the purpose than New Orleans, but it does prove that the city of the Golden Gate put up the better fight. It also put up more money which means that it showed greater public spirit than did its rival in the contest. The members of congress would rather go westward than southward. The climate is more agreeable; there is less danger of disease; the scenery is better and the new city risen from the ruins of the old has its charms for the men who decide such questions at Washington. The western orators exhausted the English vocabulary in describing the scenery along the routes leading to the Golden Gate from the north, the east and the south. Oh, what an education to journey across the Rocky mountains, across the wide prairies and the picturesque country along the trans-continentals lines of railway! In view of this decision in favor of San Francisco and its great possibilities we may recall those well known lines of Bishop Berkeley:

Westward the course of empire takes its way;
The four first acts already past,
A fifth shall close the drama with the day;
Time's noblest offspring is the last."

SEEN AND HEARD

This is St. Valentine's day and what did you receive in the way of valentines? Were they horrid old things, or something nice?

The following has to do with the deaths of presidents, and is interesting as matter of record and history: George Washington contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia, proving fatal Dec. 14, 1799. We often forgot our poker, and the run

When we sat around and listened to this jingo talkin' fight.
But the stranger got to fussin' with old

And the Oriental slipped him, and feet

FOR EACH OF US
Let us forget the things that vexed and tried us.
The working things that caused our souls to fret;
The hopes that, cherished long, were still and dead us.
Let us forget.
Let us forget the little slights that pained us.
The wrongs that rankle
sometimes yet;
The pride with which some lofty one disdains us.
Let us forget.
Let us forget our brother's fault and failing.
The yielding to temptation that betrayed us.
That he perchance, though grief be unavailing.
Can not forget.

But blessings manifold, past all describing.
Kind words and helpful deeds, a countless throng.
The fault, overcome, the rectitude unswerving.
Let us remember long.
The sacrifice of love, the generous giving.
When friends were few, and handsome, and helpful deeds, a
countless throng.
The fragrance of each life of holy living.
Let us remember long.
Whatever things were good, and true,
and gracious.
Whatever of right has triumphed over wrong.
What love of God of man has rendered

Let us remember long.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Moorfield Storey of Boston has been selected to deliver the William I.
Storrs lectures at Yale this year.
These lectures were established in the law school in 1885 by the Misses E.
T. and M. A. Robinson of Hartford, in memory of William Lucius Storrs.
Judge Storrs was a professor in the law school and chief justice of the supreme court of Connecticut. A course of five or six lectures is given annually on this foundation. Mr. Storey's subject is not yet announced.

Miss Frances Taft, Wellesley, 1899, will sail from San Francisco Feb. 16,
for Peking, China, to establish a branch of Young Women's Christian association work under the auspices of the National Y. W. C. A. As Miss Taft is a Wellesley graduate, members of the college have been especially interested in contributing toward her outfit and expenses. Miss Grace Kilbourne, a graduate in 1910, and president last year of the Christian association, will sail with Miss Taft to study and travel for a year in the east.

The general education board, founded by John D. Rockefeller, has voted to give $100,000 to Brown university, the gift to be made applicable upon the raising of the remainder of the $1,000, 600 endowment fund which the university authorities are making efforts to obtain. The same board recently gave $50,000 toward the $200,000 of the $1, 000,000 which is to be applied to the needs of the women's college. Thus the total which the university must raise elsewhere is $550,000. When the additional sum is secured the general education board's gift is made available. The $50,000 gift for the women's college was announced recently by the Rockefeller board. The additional gift of $100,000 just announced constitutes a big step toward securing the remainder of the funds. President Taft says that the committee has already received several large gifts toward the fund, the origin of which he is not yet at liberty to state.

Miss Fanny Bixby is reported to be doing unusually good work among wayward boys and girls at Long Beach, Cal. She is a Wellesley graduate and spent a year in retirement study at the Civic Service House in Boston and another year in the Nurses Settlement of San Francisco. Though the daughter of wealthy parents, Miss Bixby devotes her time to helping juvenile offenders. She is a special police officer.

The memorial in London to Queen Victoria that was finally decided upon has resulted—or is to result as soon as the spangle over the demolition of the view-obscuring buildings on the Trafalgar square—is ended—in the most important improvement to the centre of the metropolis ever accomplished at one operation. From Trafalgar square there will be a view through the new stateliest arch, down the mall to the beautifully Victoria monument, with the Buckingham palace beyond. It will be one of the finest prospects in Europe.

For the London memorial to King Edward an improvement of equal, if not greater importance, is now proposed, and there appears to be a good chance that the scheme will be carried out. If this is done one of the superbly unsightly features of this city will be replaced by structures of beauty, and a approach that every observant visitor levels at the British capital will no longer be justified.

The scheme is, briefly, to remove the Claring Cross railway station to the south side of the Thames and to convert the traffic facilities on both sides of the river by means of a new bridge, handsomely embellished, to be known as the King Edward bridge. The horrible existing railway bridge would be removed and the Embankment would be made visible as a single splendid thoroughfare.

Illinois college at Jacksonville, Ill., recently received a cash gift of $5000
from Edward F. Goltz of St. Louis, Mo. toward a new endowment of $150,000. Andrew Carnegie has contributed one-half of the amount;
friends and alumni have thus far contributed about $65,000, so that only $10,000 still remains to be raised in order to complete the full amount.

A gift of $50,000 for the erection of new shops for the city college of mechanical engineering at Cornell has been received from Mrs. Florence O. R.
Lang of Montclair, N. J., as a memorial to her father, Jasper Raymond Rand, and to other members of her family. Jasper R. Rand, Jr., was a student at Cornell with the class of 1874.

Miss Marjorie Van Winkle, daughter of Augustus Van Winkle, has given to Lafayette college the necessary funds for an extension to the Van Winkle memorial library. This extension is a part of the original plan, and will provide additional stack room for about 200 volumes.

The law school of the University of Virginia has received $5000 and a law library bequeathed by Judge Lambert Tree of Chicago.

Mrs. Stephen Baker is president of the board of managers of the Studio Club of New York, which has its home at 63 West 56th street. The object of the club is to provide a comfortable home for students of music, the drama, theatrical and plastic arts and crafts.

About 25 girls make their home in the club, and the membership is said to be over 200. Members have the use of the pleasant club rooms for social teas, lectures, musicals and other student activities. Though affiliated with the Young Women's Christian association, it is absolutely non-sectarian.

SKULL PIERCED

Crowley Struck Sullivan
With a Pick

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—William D.
Crowley, aged 32, of 241 Vine street,
Cambridge, was lodged at the county jail last night and John J. Sullivan, aged 19, of 35 Melrose street is at the Relief station in a serious condition as the result of an unprovoked assault committed by the former on the latter yesterday in front of 650 Washington street.

Sullivan, who is employed as a laborer by the Boston consolidated gas company, was bending over at his work when Crowley came along and without warning took up a pick and sawing it down on Sullivan's head. The point pierced Sullivan's skull, causing a compound fracture and laying him senseless.

Crowley was arrested by Patrolman Sweeney of division 4, who jumped off a street car and caught him as he was running away from a crowd of men.
At the station house and later before Inspector Dugan, Crowley appeared sullen and almost demented.

He said he did not mean to hit Sullivan, but "just wanted to show them he could swing the pick as well as ever."

The police, who say that Crowley has a record for larceny and intoxication, believe that he is mentally unbalanced as the result of persistent drunkenness. Arraigned before Judge Murray, he waived examination and was held in $2000 for the March term of the district court.

Sullivan was taken to the Relief station, where he was operated on. Although his condition is serious, his name has been removed from the dangerous list and he is expected to recover.

A GOOD SLEUTH

Woman Trails Her Former Lover

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Louis Rosenberg, a traveling tailor, has been arrested in New York, according to a telegram received by the Boston police yesterday, following his indictment in this city on the charge of theft of cash and diamonds valued at $600 belonging to Miss Tillie Hayden of Quincy street, Roxbury.

To Miss Hayden also, it appears, to whom the police say Rosenberg was formerly engaged, is due his arrest, since she pointed him out to a New York patrolman, saying that he was a fugitive from Boston.

Miss Hayden, according to her story, gave Rosenberg $600 of her savings and several rings, worth another $300, for the purpose of fitting up a flat.
Rosenberg, however, did not charge went away with another girl, taking the money and rings with him.

Miss Hayden secured an indictment against him, and later, learning he had gone to Jersey City followed him there and to New York, armed with letters from Deputy Supt. Waddy S. Schuchter, who charged her to continue her search until Sunday, when she saw him and had him arrested.

Rosenberg is now locked up at police headquarters in New York. Inspector Wolf has prepared extradition papers and expects to start after him today.

Typhoid Left This Brooklyn
Man a Chronic Invalid.

It Was Not Until He Tried the Tonic Treatment That His Health Was Restored.

Many whose health has been wrecked by an attack of typhoid, scarlet or malaria fever or of the grip, will be interested in the manner in which one sufferer found relief from the condition in which the acute attack left him. Mr.
D. A. Kephart, now living at No. 211
Richmond street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says:
"About six years ago I had typhoid fever while working in a lumber camp near Altoona, Pa. The disease left my bowels in such a condition that the doctors told me I could not be cured.
I had to take strong laxatives all of the time but even that did not give me relief. My appetite was good but what I ate distressed me. I was dizzy and frequently would topple over while walking along the street."

"I was treated by several doctors and tried many kinds of medicines but nothing helped me until I tried Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills. I gave them a good trial with the result that my bowels became regular. My blood soon became in good condition and I have been well ever since."

The symptoms shown when the health is wrecked by the attack of an acute disease differ in almost every case but the condition is one which calls emphatically for a tonic for the blood.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine for this purpose for they act directly on the blood which they cleanse of all impurities.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anemia, rheumatism, sciatica, convulsions, neuralgia, the grip, fevers, and neuritis, owing to the blood-building property. These pills were originally a prescription used in the doctor's private practice and their benefit to mankind has been increased many thousand-fold by their being placed on general sale with the doctor's own directions for use.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box;
six boxes $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

TEN BISHOPS

ATTENDED FUNERAL OF THE LATE BISHOP WHITAKER

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—The funeral of the Right Rev. Oat Whitaker, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, has held yesterday, interment taking place in the graveyard of St. James the Less, Falls of Schuylkill, this city. Ten bishops of the church and a large number of the clergy and representative laymen from the eastern part of the United States attended the funeral. Prior to the services in the church of the Savior, a brief service was held at the bishop's late residence in West Philadelphia conducted by the Rev. James Garland, secretary of the diocese. The church of the Savior, where the burial ground is located, was not large enough to accommodate all who desired to attend the principal services.
The Rev. Dr. William Groton, dean of the divinity school of Philadelphia, conducted the opening services. The Rev. Dr. James Dwyer Perry of this city read the lesson and Bishop Mac-Kay Smith recited the creed. Bishop Doane of Albany delivered the closing prayer and benediction. There was no sermon. Following the services the funeral procession proceeded to Falls of Schuylkill, where the climax of the church of St. James the Less rang out with the bishop's favorite hymns
as interment was being made.

Other prelates who attended the funeral were: Bishop Scarborough, New Jersey; Bishop Atwood, Arizona; Bishop
Peterson, West Virginia; Bishop Tatbot, Rhode Island; Bishop Burgess, Long Island; Bishop Lines, Newark, N. J.; Bishop Darlington, Harrisburg and

Said to Have Forced First Nomination of Lincoln

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Now, and what are believed to be hitherto unpublished incidents concerning the politics which gave Abraham Lincoln the republican nomination for president the first time were told here yesterday in an address before the Hamilton club by Addison G. Proctor of St. Joseph, Mich., who believes himself the only surviving member of the famous "split rail" convention.

Mr. Proctor gives one man, Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky, the credit for forcing the nomination of Lincoln from a chaotic disorganized opposition to the regular candidate for the nomination, William H. Seward of New York. This is how Clay's influence was exerted, as related by Mr. Proctor:

"When the convention opened, Mr. Seward's interests were in the hands of Thurlow Weed, and were well organized. The opposition, of which Horace Greeley was the dominant figure, was absolutely without organization or community of desire.

"To show how much without aim we were working, I recall that Mr. Greeley said to us within thirty hours of the time for balloting, answering a question as to whom we should unite upon to oppose Seward, 'I think well of Edward Bates of Missouri; he is a strong man, and I believe one of the best we could nominate.'

"How about Lincoln?" we asked, and Greeley replied:

"While Mr. Lincoln is an adroit politician, he lacks experience in public affairs and while we are drifting toward a crisis, I do not believe the country will trust a man so lacking in experience in national affairs."

"We were discussing matters in the old Briggs house in Chicago when Mr. Clay and his mountain men from western Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky arrived. Clay was a man of most interesting personality and he headed an interesting group.

"We are on the eve of a great civil war," began Mr. Clay, but we of Kansas were used to strong words and smiled. "The mountaineer looked at us sternly, and continued:

"We know not what your platform plans are, and I am here to say that if a candidate is nominated on that platform the south will make an attempt to dissolve the union. Your southern border extends from Maryland to Missouri, and on this side stands a determined body of men, resolute that the union shall not be destroyed except after a most desperate struggle.

"It makes a great difference to you whom you nominate," thundered on the tall Kentuckian, "and it makes a much more vital difference to us. Our homes and all we possess are in peril. We demand of you a candidate who will inspire our courage and confidence.

"We call upon you to nominate Abraham Lincoln, who knows us and understands our aspirations. Give us Lincoln and we will push back your satellite line from the Ohio river to the Tennessee, where it belongs. Give us Lincoln and we will unite the strength of our union sentiment with the union army and bring success to your legions. Do this for us," pleaded the speaker, "and we will go home and prepare for the conflict."

"We saw things from a new angle. It was no longer a question of fighting slavery, but of saving the union. Lincoln was nominated."

FOR LAMINITIS

Dr. Daniels Explains the Treatment

Laminitis varies in different cases, influenced by cause, previous condition, the severity of the attack, and the kind of treatment given, the early symptoms are not often noticed. While the animal is at work, perhaps a stumbling, perhaps excessive perspiration, possibly extra heavy breathing, may hint at the coming trouble, but generally nothing is noticed until the animal has stood some time after being worked, when we notice he suddenly becomes stiff and sore. The inflammation causing this lameness goes on rapidly involving soon the entire foot and unless relieved leads to many disorders, pneumonia, sidebones, fetters, pointed sole and so on. Hence get busy at once and remove the inflammation as soon as possible. Every minute of delay is costly and risky. Don't think or say he'll be all right in the morning. The beginning of the trouble is the time to expect quick relief. Twenty-four hours may put you to a lot of trouble and loss for the acute form soon passes into the chronic and then to the chronic stage when cure becomes impossible and we have the ever lame horse, the wasting away of the coffin bone, deficient bone strength which grows spunky, dry and crumbling with the other defects above mentioned. After the case has reached this condition laminitis is easy to diagnose. The foot is pumice, the sole down, toe turns up, heel too long, knuckling of the fetlock and so on.

The treatment is varied and judgment is in order. There are two points in view, preventing and curing. Preventing, of course, is of first importance and it is much easier than curing. We must first overcome any predisposing causes known to us. Do not work too hard the over fat horses. Use care in their treatment in hot weather. Green horses should always have gradual work put upon them, especially if from the country to paved streets. A change in the stable and feed must be considered in some sensitive cases. Horses on the farm or track horses after a winter's rest should be worked out gradually. Protect the horse from draught and wind, when in a heated condition. Do not be afraid to use blankets just because "it's warm." A draught of cool wind at this time does the trick. Don't drive working horses through the cold brook or wash their legs when just in from a heated trip, and do not make rapid changes in style of shoeing. Make the change gradual. If a horse has been fed oats and hay, only, don't give a feed of corn. Mix the corn a little at first, with the oats, shorts or other feeds. Corn is dangerous to feed some horses in hot weather. When the horse shows lameness in one foot, take off the shoes at once and apply warm water, or alternating hot and cold water to both feet. Do them up in burlap bags, keeping them wet for a few days. Use slings to take off the weight when possible. Keep blanketed warm. Give Aconite or some good fever medicine. Half ounce doses of saltpeter in the drinking water three times a day. In some conditions give diuretics. If active congestion cold water only to the feet. Stand the feet into tub of cold water or if the animal is down swabs on the feet kept wet in cold water, and three or four ounces of saltpeter in a pint of water, once in six hours, for a week, will do much in Acute Laminitis.

CHELMSFORD

The two games of basketball were played in the town hall Saturday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The only games these two teams have lost during the season have been to each other and the third and deciding game, to be played in March, will be decided with interest.

The Five of Diamonds, in defeating the Alumni five by the score of 39 to 8, gained its first victory of the season. In spite of the one-sided score, some excellent floor and team work was done by the Alumni. The coaches of the Five of Diamonds had acquired a skill in shooting baskets, together with good passing that their opponents could not seem to block. The summary:

Tigers: Dutton 11, Baldwin 11, Pasche 10, Douglas 10, Russell 10. Firemen: Sweetser 11, A. Carl 11, A. House 11, W. Johnson 11.

Score, Tigers 16; Firemen 12. Goals from floor, Pasche 3, Baldwin 3, Dutton 1, Russell 1, W. Johnson 1, C. House 2, Goals from fouls, Dutton 2, A. House 1, Referee, Charles Brock; timer, V. E. Packhurst; scorer, Lester Smith. Time, 20 minute periods.

Five of Diamonds: Montgomery 11, Reed 11, Higgins 11, Scoble 11, Rife 11. Alumni: Carl 11, Files 11, Harmon 11, Fletcher 11, Sheehan 11.

Score, Five of Diamonds 33; Alumni 8. Goals from floor, Montgomery 7, Scoble 7, Higgins 2, Reed 3, Carl 1, Files 1, Harmon 1. Goals from fouls, Reed 1, Files 2. Time, 20 minute periods.

SENATOR BAILEY

Made a Strong Argument in Favor of Senator Lorimer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—By resorting to the bold device of asking his antagonists in the senate to stand up and testify, Senator Bailey of Texas caused a dramatic situation yesterday in his discussion of the case of Senator Lorimer of Illinois. Mr. Bailey is a member of the committee on privileges and elections and coincided with the report declaring that nothing invalidating Mr. Lorimer's title to his seat had been shown by the committee's investigation. His arguments in support of Mr. Lorimer had been anticipated with much interest and when presented yesterday received the thoughtful attention of many senators.

The Texas senator's remarks were devoted largely to the substantiation of his contention that a sufficient number of votes must be shown to have been bought to effect the result unless it was proven that the senator whose election is challenged personally participated in the bribery.

Mr. Lorimer, were each in turn requested to stand up and express their opinions as to the legal soundness of this proposition.

Dealing first with the general aspect of the case, Senator Bailey entered upon the consideration of the law involved. He laid down these two premises:

"First—If the officer whose election is challenged personally participated in or encouraged or sanctioned the bribery, then his election cannot be voided, unless it is shown by sufficient evidence that enough votes were bribed to affect the result."

The first of these premises was dismissed with the declaration that there was not a word in the testimony to show that Lorimer had any knowledge of any bribery in his behalf. He asserted that the Chicago Tribune was compelled through its attorney to exonerate the accused senator in this respect, notwithstanding an unusual effort to connect him with it. True, the senator said, in the heat of debate some senators sought to connect Lorimer with the alleged wrongful transaction, but he was sure they would repent of that course.

Mr. Bailey contended that even if the seven votes of White, Browne, Backemeyer, Link, Wilson, Holstow and Broderick were not counted, Lorimer still was legally and properly chosen.

Deducting these seven votes from Lorimer's 105 would leave him 101, and deducting these seven votes from the total vote of 202 would leave 195, of which the 101 votes received by Lorimer would constitute a clear majority, and he was therefore duly and legally elected, insisted Senator Bailey.

He ridiculed the contention of his opponents that these votes could be subtracted from Lorimer's column and still retained in the total vote, declaring that the contrary view was so elementary as to render it almost absurd to present authorities in support of it.

"We have the authority of the text books and of the courts for saying that an illegal vote must be rejected for all purposes and that it cannot be considered for any purpose," the senator continued. "That, sir, is not only the law and the logic, but it is the rule best calculated to promote political morality. It treats a dishonest vote as if the corrupt legislator who cast it were civilly dead, at least in that transaction, and it leaves the result to be determined by the votes of honest men."

Mr. Bailey would not admit as Senators Root, Borah and others charged, that in demanding the total exclusion of dishonest votes he really was giving effect to such votes. On the contrary, he undertook to turn the charge upon his antagonists. Saying that allegations of tampering had been made against 11 members of the Illinois legislature, he added:

"Subtracting these 11 votes from a total of 202 we have an unchallenged membership of 191 members who, by virtue of their position and of their integrity, were qualified to elect a senator. Of this 191 members, 96 would be a majority and after deducting every vote against which the suggestion of dishonesty has been made, Lorimer would still have 97 as against 94 votes for his opponents. Under these circumstances, no man could deny that he was entitled to his seat in this senate as a matter of law, and still less can he deny it as a matter of morals, because he had a clear majority of the honest men in the legislature. Now, let us apply the rule proposed by the senators from Idaho, Iowa and New York and what result do we reach? By reaching these 11 men in this question, they prevent 97 honest men from affecting an election over 94 honest men, and this makes it plain that they are the gentlemen who are giving effect to the votes of rascals, because by preserving these 11 votes they thus prevent an honest majority from working out its will."

Mr. Bailey contended that even if the seven votes of White, Browne, Backemeyer, Link, Wilson, Holstow and Broderick were not counted, Lorimer still was legally and properly chosen.

Deducting these seven votes from Lorimer's 105 would leave him 101, and deducting these seven votes from the total vote of 202 would leave 195, of which the 101 votes received by Lorimer would constitute a clear majority, and he was therefore duly and legally elected, insisted Senator Bailey.

He ridiculed the contention of his opponents that these votes could be subtracted from Lorimer's column and still retained in the total vote, declaring that the contrary view was so elementary as to render it almost absurd to present authorities in support of it.

"We have the authority of the text books and of the courts for saying that an illegal vote must be rejected for all purposes and that it cannot be considered for any purpose," the senator continued. "That, sir, is not only the law and the logic, but it is the rule best calculated to promote political morality. It treats a dishonest vote as if the corrupt legislator who cast it were civilly dead, at least in that transaction, and it leaves the result to be determined by the votes of honest men."

Mr. Bailey would not admit as Senators Root, Borah and others charged, that in demanding the total exclusion of dishonest votes he really was giving effect to such votes. On the contrary, he undertook to turn the charge upon his antagonists. Saying that allegations of tampering had been made against 11 members of the Illinois legislature, he added:

"Subtracting these 11 votes from a total of 202 we have an unchallenged membership of 191 members who, by virtue of their position and of their integrity, were qualified to elect a senator. Of this 191 members, 96 would be a majority and after deducting every vote against which the suggestion of dishonesty has been made, Lorimer would still have 97 as against 94 votes for his opponents. Under these circumstances, no man could deny that he was entitled to his seat in this senate as a matter of law, and still less can he deny it as a matter of morals, because he had a clear majority of the honest men in the legislature. ## FINANCIAL POWERS

SHOULD LINE UP WITH THE PEOPLE, SAYS FOSS

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—"It is time for the financial powers of America to fall into step with the people, and to line up with the sane and logical policy of progress. Money no longer dominates the conduct of public affairs in this country. The senate is the only place left in which capital, or so much of it as still hostile to the people's will, has power to thwart that will. And the senate is being made over into a popular body."

So spoke Gov. Eugene N. Foss before the Bank Officers' association of Boston at its annual dinner last night. The governor advocated reciprocity with Canada as in line with modern progress and as the only measure which is fit to become the foundation of an entire federal policy for the future.

"I urge progressive reciprocity beginning in moderation with a few essentials and widening out year by year, with the further progress of the country."

John Wanamaker said recently:

"With Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion, however, there will be no general agreement. The magazines are supported, not by the price paid for the magazine by the readers, but by the advertisers.

"In a sense, magazines are private concerns; but they have a public function to perform—an educational function. To tax the advertisements is to tax the quality of the educational matter contained in the pages, for the advertisements enable the publishers to pay high prices for literature and educational articles. The price paid for a magazine does not pay for the printing and the paper. If Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion should become part of the President's plan it would mean that the public would suffer in the loss of much educational material that the publishers then would be unable to buy."

Our Political Postoffice

John Wanamaker was Postmaster General; Senator Boies Penrose is chairman of the great Postoffice Committee of the United States Senate; Thomas H. Carter, Senator from Montana, has served many years on that committee.

No three men in the United States are better versed in postoffice affairs and needs than these.

On February 9, 1911, the Senate Postoffice Committee, under the leadership of Senators Penrose and Carter, reported favorably to the Senate for action the Postoffice Appropriation bill, containing a provision, put in without allowing public hearing or open consideration, but under political pressure from the White House, that increases the postage rate on magazines and periodicals to such an extent that it practically absorbs all the profits of the publishing business of the country and makes the further production of popular-priced magazines impossible. It imposes a tax that is confiscatory.

Notwithstanding, within the year Senator Boies Penrose said, referring to the Carter-Weeks bill:

"These are some of the big features of the bill. The whole intent is to systematize and to modernize the entire postal system. It is idle to take up such questions as apportioning the cost for carrying second-class mail matter or the proper compensation of railroads for transporting the mails until we shall have established business methods in postoffice affairs by a reorganization of the whole postal system.

"The commission unanimously recommended the passage of the projected bill. Personally I have been very much interested in all the details and, of course, am heartily in favor of the changes to be made."

Senator Carter said last March:

"But I must forego further pursuit of details. The bill was cordially approved by Postmaster General Meyer and his assistants, and likewise has the approval of Postmaster General Hitchcock. It failed of passage during the last Congress owing to lack of time for its proper consideration, but I have reintroduced the bill, which is now designated Senate 6257, Second Session, Sixty-first Congress. The Committee on Postoffices and Postroads will favorably report the bill to the Senate, and it should be enacted into law before the close of this session. I believe not only that it will increase efficiency, but that, after the expense of installation is absorbed, it will result in such economies in the administration of the department and service as will be long wipe out the deficiency. In operating under it the department will be able with almost unerring certainty to determine the actual cost of each service performed, thereby reaching a sound basis for legislation such as is neither available nor obtainable under the present system.

"I deeply sympathize with the earnest desire of the department officials to get rid of the deficiency they are fated to encounter each year, but I submit that the first real movement toward that end must begin with the substitution of a modern, up-to-date business organization for the existing antiquated system, which rests upon a few sections of law enacted in 1835, supplemented by statutory fragments added from time to time since that year."

John Wanamaker said recently:

"With Mr. Hitchcock's suggestion, however, there will be no general agreement. The magazines are supported, not by the price paid for the magazine by the readers, but by the advertisers.

"In a sense, magazines are private concerns; but they have a public function to perform—an educational function. # LATEST MONUMENT OF FATHER GEORGE His Sympathy For George

(AS EXPRESSED BY A BOARDER.)

By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN

(Copyright by American Press Association, 1911)

GEOERGE WASHINGTON, great Father George.

I've read the story dire
Of how you froze at Valley Forge
With little warmth or fire.
My lodgings are not fine or grand;
They're four flights up, you see.
I'm owing something for them, and
I sympathize with thee.

I know just how you felt, great man.
There'll be no heat for me.
I'll freeze until I pay my bill—
I sympathize with thee.

Your food, they say, was poor and bad;
The quantity was small;
The luxuries were few you had—
In fact, you'd none at all.
My tea is weak, my steak is tough,
The milk is pale and blue,
And, worst of all, there's not enough—
I sympathize with you.

I know how thin you were, great George.
My board is overdue.
On fowl they dine—it's "neck" for mine—
I sympathize with you.

Your congress plotted for your fall
Whenever you turned about.
The friends you trusted most of all
Were those that sold you out.
Down where the parlor organ groans
They're jeering now at me.
And she—she's holding hands with Jones—
I sympathize with thee.

Oh, hard is misplaced trust, great sire!
I owe her ma a "V."
And so she smirks at cheap young clerks—
I sympathize with thee.

Yes, Father George, I'm moping here,
With but your "life" to read,
While down below they laugh and sneer
Nor give me little heed.
But let them laugh; my grip is packed.
Sometimes, when things looked blue,
You slyly beat a night retreat—
I sympathize with you.

If all the monuments of Washington in this country and abroad were photographed, the films arranged in proper order and then reeled off by one of the machines that are so popular nowadays we might have almost a moving picture of the Father of His Country. We have Washington standing, sitting, walking, standing at the side of a horse, riding on the horse, waving his arm, brandishing a sword, crossing the Delaware and in other attitudes. We have him clad in military uniform, garbed in civilian clothes, dressed like a Roman and also, as in the famous Greenough statue in Washington, partly unclothed. We have the immortal first president in marble, in bronze, in wood and in other materials. We have conceptions of him by the most famous sculptors and by others of less note. I cannot be denied that this country has a good supply of statues and monuments erected to the memory of Washington and that any one traveling about the country and studying them would gain a good idea of Daddy George's appearance.

The latest monument to Washington is the work of J. Massey Rhind, the well known New York sculptor. It is to be erected in Washington park, Newark, N. J., at a cost estimated between $25,000 and $30,000. To Mr. Rhind belongs the credit of showing to us Washington in a new and original attitude. The monument is called an equestrian statue, since the principal figure is that of Washington as a rider, but he is not mounted on his horse. He stands beside the animal. He wears the uniform of a general in the Continental army and has a riding cloak thrown over his shoulder. One of his hands, holding the reins, rests on the pommel of the saddle. When completed the group will measure about twelve feet high and will stand on a pedestal three feet in height. The whole will surmount a mound about seven feet high.

Few of the large cities of this country lack monuments to Washington. Some cities have more than one. This is especially the case in New York and Washington. The former city has no fewer than five memorials of the first president. They are the Washington arch, at the foot of Fifth avenue, erected at the time of the Washington centennial in 1889; the famous statue in front of the subtreasury in Wall street (the work of John Q. A. Ward), the Houdon statue on Riverside drive, the Bartholdi statue of Washington and Lafayette in Harlem and the bronze tablet in bas-relief of Washington at Valley Forge affixed to the subtreasury building near the Ward statue, already mentioned. In the national capital there are the lofty granite monument, the highest obelisk in the world; the two Houdon statues in the national capitol, one the gift of Virginia; the monument in Washington circle, the seated classical semineude statue by Horatio Greenough and the bust in the rotunda of the capitol. The proposed national memorial building will stand in Washington.

Europe and South America have joined with the United States in honoring Washington with statues and memorials. There are statues of our first president in Paris, Budapest, Caracas and in other foreign cities. In this country he stands far above any other American in the matter of monuments. His closest rival is Lincoln, of course.

ball, now grown into a city, have set themselves to the pleasant task of preserving for all time the house in which lived Samuel L. Clemens, better known as Mark Twain, beloved humorist, lecturer, philosopher and adviser general to the American people.

The house in Hannibal which is to be preserved in memory of Mark is not the house in which he was born. Florida, Mo., a little village about thirty miles from Hannibal, claims the honor of having given him to the world. But he lived in Hannibal for twenty years, from his fourth year to about his twenty-fourth, and "Mark Twain's home" means to his surviving friends and associates the little two story frame structure in Hannibal. Of course it cannot be associated closely with any of his literary work since he left it before he dropped the printer's stick and the pilot's wheel for the author's pen. It was the home of his father, Justice of the Peace Clemens, and while Mark lived in it he received such instruction as the common school of Hannibal could give him.

In his later years Mark used to love to talk about his old home in Hannibal. He paid flying visits to it from time to time in the fifty years he lived after leaving it forever, as it seemed, and in June, 1902, he paid to the old home his last and only real visit. He had been called to Columbia, Mo., to receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the state university, and he stopped at Hannibal on his way. For a week Mark "lazed" in Hannibal, enjoying a period of rest and relaxation which was a landmark in a life marred too often, and undeservedly if we reject the fatalistic theory of life—by great sorrows and vicissitudes borne with fortitude. In his whimsical way Mark loved Hannibal, and Hannibal returns the affection by being exceedingly proud of Twain. He is indeed the city's only title to fame save for its growing commercial possibilities. It is no longer a "white town drowsing in the sunshine." Missouri, too, knows the humorist-philosopher as one of its greatest sons, and the entire state applauded when one of its legislators introduced recently a bill to appropriate $10,000 for a Mark Twain memorial in his home city of Hannibal. It was proposed at first that the state acquire the Clemens home in Hannibal and preserve it as a sort of Mark Twain museum or memorial, but Hannibal gently though firmly interposed a veto, saying that the Clemens house was its own especial concern and not that of the state. The sum of money needed to acquire the house was small, and Hannibal could take care of that itself, thank you. If the state of Missouri wished to remember Mark officially, well and good. Let it expend its $10,000 in some other way. A monument, with a statue of "Missouri's first citizen," to be placed either in the small city park in Hannibal or in the new Mark Twain park which is to be created by the city, has been suggested.

Naturally Hannibal knows its Mark Twain well; also it knows itself well, as portrayed in the Twain books, and hollows in the city sidewalks bear witness to the hours spent by various "originals" in standing and telling folks how Mark put them into his books as Huckleberry Finn or Tom Sawyer or Injun Joe or some other of his unforgettable characters. Until 1902 Hannibal had a small tumble-down shanty which was pointed out to visitors as the only genuine bona fide home of Huckleberry Finn. The house is shown in the picture. The reader may decide for himself whether its appearance agrees with his mental image of the sort of house Huck's father, being the sort of man he was, would be likely to provide for his family. Huck's father, you know, loved "red hicker" more than he did progeny.

Mark Twain park, recently acquired by Hannibal, lies below the city on the bank of the great river which will be associated forever with the writer's name in the mind of every one who has read "Life on the Mississippi." It includes "Lovers' Leap," made famous in local history by an old Indian tradition, and Tom Sawyer's cave, now known officially as Mark Twain's cave. Readers of "Tom Sawyer," that "epic of American boy life," will remember the cave in which Tom and his little sweetheart were lost while the folks of his town searched high and low for him. The cave is a freak of nature, a narrow underground passage about a mile long, with deep side pockets.

If the Showman Says "This Way To the Okapi!" Don't Believe Him

THIS WAY TO THE OKAPI! If you see this sign prominently displayed when the circus comes to town this spring or summer don't invest any money in a glimpse of "the latest African wonder." The sign will be the guidepost to a "fake," for there are no live okapi in this country and very few if any stuffed ones. Why, there are not many okapi even in Africa, the habitat of the beasts, and there are only a few in Europe. There will be three stuffed okapi in this country soon, however, for they are on their way from Africa to the American Museum of Natural History, that great New York depository of objects relating to zoology, anthropology, meteorology and other eclogies. (Right)

THE OKAPI AND SIR HARRY H. JOHNSTON, ITS DISCOVERER.

here it may be remarked that the museum is one of the biggest, most interesting things in the biggest city in America and does not receive from the city's people and from visitors half the attention which it deserves. It is one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world.) But to get back to the okapi. It's an interesting beast. The description of him given by the zoologists, calling him a sort of cross between the giraffe and the antelope, makes one think of Hamlet's cloud, which was shaped like a camel and backed like a weasel or a whale. According to good scientific authority the animal stands about four feet and a half high at the withers and is of the peculiar shape shown in the picture. "The head is giraffe-like, but there are no external horns," says the zoological expert of the New International Encyclopedia. "The tail is rather short, and the neck is short and thick. The skull is characteristically giraffe and exhibits rudiments, or, rather, vestiges, of three horn cores." The coloration as described by Sir Harry H. Johnston, who discovered the okapi in 1899 in the Semliki forest of the Congo State, is extraordinary. The cheeks and jaws are yellowish white, contrasting with the dark colored neck. The forehead and a line down to the muzzle are a deep red chestnut, and the large broad ears are of the same tint, fringed with black; the neck, shoulders and body range in tone from sepia and jet black to vinous red; the belly is blackish; the tall chestnut, with a small black tuft; the hind quarters, hind and fore legs are either snowy white or pale cream color, touched here and there with orange and boldly marked with purple black horizontal stripes and blotches.

Altogether a well decorated, not to say gaudy, beast, the okapi, is it not? Small wonder that the first white men to hear of him from the savages who roam the Congo believed that the black men were drawing on their imaginations for their description of the okapi and that they believed that "there ain't no such animal," also when the white men returned to civilization with their tales of the okapi they were accused—with cruel injustice, as it now appears—of telling travelers' tales. But the okapi has its established place in zoology now with the hippopotamus, the rhinoceros, the giraffe, and the other marvelous things which have come out of Africa from the days of the pharaohs onward even until this day.

Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston, the discoverer of the okapi, is one of the best known and most energetic of the Britons who are forever poking themselves and their country's flag into the strange and out of the way corners of the earth. Mighty few men know more than Sir Harry does about the interior of what used to be called the "dark continent." He found the okapi when he was rummaging around in the Ugandan protectorate. He had heard from the natives about the wonderful beast which had never been seen by white men.

It is not likely that the okapi will ever be common, either alive in zoological parks or mounted in natural history museums. The habitat of the animal is a district about as large as Wales, lying on the west side of the Semliki river, which flows from Lake Albert Edward to the Albert Nyanza. The region is extremely hot and damp, with the usual natural disadvantages for white men's presence, sojourn or residence. In fact, the negroes of the surrounding country cannot remain long in the okapi country, and the only permanent human residents are dwarfs. The great heat, dampness and density of the jungle deter all but the most intrepid sportsmen from penetrating into this country, and thus the okapi is insured against molestation. At one time Sir Harry Johnston headed an expedition into the region for the purpose of capturing an okapi, but the expedition went to pieces, the negroes and Sir Harry himself falling victims to fever, from which the Englishman escaped narrowly with his life.

Wash That Itch Away

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you know that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of White-ginger, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

Best possible wash for pimples and all skin impurities.

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Susan B. Bond of Waltham was yesterday appointed administratrix of the estate of Judge Daniel W. Bond, who died without leaving a will.

She gave a bond of $1000 to cover the amount of the estate, which is valued at $500 personal property.

JUDGE SULLIVAN

DOUBLES TERM OF IMPRISONMENT OF WOMAN

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—The house of correction has had this woman a half dozen times for drunkenness and it has done her no good, and the only reformation open for her is to send her back to her husband, which I pray the court to do," was the request made by Attorney Curtis Wright in the municipal court yesterday morning to Judge Sullivan. He spoke on behalf of Mrs. Cora Wilkey, colored, of 37 Emerald street, accused of drunkenness. As Judge Sullivan did not care much for this idea, Attorney Wright suggested a number of alternatives.

Judge Sullivan, however, took up the cause for him with this suggestion: "Mr. Wright, you have suggested several moves, all of which I find by the records have been tried before without success."

"Now, Mr. Wright, I cannot hang this woman, as the law does not allow me to do that, so I have but one recourse, left. I find that hitherto she has been sentenced of but one month at the house of correction, which have not reformed her. I shall now send her away for two months to the house of correction to see what that will do toward reforming her."

ANOTHER DROP

IN THE PRICE OF EGGS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Withdrawal of cold storage eggs from the open market yesterday followed the announcement of a further decline of two cents a dozen in the price of the fresh produce. This reduction brought the cost of the best selected eggs to 16 cents a dozen, which is the lowest price touched by eggs in the Chicago market for three years and lower than ever recorded so early in the month of February.
